San Rafael Abandons Idea For New Courthouse Study

Council Is Told Plan Would Cost $250,000

By NELS JOHNSON

The San Rafael City Council last night abandoned plans for a new look at development of Courthouse Square when told it would cost the city $250,000. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 5.)

Startled city fathers unanimously agreed that alteration of dual office buildings and a parking garage approved for the downtown site would be economically infeasible after learning from a representative of McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, developer of the square, that tampering with the design could lead to a prohibitive tab.

McKeon attorney Albert Bianchi, noting that proposed construction of the square cleared city agencies months ago, said the city would have to bear the burden of the cost generated by additional review of plans for an eight-story structure, a two-story office building and a multilevel parking garage.

Redesigning the project might cost up to $250,000 alone due to escalating prices of labor and materials sparked by construction delays, additional interest and taxes, and architectural fees, he said.

The city's request for further review of courthouse plans was prompted by freshman Councilman Jack G. Nixon, who told colleagues two weeks ago that he had become concerned after hearing repeated criticism of the development at campaign appearances.

Nixon had suggested relocation of the garage to another downtown site, using redevelopment funds, as well as possibly altering the building configuration to preserve the view of nearby Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

Bianchi, although saying the call for further review was a "positive suggestion," expressed McKeon Construction Co.'s icy reaction to the proposal.

The attorney told councilmen that the city couldn't rely on redevelopment funds to finance redesign of development plans since "you don't know for sure you have a settlement on redevelopment." He noted that the Marin Community College District, which has a suit pending against the city's redevelopment plans, has yet to sign an agreement with the city.

And concern over preserving the view of Mission San Rafael Arcangel is "questionable," Bianchi said, because the church is merely a replica built in 1949.

Further, McKeon "doesn't want to open up this whole question of design again" since such matters are subjective anyway, he said.

Bianchi said that bids for the courthouse project will go out next week, and that a building permit will be issued within two weeks.

"Of course the parking can be removed to another location, but to do so would require a major redesign of the entire structure," he declared. "When, how much and where" should the parking be relocated, he asked.

He also warned the council that publicity surrounding the city's "new interest" in the development had been viewed with concern by major tenants slated to move into the complex.

A grim-faced city council agreed to scuttle any attempt for a new look at the courthouse plans. "I'm satisfied we can't do it," said Nixon. "The answer is no.

"A great many people raised the courthouse issue during the council campaign. Now we can tell them there's no way to change it," he said.

2 Arrested In Robbery

BULLETIN

Two men driving a gold Cadillac were arrested today in San Anselmo following a two-mile chase from Fairfax, where a teller at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association was held up at gunpoint.

No identity of the arrested men was available.

Fairfax Police Chief Charles Grasso said that two men came into the savings and loan association at 1 Bolinas Road about 12:45 p.m. and one pulled a gun on a teller.

Grasso said the men escaped with as much as $3,000 in cash, but one of the association's employees, told to lie on the floor by the robbers, managed to trip a silent alarm.

He said roadblocks were put up in Fairfax and San Anselmo and police stopped the fleeing Cadillac at Broadmoor Avenue and Meadowcroft Drive.

A gun was found in the car, police said, as well as an undetermined amount of money. Additional cash was found in the pockets of the two men, according to police.

They were to be booked into jail later today.

Townhouses Win Planner Approval

Attorney Neil M. Park of Kentfield Gardens, president of the Greenbrae-Kentfield Citizens for a Neighborhood Park, said after the meeting he was "disappointed with the commission's action" and plans to appeal to county supervisors.

"We hope as elected representatives they will be more responsive to the wishes of the community," he said, adding the commission's 6-to-1 vote "was not in the best interest of the citizens of the Lower Ross Valley or Marin." Chairman John F. West cast the lone dissenting vote.

Park's group, besides opposing the project on a variety of grounds, is working to form a community services area to purchase the 27-acre site planned for development behind Marin Catholic High School.

The partially filled marsh is owned by the San Francisco Archdiocese but is under option to San Jose architect Goodwin B. Steinberg, who originally proposed 312 townhouse units and a medical center.

The architect, whose first plan received a cool response from commissioners, produced a modified version yesterday proposing 260 units, about six acres of open space marsh and no medical center.

He said he was agreeable to selling 15 per cent of the units to moderate and middle-income families but made a mild pro-

Free Hand Is Given In Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today that Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson has a "totally free hand" to conduct the Watergate investigation.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said this includes granting of immunity from prosecution to some people in the case if Richardson believed it was necessary to encourage testimony.

Ziegler's response came in answer to a question on whether a statement by President Nixon on April 17 —that any individuals holding "a position of major importance" in the administration should not be given immunity —might inhibit testimony from them.

Prosecutors frequently grant immunity from prosecution to suspects in order to get evidence on others.

"The whole question of immunity is a decision that must be made by the Justice Department," Ziegler said.

He said the President had given Richardson "a totally free hand" to proceed in any way he thought necessary to fully determine the facts in the case, without White House interference.

Nixon has asked his former Treasury secretary, Democrat-turned-Republican John B. Con-

New Mayor Is Elected In Belvedere

Each had previously served a term in the other man's new office.

Steinau, 46, is an architect. He was elected to the council three years ago.

Previously, he had served on the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission. This is his first term as mayor.

Price, 46, owner of a building products firm, is in his third term on the council. He has served four of those years as mayor. Previously, he was a member of the Reed School District board.

Subpoena Issued For Dean's Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A subpoena was issued today for John W. Dean, ousted White House counsel, to undergo questioning under oath this week by investigators of the Senate's special Watergate committee.

The question of immunity for Dean for public testimony remained undecided.

The committee voted to ask a federal judge formally to issue an order to exempt Dean from further prosecution in exchange for testimony, but made clear that whether he actually is given immunity would depend on the value of his information.

The Washington Star-News said today Dean's efforts apparently had fallen through to get immunity from federal attorneys in exchange for testimony before a grand jury investigating Watergate, and that his lawyers now were concentrating on getting an exemption from the Senate committee.

The immunity requested by the committee for Dean presumably will be issued promptly. Neither the Justice Department, which transmits the request, nor the federal court which handles it has any grounds for refusing it, Senate sources said.

The Senate committee plans public, televised hearings on the Watergate and similar incidents of political espionage and sabotage. Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said today plans now call for the first hearings to begin May 17 —about two days later than previously planned.

Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said the first round of hearings would be significant. There have been reports that the initial hearings will not deal specifically with Watergate —the burglary and bugging of Democratic headquarters.

Ervin said the first phase of hearings would be on May 17-18, May 22-24, and June 12-14.

Ervin told reporters in response to a question, "I have no information that President Nixon was personally involved in this (Watergate) matter."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he felt Nixon still needed to reassure the American people that a "truly independent" investigation would be made of the scope of the scandal.

A new Louis Harris public opinion poll published today showed that by a margin of 77 per cent to 13 per cent, those questioned did not "think President Nixon should resign."

But 54 per cent said Yes —

Mansfield Suggests A Delay In Richardson Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday he may delay confirmation of Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general until Richardson carries out his promise to name a special prosecutor to investigate the Watergate scandal.

But Mansfield's counterpart, GOP Leader Hugh Scott, insisted that "this country trust Elliot Richardson and after full hearings the Senate will trust him too."

Mansfield, talking to reporters, said a delay in the Senate confirmation was "a proposal worth very serious consideration.," He said such action would not be a reflection of Richardson's ability to name a qualified prosecutor, but would serve to speed up the appointment.

Richardson, under pressure from Congress and acting under authority given him by President Nixon, said Monday he would indeed name an independent prosecutor to serve within the Justice Department and who would report only to him.

Mansfield, as Senate Majority Leader, could withhold a confirmation vote by simply not calling up the nomination for a vote on the Senate floor.

He told reporters he expected the nomination to win unanimous approval in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which must deal with the matter before it is called before the entire Senate.

Mansfield said he did not want committee hearings on the nomination delayed until Richardson designates his choice as special prosecutor.

Ban On Shelter Ridge Building Is Approved

By REBECCA LARSEN

The Mill Valley City Council last night imposed a moratorium on development of about 700 acres in the vicinity of Shelter Ridge after two councilmen changed their stand on the matter. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 12)

The final vote was 4-1 for the ban, which affects development of moderate-cost housing, known as the Shelter Hill project, as well as the remaining undeveloped land in the controversial Shelter Ridge project.

The city council also extended until July 1974 a ban on building in the eastern section of the city around Richardson Bay.

The moratorium — designed to give the city time to revise its general plan, a job estimated to need 18 months — applies only to projects of five or more units, planned unit developments and planned residential developments. But it provides a use permit procedure through which developers may apply for exemption from the ban.

Chemical Charge

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong charged today that Saigon troops fighting in a Communist-held area sprayed toxic chemicals that "ruined" more than 1,500 acres of land and caused serious illness to "large numbers of persons."

The area involved is within five miles of the site where an International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS) helicopter was fired on Sunday.

Landing Site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An enormous, 20,000-foot deep canyon has been chosen as the landing site for the first of two unmanned space missions to Mars, according to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The first landing possibly will occur on July 4, 1976 — the United States' 200th birthday.

NASA officials said yesterday that the Viking spacecraft will be launched from Cape Kennedy in August and September 1975. They will land on Mars after a year-long, 440-million-mile trip.

Flood Damage

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UPI) — The Mississippi River Commission yesterday estimated flood damage in a seven-state area at $409 million and said the figure would have been even higher if it were not for federal flood control projects.

The commission said the greatest amount of damage was in Mississippi, where the estimate was $128.6 million.

The agency estimated damage at $89.4 million in Missouri, $53.4 in Illinois, $1.2 million in Kentucky, $16.8 million in Tennessee, $37.8 million in Arkansas and $81.4 million in Louisiana.

Lebanese Strikes

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese air force warplanes using rockets struck Palestinian guerrilla strongholds on the western outskirts of Beirut today, the army said. The announcement came several hours after the military had assumed control of the country.

Nationwide bans on printing, writing, publishing, pamphlet and leaflet distribution and meetings, as well as a temporary closure of all cinemas, theaters, night clubs and meeting halls, were ordered by army commander-in-chief Gen. Iskander Ghanem.

The bans followed a state of emergency proclaimed last night by Premier Amin Hafez after the army and Palestinian guerrillas resumed fighting, breaking an uneasy four-day truce.

Fish Monopoly

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — The military government of Gen. Juan Velasco said yesterday it is expropriating the country's entire fishing industry, once the biggest in the world, because of an economic crisis confronting it for two years.

Fisheries Minister Javier Tantalean Vanini did not mention compensation for several American companies with holdings valued at $40 million, about one-third the total value of the industry.

The decision, he said, was taken last Friday when the cabinet created a state monopoly for the industry.

Ring Smashed

BELFAST (UPI) — A police spokesman said today that security forces smashed a branch of the Irish Republican Army's extremist Provisional wing, detaining 12 key members and seizing a cache of weapons.

In violence late yesterday, police said, bomb blasts wrecked a country newspaper office in Cookstown, 40 miles west of Belfast, and a north Belfast warehouse belonging to the Nestle Co.

Pills Attacked

DENVER (UPI) A medical researcher says insomniacs who take drugstore sleeping pills would be better off counting sheep. The more pills they take, he says, the less they sleep.

Recapture Town

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian forces recaptured two towns near Phnom Penh today and linked up with other government units to consolidate the positions, field reports said.

In the air war, U.S. fighter-bombers stayed away from the Phnom Penh area again today, but U.S. spotter pilots directed heavy raids elsewhere in Cambodia.

Ellsberg Probe On Nixon Order

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Nixon personally ordered the "greatest urgency" in investigating Daniel Ellsberg, and John Ehrlichman gave the investigators "authorization to engage in covert activity" that led to a burglary, according to a former White House aide's affidavit.

The statement by Egil 'Bud' Krogh, described in other statements as one of the key figures in the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, was revealed yesterday at the Pentagon Papers trial.

Krogh's affidavit gave no indication that the President knew about specific operations of the White House team investigating Ellsberg, such as the burglary. Krogh said Ehrlichman learned of the break-in only after it had occurred and censured the team, saying it "far exceeded the scope of any covert activity which had been approved in general in advance."

Krogh said the President was concerned over whether the Pentagon Papers leak was the act of an individual or "the result of a wider conspiracy to engage in espionage." There was evidence to show Ellsberg was not acting alone, and reports from the FBI that the Russian embassy in Washington received the papers before American newsmen, he said.

EGIL (BUD) KROGH
Orders from Nixon

The affidavit said Krogh "was personally instructed by President Nixon in the presence of John D. Ehrlichman that the continuing leaks of vital information were compromising the national security of the United States, and the President instructed the affiant (Krogh) to move ahead with the greatest urgency to determine the source of the leaks."

Proxmire Hits Press For Nixon Attacks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The press is practicing "McCarthyism at its worst" by printing "sensational" stories linking President Nixon to the Watergate scandal without proof, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged today.

In a rare defense of Nixon, Proxmire complained the news media is being "grossly unfair" to the President in its hot pursuit of the story.

"When former White House Counsel John Dean is reported throughout this country to have privately told grand jury investigators that the President was directly involved in a Watergate cover-up, President Nixon is being tried, sentenced and executed by rumor and allegation," Proxmire said in a Senate speech.

"As the senator who succeeded Joe McCarthy in the United States Senate I find this kind of persecution and condemnation without trial McCarthyism at its worst...

"Doesn't the President have the same simple right that every other American has to be innocent until proven guilty?

"Doesn't a man who has spent more than 20 years in the pitiless glare at the summit of national political life deserve to be believed when he directly tells the nation that he had no knowledge of these matters until there is proof that he lied?

"Doesn't he deserve at least this measure of faith until proven a liar?"

Twister Death

GERALDINE, Ala. (UPI) — At least one person was killed and eight others injured early today when a tornado ripped through the Sand Mountain area of northeast Alabama.

Diplomat Freed By Guerrillas

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — U.S. Consul General Terrence G. Leonhardy walked into his home late yesterday in borrowed clothing and a three-day beard, freed by leftwing guerrillas who held him nearly 100 hours as a political hostage.

Diplomatic colleagues said he was weak and tired, but "okay."

The release of Leonhardy, the first U.S. diplomat abducted in Mexico in modern times, was expected late Sunday after 30 so-called "political prisoners"—most of them accused terrorists and bank robbers—were freed and flown to Havana in exchange for Leonhardy.

Leonhardy said in a statement that his ordeal again emphasized the need for all governments to cooperate in stamping out international terrorism.

He did not mention details of his kidnaping—carried out last Friday by four armed men who later described themselves as members of the leftwing People's Revolutionary Armed Forces.

But he did express thanks to Mexican authorities who complied with demands by the guerrillas to free the 30 prisoners, among them four women. The kidnapers threatened to kill Leonhardy if the 30 were not freed and flown to Cuba.

Authorities bowed to the demands Sunday, then started a long wait to see if the kidnapers would free Leonhardy.

He appeared at 10:45 p.m., walking into his suburban home through a back door past two newsmen who recognized him.

Pilot Points Out Watergate Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As United Air Lines Flight 642 from Cleveland descended toward Washington's National Airport Monday, passengers heard the voice of Second Officer Richard Martineau pointing out the White House, Washington Monument and the Capitol, then:

"Now those of you on the left side of the aircraft may see some odd-shaped buildings next to the Kennedy Center. Those are the famous—or infamous—Watergate apartments."

The passengers were still laughing as the plane touched down.

Richardson Makes New Pitch For Cambodian Bombing Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Elliot Richardson says the Nixon administration will continue bombing in Cambodia whether or not Congress approves a $500 million transfer of funds to cover shortages created by the Indochina war.

Richardson told the Senate Appropriations Comittee yesterday that President Nixon feels that the Cambodia air raids have such high priority he is willing to sacrifice other military needs if faced with a congressional refusal to approve the transfer.

The defense secretary, already in the thick of his new duties supervising the Watergate investigation, spent four hours with the committee yesterday trying to head off another crisis.

The Pentagon wants congressional authority to transfer $500 million from unused accounts to pay for increased costs of the war, and other operations.

Democrats in both houses of Congress are fighting the transfer, saying it would put Congress on record as endorsing the bombing of Cambodia.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., charged yesterday that the Pentagon has already illegally transferred $149 million of the money without congressional consent.

"Someone, or several someones, could go to jail over this," Aspin said.

Pentagon officials say the money was not transferred, but only placed in escrow pending congressional approval, and that no law was violated.

Richardson warned the committee that if transfer authority is denied, this would only serve to disrupt U.S. military operations around the globe, while failing to stop the Cambodia bombing.

He said U.S. forces in Europe, the Mediterranean and elsewhere around the world would have to be reduced to a "dangerously low level during the next two months," and a freeze would have to be initiated on promotions and enlistments so the books could be balanced.

Some members of the committee were planning to offer an amendment to bar the use of any of the transfer authority for bombing.

But Richardson said that if such an amendment were offered and defeated, "We would then be justified in viewing that rejection ... as a vote at least to acquiesce in" the administration's policies.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., predicted "a helluva fight" on the issue and said the committee was 2 to 1 in favor of barring any of the transfer authority for Cambodia.

Nixon Succeeds In Payroll Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has succeeded in cutting the size of the federal civilian payroll — chiefly by trimming the Pentagon's staff, the House-Senate Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures reported today.

The total federal payroll in March numbered 2,757,836, the committee reported. This was a decline of 179,394 since March, 1968.

But a 231,019 cut in defense agencies' civilian payrolls was partially offset by a 51,625 increase in the payrolls of nondefense agencies.

Northridge Development Switch By Planners Upheld By Council

The Corte Madera Town Council last night upheld a planning commission decision to rescind approval of a tentative map for a housing development on Northridge.

The council told the developers, Roemer and Estes of Mill Valley, that Unit 5 of its Hidden Valley development doesn't conform to the town's slope or zoning policies, and that an environmental impact report showed significant adverse impacts.

The council was encouraged in its decision by a standing-room-only crowd of residents who pleaded for preservation of the ridgeline between Corte Madera and Mill Valley.

One woman showed a home-made movie of the wildflower-rich hilltops, another brought along two stuffed quail that are native to the area, and a new resident, James Crampton of 22 Fairview Avenue said the hills there are so steep the school bus cannot serve local children.

Town zoning administrator William G. McBride told the council Unit 5 consists of 21 lots, 14 of which lie directly on the Northridge.

The 14 ridgetop lots are about 10,000 square feet, while the town's zoning and slope policies would require up to 40,000 square feet each, said McBride.

Upholding the commission's decision, the council told Roemer and Estes its denial of the appeal doesn't "preclude reevaluation of the problem through an aesthetically oriented project."

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

SEWERS — Sitting as the Sanitary District Board deferred action on the proposed $20-a-year sewer service charge to each home until budget hearings in June; Councilman Edward W. Colthurst said it needed looking at in depth in the context of all the town's expenditures and programs.

SURVEY — Congratulated the Corte Madera Town Meeting on the hard work put into a community survey and promised to study its results.

CHURCH COURT — Abandoned a 1,900-square-foot section of Church Court surrounded on three sides by the Holy Innocents Church; and in recognition of the service given the town by Father Ewald and the church — such as renting apartments to senior citizens at a loss — withdrew a proposed $3,000 charge to pave and gutter the rest of Church Court.

TRIPLEX — Set a public hearing for June 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall on the Marin Estates Homeowners Association's appeal of the planning commission's approval of a triplex to be built at 5499 Paradise Drive.

KOCH — Instructed Town Atty. Albert Bianchi to initiate legal procedures to force the Koch Luggage Company to clean up discarded fiberglass luggage shells littering the plant; warning letters and requests have produced no action.

RECREATION — Approved the summer recreation program at a cost of $7,640, subject to budget approval.

PARK — Agreed to lobby at Marin County budget hearings for allocation of $100,000 for a Corte Madera Bay Front Park.

TAXICABS — Referred to its finance committee conflicting applications by Bel-Aire Cab Co. of Mill Valley and San Rafael Taxi Cabs Inc., for permits to operate taxicabs within Corte Madera; Town staff recommended giving both companies permits, but Robert J. Jennings of the San Rafael Company warned it would trigger a "cab war" because Bud Hinkel of the Mill Valley company "is operating lower fares than any other cab in California,"; Hinkel in turn criticized Jennings' operations.

FENCE — Told Jacob J. Moberg of 327 Golden Hind Passage it disagreed with his erection of fences on a 10-foot public right-of-way next to his house and instructed staff to investigate similar blockage of rights of way; councilman Herber C. Leney said the passage to San Clemente Creek is used by children from San Clemente School belongs to the people Moberg contended the passage way was dangerous to children.

CONFERENCE — Authorized town finance director Frank Bigley attending the International Conference on Public Finance in Kansas City, Mo., June 3 to 7, with expenses of $500.

FIREPIT — Approved three Boy Scouts constructing a fire pit in Town Park as their Eagle Project, with funds coming from IBM Corp., but warned the design must meet high town standards — and suggested IBM might be persuaded to pay for proper architectural design as well as materials.

DRIVEWAY — Approved a driveway being located in the center of a wheel alignment business to be built at 13 San Clemente Drive, just north of Denny's Plumbing, for Gerhard and Hanni Butter; town staff and the planning commission disagreed, saying the driveway should be shared with a neighboring lot to cut down on left turns from San Clemente Drive.

FOURTH OF JULY — Approved the Chamber of Commerce's plans for the Fourth of July celebrations, but ruled that there can be no amplified sound of rock bands, and all amplified sound must end by 10 a.m.

PARKING — Approved a two-hour parking limit zone between 502 and 506 Tamalpais Drive after occupants complained that commuters are leaving their cars parked in the street all day while they catch transit buses.

TREES — Agreed to replace street trees that have overgrown and torn up sidewalks at 3 Council Crest and 6 Chicasaw Court; the new trees will be fruitless plums.

TAMAL VISTA — Agreed to widen Tamal Vista Boulevard as far as Madera Boulevard; the town will pay $4,615 from gas tax funds while Wards Auto Store and the Edgewater Inn will contribute $6,151.

MADERA DEL PRESIDIO — Rescinded its approval of a planned unit development and a tentative subdivision map for Madera del Presidio, effective May 16.

COMMISSIONER — Adopted a resolution commending sanitary commissioner Lawrence T. Elleson on his long service to the town; he is resigning to move to Santa Rosa next month.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned just before midnight to its next regular meeting on May 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Five Killed In Japanese Storm

TOKYO (UPI) — At least five persons died and hundreds of persons were driven from their homes today by torrential rains and landslides on Japan's southern island of Kyushu.

At least five other persons were reported missing, police said.

Lucky Drive Fill Permit Is Delayed

The Corte Madera Town Council last night delayed granting a fill permit to cover up a ponding lagoon and substitute a pumping station on Lucky Drive after a nearby resident disagreed with engineering studies on the $115,800 project.

Later in the meeting councilmen were told by Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels that a 14-unit condominium destined to be served by the new storm drainage system has sunk so far it's had to be jacked up twice in recent weeks.

Developed by the Western Real Estate Development Corporation of San Francisco, and built by Horst Hanf, the peak-roofed condominiums at 62 Lucky Drive have been the target of much criticism locally on design suspects alone. They face a branch of Corte Madera Creek.

"They've been jacked up twice, the builder has fired his soils engineers and is going to sue him, and the town's filed a stop work order," said Bartels.

The Fifer Assessment District has been formed by the town to sell bonds to finance a storm drain system, a pumping station, and undergrounding of utilities to serve Western Real Estate Land, with the company paying the entire cost.

The council approved agreements with Pacific Gas and Electric Co., and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the undergrounding, but refused to act on a request by Western Real Estate's engineer Arthur T. Knutson for a fill permit to place 10,000 cubic yards of fill in a 33,000-square-foot ponding lagoon.

David H. Jordan of 22 Lucky Drive told the council he considers himself an expert on flooding — "I've watched it for 17 years," he said, "and if your engineering is as bad as it's been in the past, it won't work."

Jordan said the perennial floods on Lucky Drive in Corte Madera and Greenbrae near 101 and the Corte Madera Creek are caused by poor drainage.

Jordan said he'd watched the condominiums being built and knew from the start they'd sink — "the only way to build a house there is like a boat and float it. My house is constructed on a redwood mat, and the weight is distributed evenly."

Acting Mayor Harold B. Wagstaff said he had a "gut feeling" about the concerned neighbor and the council decided to hear more from soils engineers on the entire fill permit application at its June 4 meeting.

New Pay Less Stores Slated

OAKLAND (UPI) — Pay Less drug stores plans to open six new stores.

They will be in Concord, Lodi, Alameda, Visalia, Stockton and Honolulu, a spokesman said Monday.

The stores in California will be under the Pay Less name while the one in Hawaii will be under the Wigwam name.

Antique Chinese Vases Stolen

Two antique Chinese vases were stolen from Roger's Barber Shop, 242 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur between Thursday and Saturday, reported Larkspur police.

Owner Hilary Stock of Fairfax told police the vases, about 130 years old, were white porcelain with multicolored paintings on the sides.

To Honors List

James Roemmer of Corte Madera and Karen L. Lutz of Lucas Valley are among the University of Colorado students who were named to the president's honors list for the fall semester for a 3.5 grade average or better.

Maddox Offers To Investigate Watergate Case

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox nominated himself Monday to be the special investigator in the Watergate case, promising to remove all the "wraps and shrouds" from the bugging attempt at the Democratic National Headquarters.

"The Watergate affair ... is a situation calling for complete and impartial investigation," Maddox said in a telegram to President Nixon.

"Any hint of only a token investigation, or any semblance of a coverup, will not be tolerated by the American people. Therefore, I respectfully urge that you consider appointing myself as chief investigator."

Honda Stolen

Invitations Out For A POW Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon have mailed 587 invitations to all POWs released by Hanoi and the Viet Cong to attend a White House party.

Helen McCain Smith, Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, said the invitations were sent for the May 24 party with no screening of the former prisoners of those who might have collaborated while in captivity.

If you don't show your kids where America began, who will?

You get air fare, a car and motel accommodations, all for less than you would imagine, on an American Airlines Fly/Drive Vacation.

Take your kids across the country and back a few hundred years.

Names like Jamestown, Williamsburg, and Plymouth may never really mean anything to them unless they get to see them in person.

Our roots are here.

See it with your family.

This summer, American has put together Fly/Drive Vacations at prices that dollar for dollar are probably the best any airline has ever offered.

For $187 to $193 for a week, you get an Avis or Hertz car with unlimited mileage. (You pay for gas.) Plus 6 nights at selected Holiday Inns (for up to 4 people) or Sheraton Hotels. Air fare is $235* roundtrip for adults, with special fares for children.

The best part is you can fly into New York, and drive from there to wherever you want.

You can even visit a different place each day and stay at a different place each night.

So talk to your Travel Agent about American's Fly/Drive Vacations.

Then talk to your family.

Tell them about the terrific summer vacation they're going to have.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Husband Can't Give It Away

"It's not enough," hissed Helena, "that you've been running around with that dizzy blonde model — but you've spent all our savings on her, too! When I get my hands on you —!"

"I remind you," said Hector, strategically retreating behind a sturdy table, "that our savings are community property. California law says that the husband is the manager and has control over community property. So if I choose to bestow a few trinkets on a friend, you can't do anything about it."

It's true the husband has control and management of community property. And it's also true the wife can't complain if he's a bad manager. Or if he makes poor investments. Or overbuys. But Hector has gone a bit too far. A husband cannot give away community property. If he does, his wife, when she finds out, may have the entire gift set aside and returned.

The wife, says the law, has a "present, existing and equal interest" in all the community property. Everything acquired after marriage is community property unless one spouse inherited property separately or received a gift separately. This includes cars, real estate, bank accounts, stocks and bonds, and often rights in pension and retirement funds.

Many women's groups are starting to question this control. They say when a marriage starts to go sour, the husband may spend, spend, spend. What is left of the community property is then divided in half when there is a dissolution. If there is a proceeding filed, there may be court orders preventing transfers and waste. Until the wife can get such an order, the husband is in control.

After the dissolved marriage the wife sometimes finds her credit bad because of her ex-husband's past mismanagement. She may have trouble getting credit.

It used to be that a husband controlled his wife's wages, too. But since 1951 she's in charge of her earnings, if she keeps them in her own separate account. She can spend it on anything she pleases. But she can't give it away.

Even though the husband is the manager there are limitations on his powers. He can't assign his wages to a creditor without his wife's consent. He can't sell or transfer the furniture, furnishings or wearing apparel without his wife's consent.

PLAN

test over a planning department recommendation that the project be built in stages over 10 years.

Steinberg said he would prefer to build the project in stages over five years but was overruled by the planning commission, which said 10 years would better fit the growth rate proposed in the countywide general plan.

Park, meanwhile, urged the commission to reject the master plan and leave the single-family residential zoning unchanged in order to give Greenbrae-Kentfield residents a chance to purchase the land.

Purchase, he said, will require the formation of a community service area and successful passage of a bond measure.

Commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo said the 27-acre site had been spoiled years ago with spoils from the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. Moreover, she said, due to the land's location near shopping, transit and other facilities, it is ideal for higher density use than that permitted under the current single-family residential designation.

West, meanwhile, said he agreed some development of the site was appropriate but urged it be limited to less than a third of the site, which had been filled beyond feasible restoration as a marsh.

He was outvoted, however, on a motion by Mrs. Azevedo recommending approval of the master plan and related rezoning to county supervisors. Supervisors are expected to consider the project late this month or early June.

compared to 37 per cent who said No —when asked if they felt Nixon's credibility has declined so much because of Watergate that "it will be hard for him to be an effective President again."

Muskie, who dropped out of the Democratic race after poor early showings in 1972 primaries that were marked by later-reported incidents of secret sabotage by operatives of the Nixon campaign organization, said the President should "take whatever steps that can be devised that the investigation of the whole matter is truly independent —independent of him, of those close to him."

In an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show, Muskie said the public needs to be assured "that the full story is told, that there is no coverup and that ... we will have all the facts."

He added: "I think that he needs to do that in terms of the credibility of the presidency and his own ability to govern the country."

The New York Bar Association was one of the most influential legal groups originally to urge the President to name a special prosecutor, and its president, Orville H. Schell Jr., said Richardson's plan "does not meet the crisis."

"Whether we like it or not," Schell said in an article for the New York Times, "the President himself may be involved ... If, then, the President and his administration must be investigated, it cannot be done by his own lawyers. No matter how well known, competent and honest the attorney general may be, when everything is said and done, the conflict of interest in this situation will leave a suspicion of their inegrity in the minds of many people."

SB 90 Will Force Use Of Reserve

Senate Bill 90 will force the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District to dip into into its reserves to reduce the hours of its firemen and stil maintain the present property tax rate, according to Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr.

The measure requires taxing agencies to keep their tax rates at or below this year's or last year's level, whichever is higher, or go to the voters for an increase.

Heynen said the tax rate, pegged at 73.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, will bring in about $185,000 next year but a proposed budget submitted to the board totals $230,000, thus necessitating spending $45,000 in reserves.

Most of the budget increase is due to hiring three men to shorten working hours in the district, he said. The Alto Firemen's Association recently affiliated with a union, the International Association of Fire Fighters, and is pressing for a reduction in the 76-hour work week.

Major categories in the budget are $199,000 for salaries, $29,000 for maintenance and $2,000 for capital outlay, Heynen said. The board will hold a hearing on the budget June 8 at 8 p.m. at the firehouse, he said.

Heynen said the board at that time also will vote on someone to fill the unexpired term of director John A. Walters, who has resigned to move out of the district.

Lucas Valley Owners Elect

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Association last night elected Milly McEnhill and Joy Dahgren to serve on the association board for two years.

Other members of the board, elected last year to serve two year terms, are Calvin B. Colt, president; Martin Schainbaum, vice president and Joan Fernandez, according to board secretary Wilma Ahrens.

The association next meets at 8 p.m. June 4 in the community center, she said.

Atlanta To Host Meeting Of OAS

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Organization of American States will hold its meeting here in 1974, the first time the organization has met in this country outside of Washington, D.C.

Mayor Sam Massell announced that Atlanta was selected as the site over San Francisco and New Orleans.

Auto Stolen

His 1969 blue Ford Mustang, license WWU-582, was stolen between 8:20 a.m. and 5:35 p.m. yesterday from the city parking lot at Third Street and Lootens Place, San Rafael, Paul R. Thompson of 14 Scenic Drive, Novato, reported to San Rafael police.

NIXON

nally, to help reorganize the White House staff.

White House sources said the job would be of a part-time nature. They left open the possibility that Nixon had requested his political confidante to take on a full-time job but had been turned down.

The President summoned the recent Republican convert to the Florida White House at Key Biscayne yesterday for a two-and-a-half hour conference shortly before returning here for more planning on restructuring his staff in the wake of the Watergate scandal.

Sources in a position to know at first indicated that Connally would come back into the Nixon administration in a high-level position and that announcement of the new job would be made today.

The sources ruled out the defense secretary job for Connally. It has already been offered to David Packard, the former deputy secretary of defense. Since Connally shares Nixon's views on most domestic politices, speculation centered on him assuming the job of domestic counselor vacated by John D. Ehrlichman.

But later, the sources said whatever job Connally took would be only part-time and its announcement would not be made for several days.

Nixon spent much of the weekend in Florida planning the restructuring of his White House apparatus needed in the wake of the departure of Ehrlichman, Chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and counsel John W. Dean III.

He conferred twice yesterday with Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., the Army vice chief of staff he pulled out of the Pentagon to take over Haldeman's job on an interim basis.

Meantime, the White House Monday issued another denial that the President was in anyway personally involved in the Watergate break-in or attempts to cover it up.

The denial was prompted by published reports saying Dean was ready to testify before a grand jury that Nixon had congratulated him last fall on doing a "good job" of keeping the lid on the Watergate scandal.

The reports also quoted Dean as saying Ehrlichman had promised executive clemency to one of the convicted Watergate conspirators, E. Howard Hunt, after emerging from a conference with the President.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, departing from the usual White House practice of not commenting on developments in the case, told newsmen that "any suggestion that the President was aware of the Watergate operation" or had participated in any coverup or offered clemency to anyone was untrue.

Teachers' Fate Will Be Decided

The San Rafael Board of Education will formally decide the fate of 16 teachers issued tentative layoff notices when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the district office.

In making its decision, the board will review a recommendation from a state hearing officer that the 16 be dismised due to sagging enrollment and a financial squeeze.

The board will also consider a preliminary budget for 1973-74 and hear a report on the "turned off child" from its citizen advisory committee.

Marin Projects Receive A Setback

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Department of Education has recommended against funding two proposed federal aid projects in Marin schools.

In a long list of proposals "not recommended for funding," to be presented to the state Board of Education at its meeting Thursday and Friday, are: "Early success in school," Fairfax School District, $48,602, and Redwood Child Development Center, Tamalpais High School District, $85,350.

Rancher's Truck Totally Vandalized

Vandals have damaged a Nicasio rancher's dump truck, valued at $1,500, beyond repair, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The vandalism to the truck belonging to George Rogers was discovered Saturday. All windows in the truck, its radiator and its motor block were smashed with rocks and the gas tank was filled with sand, deputies said. The damage was believed done by juveniles holding a beer bust in the remote area sometime between Friday and Sunday, deputies said.

Easement Deeds Are Accepted

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night accepted four deeds of easement from property owners along the route of the planned sewer trunkline through Ross.

The deeds allow the district to go onto the property to construct and maintain the new trunkline, according to Ned J. Ongaro, district manager. The deeds were for property on Locust Avenue and Shady Lane.

To protect some property, which is heavily wooded, the district plans to bore under the lot, minimizing damage, Ongaro said.

The board also agreed to lease a tractor with a digging implement at a cost of $750 per month with an option to buy the machine, Ongaro said.

Greenbrae Man Is Sentenced In Three Cases

Edward John Bonodeo II of Greenbrae yesterday was placed on two years probation, ordered to spend six months in county jail and ordered to submit to a county drug rehabilitation program, thus settling three felony cases in Marin Superior Court.

Judge David Menary Jr. sentenced Bonodeo in accord with a plea bargain last month that resulted in the youth admitting stealing $201 from a parked car in San Rafael March 15 and burglary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club last Dec. 23.

The third case, involving concealing stolen property, was dismissed.

The probation is providing Bonodeo can receive drug rehabilitation in the county.

Concert Will Dedicate Piano

Dedication of a new piano at the Stinson Beach Community Center will be at 3 p.m., May 20, with an all Haydn concert.

Donald Pippin, pianist will perform the Haydn "Piano Concerto." Sharon Daniels, soprano will be the soloist in Haydn's opera, "La Canterina". The concert will conclude with one of Haydn's string quartets.

Delegates Rap Chair Overlap

LONDON (UPI) — Delegates attending an annual conference of civil servants had a complaint about overlapping.

Chairs provided for them, one delegate said Monday, caused a painful condition known as the "overlapping bottom." He said the chairs were "absolutely agony" for heavier persons.

And another delegate, Mrs. Margaret Richardson, said they are a health hazard for persons with back trouble.

Dictating Machine Taken From School

Someone took a dictating recorder valued at $350 and $40 in cash between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning from Don Timoteo School at 39 Trellis Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

The burglary was found by custodian William B. Van Winkle when he opened the school. The entire school had been ransacked, but nothing else was reported missing, police reported.

Two Typewriters Reported Stolen

Two electric typewriters, valued at $1,400, were stolen from the Title Insurance Co. office at 104 Tiburon Boulevard late Friday or early Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The theft was discovered when a patroling deputy found the building's rear door open at 2:22 a.m. Saturday.

Store Robbed

A burglar who broke into Sullivan's Home Wares store on the Ross Commons some time during the weekend took $5 in change and a pocket knife, Ross police said today. The thief broke a window to get into the closed store.

Toyota Stolen

Dennis Slaydon, 701 Carling Court, Petaluma, told police his 1972 green Toyota Corona was stolen Saturday from the parking lot of Denny's restaurant, 4986 Petaluma Boulevard North. It bore license 413 FHK.

RIDGE

the moratorium, reversed himself and voted "no." He said he was now opposing the measure because it would force Shelter Ridge to sit "as a raw piece of dusty, eroding land" and would put the Shelter Hill complex into jeopardy.

After Burton announced his stand, Councilman Robert E. Capron said he was going to participate in the vote. He had abstained from discussion of the ban for several months because his law partner represents Shelter Hill.

Capron said he and special city attorney Richard Breiner had decided that the councilman's interests in the project are negligible. (Breiner substituted for Leland H. Jordan, regular city attorney, whose firm has represented Shelter Ridge developers.)

Had Capron not voted, the ban would have failed, since it needed four votes for approval.

"This town needs a moratorium, and it needs it now for its full and total area," argued Capron.

He contended that if the moratorium exempted Shelter Hill and Shelter Ridge it would make the city liable to lawsuits from other frustrated builders.

After the vote, Councilman Burton commented "that various people" were voting according to whatever legal opinion suited their fancy.

Most other argument centered on whether or not Shelter Ridge should be included in the ban. Tom W. Newton, director of community development, told the council that the ban would not give the city any greater power over the development than the city had already. He also said that because of the grading done at the site, the project should be completed.

"We cannot leave this place as it is," said Stanley M. Bala, city engineer. He called the graded area "an exposed quarry-like area."

Shelter Ridge developer Warner Odenthal said he is "not trying to run roughshod over anyone" and is planning to reduce density at the project.

The remaining units planned for Shelter Ridge and Shelter Hill include 156 apartments, 80 moderate income units and 23 single-family homes and duplexes. Already built are 104 condominiums, and valid permits exist for 83 more.

Conviction Of Skyjacker Upheld

DENVER (UPI) — The conviction and 45-year prison sentence handed skyjacker Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. was upheld Monday by a three-judge panel of the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Attorneys for McCoy had questioned the validity of a search warrant authorizing a search of McCoy's home in Provo, Utah. A lower federal court in Salt Lake City previously had upheld the warrant.

McCoy hijacked a United Airlines plane enroute from Denver to Los Angeles, forcing the pilot to change his course and land in San Francisco.

Nuclear Energy Displays In Van

A van containing displays and exhibits on nuclear energy will be at the Northgate Shopping Center in San Rafael tomorrow and Thursday and at the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center Friday through Sunday.

The 40-by-8-foot mobile unit sponsored by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. includes a video tape playback explaining nuclear energy from the operating characteristics of a nuclear plant to environmental considerations of nuclear power, according to Nicholas C. Stathis, director of the unit.

Teacher Layoffs To Be Considered

The Marin County Board of Education will consider laying off up to ten permit teachers at its children's centers at its meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at the county schools office.

Also scheduled for reduction in force are between four and ten instructional aides at the centers, several of which are scheduled for closing because federal funding has been withdrawn.

Talks Continue

MOSCOW (UPI) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger met for eight hours Monday with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and is continuing talks today that the two men started on Friday at Brezhnev's hunting lodge, the U.S. Embassy said.

Behr Attacks The Deposits For Utilities

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Most of the deposits currently demanded by utility companies would be prohibited under legislation proposed Monday by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Under his bill, Behr said, deposits for gas, water, power or telephone utilities would only be permitted when the utility had terminated the customer's service for non-payment during previous two years. The proposal also would force utilities to pay 5 per cent interest per year on any deposits.

Behr said utilities presently "guess whether the customer is a questionable or unknown credit risk. The end result is that everybody is a bad credit risk unless they can prove they're not."

Subdivisions Before Panel

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider a two-lot subdivision proposed for a parcel on Jacoby Street when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.

Owner Barney Norwitt is seeking to subdivide his property into parcels of 15 and 6.4 acres so that the Golden Gate Bridge District may buy the land to expand its adjacent bus base.

The commission will also consider a proposal for four duplex structures at 1701-1729 Grand Avenue.

Fire Destroys Heart Models

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "It's heartbreaking," said Dr. Willem Kolff.

Kolff, who has been working more than 15 years on development of an artificial heart, lamented the destruction of his collection of 70 heart models by a fire at the University of Utah's Artificial Organ Division.

He said Monday that the blaze interrupted several research projects and caused more than $250,000 damage.

$200 Taken

Two money bags containing $200 were stolen Sunday from the Foley and Burk Carnival at the Petaluma Plaza, police reported. Adoor was pried open on the office trailer.

OBITUARIES

Rev. Walsh Dies At 59; Rites Set

Rev. Richard Hanna Walsh, district superintendent for the Methodist Board of Missions, died today at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 59.

Walsh had served as district superintendent on the board of missions for the Methodist Church in the California-Nevada Conference since 1966. From 1962 to 1966 he had served as district superintendent of United Methodist Church of the Redwood Empire.

Walsh was a native of Connecticut and was a graduate of Dakota Wesleyan University, S.D. and University of the Pacific at Stockton. He had also studied at Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley.

Walsh had been a resident of Petaluma since 1962 and lived at 12 Cader Court. He was a member of the United Methodist Church of Petaluma, Odd Fellows Lodge and Masonic Lodge of Linden, Tulare County, and the Elks Club of Redding.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Walsh; three sons, David Walsh of Ridgecrest, Kern County, John Walsh of Hawaii and Paul Walsh of California; two brothers, William Walsh of New York and Jack Walsh of Connecticut; two sisters, Virginia McDonald and Betty Woodward, both of Connecticut, and 12 grandchildren.

Graveside service will be Friday at 2 p.m. at the Academy Cemetery near Clovis, Fresno County. A memorial service will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Trinity Methodist Church, Berkeley.

Friends may call at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, until Thursday evening.

RUTH MARCUS

Ruth Finn Marcus, long-time Marin resident and wife of William Arthur Marcus, a former director of the Marin Municipal Water District, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 75.

She was born in Berkeley and moved to Mill Valley as a child with her parents. She graduated from Tamalpais High School. She and her husband, who survives her, lived in Mill Valley until five years ago when they moved to 101 Crown Road, Kentfield.

Her husband retired as vice president of American Trust Co. (now Wells Fargo American Trust Co.) in 1958. He was a water district board member for 27 years.

She was a charter member and past president of the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valley and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Phillips Barker of Mill Valley and Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. of San Francisco; a son, William J. Marcus of Mexico; two brothers, Charles C. Finn of Seattle, Wash., and John Finn Jr. of San Francisco; two sisters, Mrs. T. C. Wellman of Kentfield and Mrs. John Heins of Monterey and eight grandchildren.

Private funeral was today. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

BIRTHS

LEWIS — A son to the wife (Doris Clifford) of Michael Lewis of Novato, May 5 at Novato General Hospital.

FIELD — A son to the wife (Susan McFadden) of David Field of Novato, May 4 at Novato General Hospital.

AUSTIN — A daughter to the wife (Jill McAfee) of Michael Austin of Novato, May 6 at Novato General Hospital.

DEATH NOTICE

MARCUS — In San Francisco, May 7, 1973, Ruth Finn Marcus; beloved wife of William Arthur Marcus; mother of Mrs. R. Phillips Barker, Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. and William John Marcus; sister of Charles C. and John Finn Jr., Mrs. T. C. Wellman and Mrs. John Heins; a long-time resident of Mill Valley; age 75 years.

Past president of the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valley and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Private funeral services will be held at N. Gray and Company, Divisadero Street at Post, San Francisco. (5/8)

Traffic Flows To Be Affected

During the 4 Year period following your purchase of a Curtis Mathes Techna 3 color television set we will make NO charges for parts or labor, whether it is in our shop or your home! We will charge a trip allowance to help cover the cost of our personnel and equipment. We do not charge for your TA in advance. A Trip Allowance is only charged for a call made after the first year of service. (If there are basic changes in conditions, including, but not limited to, an annual rate of inflation exceeding 6%, we reserve the right to increase the Trip Allowance to help defray our added costs.)

This Customer Protection Plan does not cover the following:
1. Damage due to misuse, abuse, or negligence or any factor other than a manufacturing fault in the instrument itself.
2. Labor Service Charges for:
a. Installation and/or repair of antenna systems.
b. Replacement of picture tube.
3. Any product other than a Curtis Mathes Techna 3 color television set. (In a combination Techna 3 with FM-AM radio and phonograph and/or 8 track tape player, only the color television is under this plan.)

This plan will be in effect only if you remain in the trade area which we presently serve.

Project Stalled In Peacock Gap

In a surprise show of unanimity on a controversial proposal that has sparked deadlocked voting in the past, the San Rafael City Council last night denied a use permit for a 154-unit subdivision on a bowl-shaped parcel in Peacock Gap.

American Savings and Loan Association's proposal to develop the 72-acre parcel, dubbed Peacock Gap Unit Five, was rejected pending completion of the city's new general plan.

City fathers upheld a 3-to-3 planning commission decision denying the firm's application to proceed with plans under the city's building moratorium, despite a declaration by Norman Higby, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, that the group endorsed the plans.

The action was loudly applauded by about 50 local residents who claimed the association does not represent all of the Peacock Gap community.

Howard Lawson, vice president of American Savings and Loan, told councilmen that development of the parcel is inevitable since ridge and slope portions of the hollowed area has already been capped and graded. Development proposed for the land, he said, is substantially the same as a plan presented 15 years ago, although lots have been widened and density cut from 170 to 154 units.

He was backed by Higby, who said that the homeowners Association had reached agreement on development plans with the firm last Friday after months of negotiations.

Higby said the development proposal includes a two-acre park on the flatlands since ridge areas present difficult and dangerous access for children.

Another man said the area in its undeveloped state is unsightly, is a police and fire hazard, and attracts "undesirables" and motorcyclists.

Councilman Jack G. Nixon appeared to express the views of all councilmen, saying the new general plan might present new densities, growth rates, park and slope criteria for development in the area.

Although Councilman Fred E. Jensen and Mayor C. Paul Bettini voted approval of the project in a fruitless voting shuffle last August, both voted to deny the permit last night.

Lawson said he would resubmit an application to proceed with development plans after revising them in light of the general plan, expected to be completed this summer.

COUNCILMAN NOT READY FOR 'HONOR'

San Rafael City Councilman Fred E. Jensen, usually not one to reject accolades by colleagues, did just that last night.

The 70-year-old veteran councilman cast the sole dissenting vote in a motion naming him as the city council's nomination for Senior Citizen of the Year.

"Aw, I don't want to be with all the old people," he declared. "I'm not that old."

Action On Project Near Civic Center Postponed

The San Rafael City Council last night postponed consideration of a controversial proposal to develop a 54-acre site near the Civic Center after one city councilman described the project's environmental impact report as inadequate.

McCarthy Co. of Northern California's proposal to develop the site off San Pablo Avenue near Highway 101 with a 292-unit apartment and townhouse complex split the council in a 2-to-2 deadlock last November, a situation colleagues of freshman Councilman Jack G. Nixon may have been mindful of last night when they agreed to his request for additional environmental data.

An environmental impact report on the proposal claims the development will have little major detrimental impact on the environment, but Nixon said he wanted a more detailed traffic analysis, city services cost projection, and geology report.

In deadlock voting last November, Councilman Fred E. Jensen and Mayor C. Paul Bettini voiced support of the project, with Councilmen Lawrence E. Mulryan and John A. Miskimen opposed. Although the stalemate allowed the project to proceed under the city's building moratorium, final approval of plans could be scuttled if the council majority declines to rezone the land from unclassified to residential district.

The council said it will again consider the project's impact report, and companion rezoning action, at 8 p.m. May 21.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ELECT — Witnessed the swearing in of councilmen-elect Lawrence E. Mulryan and Nixon, and San Rafael Board of Education victors Paul K. McMullen and Suzanne L. Beittel.

ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of a 2.34-acre parcel off Fifth Avenue, a move requested by applicant Harold Wagner and approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

DOLLAR ESTATE — Referred to staff for study and recommendation a feasibility study that shows the Robert Dollar estate may be used as a self-sustaining community center.

APPEALS — Referred to the planning commission for review an ordinance allowing the council to postpone appeals for more than 60 days. The council is now required by the Municipal Code to act on appeals within a 60-day period.

FIRE — Approved a reciprocal fire aid agreement between the city and Hamilton Air Force Base.

EMERGENCY — Adopted a city emergency plan, outlining procedures in the event of a catastrophe, and heard Fire Chief Robert E. Marcucci report that San Rafael High School will "collapse" at 2 p.m. Friday in connection witn a county emergency preparedness drill.

PARK — Said the county should give high priority to a proposal for a North Bay Front Park, including tennis and swimming facilities, on former Smith Ranch land adjacent to city limits.

CLOSING — Said the west lane of Civic Center Drive will be closed from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. June 3 for a bicycle race sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Marin Cyclists bicycle club.

ONE-WAY — Referred to the traffic committee a proposal that the recent change to a one-way street pattern at First and D streets be reversed because traffic is "jamming up" in the area.

BIDS — Called for bids on lighting of tennis courts in Freitas Park.

PARKING LOT — Approved plans and earmarked $28,000 for a parking lot across from city hall at Fifth Avenue and D Street.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the federal government making San Rafael eligible for a federal aid urban project aimed at upgrading the Miracle Mile.

CHANGE ORDER — Approved two change orders for work on South San Pedro Road amounting to $5,500 in connection with slide repair work and correction of a wet subgrade area near Glenwood. The county will pay a similar amount in accordance with a joint-funding areement.

GREEN OAKS — Referred to staff a request by Terra Linda Development Co. for a time extension to complete subdivision improvements in the Green Oaks project near Freitas Parkway.

CONTRACT — Approved a $10,-331 contract with the West Coast Spray Booth Inc., low bidder, for construction of a paint booth at the city corporation yards.

APPOINTMENTS — Said the terms of planning commission Thomas R. O'Toole and Albert J. Boro expire in June, and called for applicants to the seats. The council also called for applications to a seat on the Board of Examiners and Appeal vacated by William Scoville, who moved. City fathers said they will announce two appointments to the library board at 8 p.m. May 8. The terms of board members Richard H. Bradshaw and Ella Mae Minneman expired April 30, and both, along with Freeland E. Romans, have applied for the seats.

CLAIM — Denied claims of $506,000 by Russell Kern Jr. of 10 Lindenwood Court for damage done to his property and the Lindenwood neighborhood by a massive slide last January.

MORATORIUM — Said the city will request special exemptions for redevelopment projects if the Marin Municipal Water District slaps a permanent ban on new water connections.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. May 21.

San Rafael Council Approves Pay Hikes — 5 Per Cent Range

San Rafael city fathers last night unanimously approved salary increases of about 5 per cent for most city employees — including themselves. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The salary package, approved as proposed by City Mgr. William J. Bielser, provides salary increases for city police personnel, miscellaneous personnel and unclassified employees. It does not provide increases for city firemen, with whom negotiations are continuing, or for Bielser.

The package also empowers Bielser to reward or penalize unclassified employees, or city department heads, on the basis of their performance.

Total cost of the increase over the cost of salaries paid now is about $142,000, Bielser said.

Included in the pay hikes approved last night is a 5 per cent increase in salaries paid city councilmen, retroactive to 1970 when councilmen last increased their own pay. The action hikes from $200 to $230 per month the pay received by each councilman, and from $300 to $345 per month the pay received by Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

The proposal to hike council salaries was promptly endorsed by city fathers and passed without comment except for a remark by Councilman Fred E. Jensen that he was the only councilman unemployed.

Salary and benefit increases approved for policemen are a 5.5 per cent increase for all patrolmen; a 5 per cent increase for other police personnel except "Y" or secretarial personnel, and cadets, who will receive a 2.5 per cent increase; a special 5 per cent "one time" adjustment for sergeants and lieutenants aimed at reflecting responsibilities; a $50 increase in the $150 uniform allowance, and a $7.53 monthly increase in health benefits for police personnel.

The police pay hikes came after the city administration reached a settlement with the San Rafael Police Officer's Association.

Salary and benefit increases approved for miscellaneous employees are a 5 per cent increase for all full-time personnel, except "Y" rated employees, who will receive a 2.5 per cent increase; a $10 monthly increase in health benefits, and an increase in allowable accumulation of sick leave from 120 to 150 days. The council also approved "special inequity adjustments" for the positions of parks supervisor (10 per cent); shop and equipment supervisor (10 per cent); recreation supervisor, (2.5 per cent) and assistant parks supervisor (5 per cent).

The miscellaneous employees' pay hikes came after the city administration reached a settlement with the Marin County Employees Association, which represents the group.

Salary and benefits ranges approved for unclassified employees will be set on a scale ranging from a 5 per cent decrease to a 12.5 increase in existing salaries. Under the range, Bielser is empowered to set department head salaries.

Bielser said later that most cities give similar power to the city manager. The salary increases and salary ranges approved last night will become effective July 1, he said.

A Protest Over Firings

SAN CARLOS (UPI) — Some 100 black students picketed at San Carlos High School Monday to protest plans to fire two Negro teachers.

The protesters returned to class after Principal William Walti explained to them that the dismissals were the result of legislation which forced the school district to reduce the number of teachers.

The two to be fired were Mike Phelan, a student teacher, and Kenneth Melton, assistant to the vice principal.

Returned POW Seeks Divorce

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Navy Cmdr. Raymond Vohden, accusing his wife of seeing other men during his nearly eight years as a prisoner of war, filed for divorce Monday on the couple's 13th wedding anniversary.

The four-page bill filed in Circuit Court by Vohden's attorney said the couple separated on Feb. 14, 1973—two days after the Navy pilot returned home from North Vietnam.

Filed under a new Tennessee law that requires specific charges only if a divorce is contested, Vohden's brief petition contained only the required statistical data and the assertion that Mrs. Bonnye Jean Vohden was guilty of "cruel and inhuman treatment." But Vohden earlier had accused his wife of dating other men when he was a POW.

Gas Supplies Being Limited

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of California is limiting gasoline supplies to service stations because of "exceedingly high demands."

The firm said Monday that the effect on motorists is expected to be "minimal."

Standard Oil said it is striving to make petroleum products available to meet its customers' essential requirements and urged motorists to conserve gas supplies by reducing speed, avoiding fast starts and eliminating "unnecessary" short trips.

Ruling Due On Lower Slay Charge

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA —Sonoma County Superior Court Judge John Moskowitz will rule Friday on a request to reduce the first degree murder charges against Eloy Farias, a Sonoma State College student.

Attorney Robert Y. Bell, representing Farias, asked in a hearing Friday that the murder charges be reduced to voluntary manslaughter.

Farias, 21, has been held without bail since his arrest March 30 on suspicion of killing Debra Lee Henthorn, 19, and her mother, Nancy Lee Henthorn, 42, at their Geyeserville home. Police said Farias was upset when the girl mocked him and rejected his proposal of marriage.

Bell argued that the preliminary hearing showed the slayings were not planned in advance. He said Farias was carrying a gun that day for self-protection.

Depty Dist. Atty. Gary Antolini argued there are no legal precedents to permit a superior court judge to reduce a murder charge after a defendant has been bound over for trial on that charge.

Moskowitz said he would also consider a request for bail for Farias at the Friday hearing.

Road Project Bidder Is Told

The California Division of Highways has announced the low bidder for a half-mile construction project to improve Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Larkspur.

Low bid of $181,953 was submitted by Freeman-Sondgroth Construction Co. of Mountain View to realign and widen a portion of the road near the west gate of San Quentin Prison. A section of the project is located along the bank of Corte Madera Creek.

Contract will be awarded after verification of bids by the department of public works, the department said.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Get The Sure-Fire Trick And Forget About The Speculation

There is some risk in taking finesses since even the surest finesses sometimes go wrong. When your choice is between a finesse and a sure-fire play, therefore, take the sure thing and let the speculation go.

SPADE ACTION

West opened the five of spades, and East won with the ace. East returned the nine of spades, and South took the king and ran three rounds of clubs at once to get rid of his last spade.

South next led a low diamond from dummy. West captured the king of diamonds with the ace and hopefully led the queen of spades.

South ruffed the spade, cashed the queen of diamonds and ruffed a low diamond with dummy's small trump. He next led the queen of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse.

DECEPTIVE AIR

West played a low trump with a very casual air, just as though he didn't hold the king. Declarer next led the jack of hearts from dummy and East played a low trump.

Since the first trump finesse had worked, South took it for granted that the second finesse would work also. He played a low trump from his hand and the ceiling fell in!

RETURNS TRUMP

West won with the king of hearts and returned a trump. This cleared out dummy's trumps and left South with a losing diamond still in his hand. Down one.

The correct play is to take the ace of trumps the second time instead of finessing. South can then ruff his last diamond with dummy's last trump. The opponents will get one trick with the king of trumps, but South will surely make the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you have opened the bidding with one no-trump, and partner has responded two clubs. The opponents remain silent, and it is up to you again, with:

♠ - A 9 6 3
♥ - K 7 2
♦ - K Q 5 3
♣ - A J.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Partner's response asks you to name a major suit if you can, and you must therefore show the four-card spade suit.

Six Musicians In Two Recitals

The Marin Music Chest will present six young musicians in two recitals this week.

Last year's Music Chest scholarship winner, Jerry LeClerc, and Wendy Tomlinson, will play two cello duets at 10:15 a.m., Thursday at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Four flutists will play "Symphonico" by Reicha and "Flute Quartette" by Dubois in a public recital at 1 p.m. Sunday in the lounge of the Peacock Gap Country Club. The flutists are Nancy Hall, Lynn Becker, Louise Horen and Mary Setrakian.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

1. WHO was "Tarzan" in the movies? This tall, muscular New Yorker played a lot of outdoor roles, from an early American frontiersman, western cowboy, African explorer to that of a big city cop and undercover man. But in five films he was the ape man, created by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Greetings on his 54th birthday go to (A) Richard Arlen, (C) Burt Lancaster, (C) Lex Barker.

2. WHO led a band called "The Five Pennies"? This cornet player from Odgen, Utah, began in 1926, recording early white jazz and introducing Jimmy Dorsey, Joe Venuti, Benny Goodman, and Lennie Hayton. They were his early sidemen with Glenn Miller sometimes arraging and playing trombone. Greetings on his 68th birthday to (A) Red Nichols, (B) Red Norvo, (C) Red Buttons.

3. WHO did a television show called "Life is Worth Living"? This great religious leader was born in El Paso, Illinois and educated in the United States and Europe. It was radio, then television, which make his name a household word. Greetings on his 78th birthday to (A) Oral Roberts, (C) Billy Graham, (D) Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

4. WHO was the 33rd United States President? This American grew up on a farm, and in his youth loved to read military history. During World War I he was an Army officer in France and was instrumental in arranging peace in Europe after World War II. Winston Churchill credited him with making "great and valiant decisions." Today is the birthday of (A) Franklin D. Roosevelt, (B) Dwight Eisenhower, (C) Harry Truman.

ANSWERS: 1 - Lex Barker; 2 - Red Nichols; 3 - Fulton J. Sheen; 4 - Harry Truman.

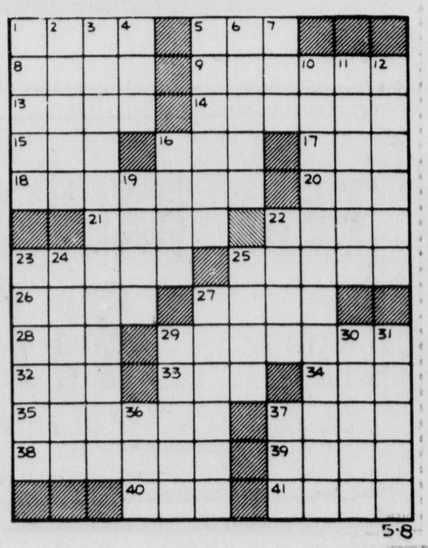
Yesterday's Answer



Townhouse Project Wins County Planner Approval

The commission's action with new Commissioner Marie J. Sessi abstaining, came over the protests of Nancy L. Bennett of the Sorich Park Area Residents which in March persuaded county supervisors to reject a 44-unit master plan for the 15-acre site

Supervisors, in turning down the master plan, referred it back to the planning commission, saying they would look more favorably on a plan for 20 units for the Sacramento Avenue site

San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi, representing property owner Max D. Schenk, yesterday outlined the latest plan, noting it limits development to about two acres of the picturesque site, the rest to be dedicated as open space.

Referring to the San Anselmo City Council's call for no more than 16 units on the site, Bianchi charged that "since the city can't buy it (because of the open space bond defeat), they want to acquire it through zoning."

The commission, which approved plans in February for 44 units on the site, wasted little time in approving the 20-unit plan.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

STRAWBERRY — Approved architectural modifications to the once controversial Strawberry Cove Apartments off Seminary Drive. The 72-unit apartment complex has changed hands from Paul J. Broman to Peter Heywood of Mill Valley.

APPEAL — Upheld the decision of the deputy zoning administrator who turned down a variance request from John E. Vilicich for a mobile home on property at 19175 Shoreline Highway, Marshall. Vilicich had appealed the decision.

LAND DIVISION — Upheld the decision of the planning director who turned down a land division request from Thomas B. Deffebach Jr. to divide part of the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way at Blackfield Drive for a home site.

USE PERMIT — Rejected the request of Arthur H. Meyer for a new use permit to operate a nursery on the two-acre Richardson Bay site once used by Whole Systems recycling. Meyer has failed to comply with conditions of his original use permit to upgrade the property.

REBELO — Postponed to May 21 a decision on how the Frank Rebelo ranch on Vineyard Road near Novato should be rezoned. Nearby residents want it classified to the A-60 designation (one dwelling per 60 acres) while Rebelo wants a higher density permitting up to 450 homes. The commission asked its staff to return with recommendations on a compromise permitting some higher density use if clustered.

FLOOD ZONING — Recommended county supervisors approve new flood plain zoning for lands around Bel Marin Keys near Novato. The flood plain zoning would require developers to leave some lands along Novato Creek for ponding and flood control.

CHAIRMAN — Formally elected John F. West chairman, replacing Jack G. Nixon who was elected to the San Rafael City Council. West said he plans to keep the commission on its agenda schedule. The commission meeting ended two hours late, West having departed earlier

New Post Office For Woodacre Is In The Works

Woodacre will have a new post office in time for Christmas, the Army Corps of Engineers has announced.

The corps presently is soliciting bids to build a new main post office for the San Geronimo Valley community. Bidding will close May 30.

The present post office, considered too small for the growth of the area, was occupied in 1960, according to Sam Fraser, realty specialist for the corps.

The new building will be a 2,320-square-foot structure on a 25,000 square foot lot, which will provide off-street parking for office patrons and employees, Fraser said.

Construction is expected to begin in 90 days. The building should be completed within six months of the award date of the contract, about mid December, Fraser said.

Registration Set For Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for all three of the Kentfield School District's elementary schools will be tomorrow and Thursday between 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Parents registering their children at Kent, Greenbrae and Wolfe Grade schools should bring legal verification of birth (children must be five years old by Dec. 1 to enter kindergarten in September) and immunization records.

Bank Is Formed To Help Women

NEW YORK (UPI) — The formation of a new bank specializing in helping women financially was announced Monday by a group that included feminist Betty Friedan.

"We promise special services to women in banking, including opportunities in employment and management," Eileen Preiss, vice chairwoman of the State Democratic Committee and coordinator of the banking group, told a news conference.

Most of the bank's income will come from commercial services to corporations and conventional bank customers. Miss Preiss said, but the main purpose in organizing a women's bank is to give priority to women's needs in credit, business loans and mortgages.

Harsh, blah or smooth taste.

What makes the difference?

Generally, two things make your cigarette taste the way it does.

The tobacco and the filter.

And often, the difference between harsh, blah and smooth tasting cigarettes can be traced to their filters.

The beauty of the Kent Micronite filter is the way it smooths the quality tobaccos we use in Kent. Not too much, so that the taste turns blah. Or too little, so that the taste turns harsh.

It's done with a special process (so special it's patented) by which the Micronite filter actually chooses which tastes to hold back and which to let pass.

What it lets pass is the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

Novato Teachers' Timing Very Poor

The Novato Teachers Association was well advised to delay its proposed strike vote, even though the pay raise offered by the school board apparently is far below that demanded by teacher groups.

The NTA and Novato Federation of Teachers were ill advised to propose a strike in the first place.

WE THINK there is no doubt that Novato teachers have a legitimate grievance. They have gone for two years without an increase in their salary scale, while inflation has continued and escalated.

True, most of the teachers have received actual pay increases by advancing to the next higher step of the salary ladder — an automatic increase that teachers refuse to recognize as a raise. However, for those at the top there has been no salary hike at all, and for those down the ladder, the automatic step increase has been unsufficent to keep up with inflation.

Yes, they have a grievance. But we do not believe the strike should be a weapon to settle teachers' grievances. And even if it should, their timing could scarcely be worse.

WHILE MOST school districts in Marin were notifying first-year teachers that their contracts might not be renewed for next school year because of decreasing enrollment, the Novato district sent no such notice prior to the March 15 deadline. Supt. James G. Bunker thought retirements and resignations would take care of what staff reduction appeared necessary.

Then — after the March 15 deadline — the Defense Department announced it is closing Hamilton Air Force Base except for a housekeeping force. That meant a further drop in enrollment — one which will find Novato Unified School District with perhaps 40 teachers more than it needs, but forbidden by law from dismissing them.

In such a situation, the teachers are lucky they all have jobs, even at pay that is lower than in most neighboring districts.

Even to give the teachers the 6.1 per cent across-the-board raise that its offer reportedly entails, the Novato board may have to either (1) pass a tax election to increase the amount per pupil that it can spend on its schools, or (2) get extra money from some place else — presumably the state.

The chance for either looks exceedingly dim.

IF THE TEACHERS were to go on strike, however, the district might solve its problem without either a tax election or a special handout from the state.

It could, under the law, obtain a court injunction ordering the teachers back to work. Those who defied the injunction would thereby be in contract violation — and would forfeit their jobs.

This was the route taken by Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City when teachers there went on strike a couple of years ago. By following the same route, the Novato district could eliminate its teacher surplus. Then perhaps it could afford to give the teachers a 6.1 per cent raise (or even more).

The choice before the teachers, then, may be this: accept a lower raise (or even none at all), or reduce the staff by their own strike action.

It's not an inviting choice.

Things That Go Bump

Night in Marin magnifies noises. Things that go bump in the night can lead to unease and ghosts and prowlers in the imagination. Raccoons are the prime culprit at our house, but it took years of bumpings to find it out. They rattle and pound on doors, tip things over, rattle the windows, make all kinds of noise. Imagine being awakened by the sound of fingernails clawing at glass! Not Dracula. Just Miss Raccoon wanting in the kitchen.

Moretti Believes He Has Way To Thwart Public

By EARL G. WATERS

Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti has taken the position that a legislator should be a leader of public opinion rather than represent the wishes of those who elected him.

He made this clear in explaining his opposition to any death penalty legislation. He said he is individually opposed to it.

Well, don't look now, Bobby, but the people you think you are leading all went the other way last November.

By more than two-to-one. 5.5 million Californians voted to restore the death penalty after it had been struck down by the state Supreme Court.

To carry out their wishes, Sen. George Deukmejian drafted a bill (SB 450) listing those crimes for which the death penalty shall be mandatory. It has passed the Senate 27 to 12.

ALTHOUGH MORETTI has stated he thinks such a bill would pass the Assembly, he has predicted no death penalty will clear the Legislature this year.

He would like the public to believe that the decision is beyond his control. He thinks that the bill will die in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee and those members will get the blame.

But the truth is that he alone appointed all of the members of that committee. And he did so with the full knowledge of how those members stood on the issue. He knew any capital punishment bill would go to that committee, for he alone is the one who assigns the bills to committee. It was premeditated murder.

And it is difficult to understand how Moretti, who aspires to be governor, belives he can escape responsibility for legislative failure to carry out the will of the people in this matter. It is even more difficult to understand how he figures the voters will elect him governor when he thwarts their wishes in so serious a matter. Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, although he personally opposed capital punishment, did not refuse to impose the penalty. Still he was defeated by more than a million votes by Ronald Reagan who strongly supported the death penalty.

DESPITE MORETTI'S position and his apparent belief that he can control the committee, it may be that the members will decide they had better follow the mandates of the people who elected them.

For, excepting Assemblyman John Miller, D-Oakland, they were all elected by districts which voted overwhelmingly to restore the death penalty.

Observers, however, note that legislators sometimes develop lapses of memory between elections. It is for that reason that supporters of the Deukmejian bill are urging the voters to forcefully refresh their memories by bombarding them with mail.

The memory of the voter is sometimes more durable than that of some of those they elect.

"We've got it made, Abdul."

"The press won't have — let's see now — Bob Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, Jeb Magruder, Richard Kleindienst, John Dean or Patrick Gray to kick around any more."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Sausalitan Takes Umbrage At Cartoon Of President Hitch

An editorial cartoon apparently intended to illustrate Earl C. Waters' column, "Sacramento Scene" appeared in the April 24 issue of your newspaper. Although Mr. Waters' article could hardly be characterized as a moderate, impartial analysis of the compensation of the University's president, it was factual and adult. The cartoon, on the other hand, was scurrilous and juvenile.

Over the past few years, I have worked both for the state in Sacramento and for the university in Berkeley. I am, I believe, reasonably well informed about most major issues in higher education during that period. Fortunately, most such issues were resolved quietly in the give and take of informal negotiation or before the legislature's appropriate committees. In some instances, important policy differences did, of course, require either the governor, the president of the university, or both, to seek a public forum.

Unfortunately, however, there were a few instances in which misunderstandings — possibly mistrust — caused voices to become shrill over trivial issues. Molehills are easily seen as mountains when vision is dimmed in almost mindless clashes between political demagoguery on one hand and academic arrogance on the other. The relative compensation of Governor Reagan and President Hitch is a candidate for this molehill-mountain category, and I am distressed to see your newspaper pressing its candidacy.

The issues of executive compensation are extremely complex, but three or four factors should be considered in partial answer to Mr. Waters' article.

First, whatever disagreements may exist between the state and the university, I seriously doubt if the governor, his advisors, or anyone else believe that substantially more able leadership for higher education could be obtained for substantially less money.

Second, the salary of the governor is not a primary attraction of the office. The governor, like all elected officials, is compensated by political power . . . In contrast, university presidents rarely seek their positions because they seek or expect political power. Academic administrators are recruited by being paid competitive salaries to perform onerous if honorable tasks.

Third, the size of the governor's salary is important, nevertheless. It sets a ceiling on the pay of other state employees . . . For the most part, however, they are recruited and paid on a competitive basis just like senior academic administrators . . . The real issue raised by Mr. Waters is not whether President Hitch and Chancellor Dumke are paid too much but whether Governor Reagan is paid too little.

Finally, California has been extraordinarily remiss in failing to provide an adequate permanent residence for its governors . . . Again, the issue should not be the residences of the chief academic administrators, for these residences serve highly legitimate purposes. The real issue is whether or not to move as quickly as possible to provide a fitting residence for the governor of the nation's largest state.

In closing, I repeat my opinion that the cartoon is scurrilous and juvenile and that its publication is irresponsible journalism. The cartoon detracts from the arguments of Mr. Waters, insults the intelligence of your readers, and lowers the quality of your newspaper. Although Mr. Waters and I disagree on the salary issues he raises, I suggest that he would agree that your newspaper should apologize to President Hitch for printing the cartoon.

(Columnist Waters' comment was: "I would think your editorial cartoon of April 24 hilarious if it didn't so accurately depict the arrogance of the Hitch contract . . . I think drawing him as a fat potentate not unfair at all." — Editor)

Events Vindicate Free Press; Now It Must Exercise Care

In the perennial exercise of their adversary role with government, they feel they have been vindicated.

For some three years, they have been under sharp attack from the Nixon administration. Vice President Agnew went at them with bitter alliterative phrases, and threats against the regulated media. The government, for the first time in modern history, attempted prior restraint to prevent publication of news material. The White House press spokesman sharply condemned certain newspapers. Judges all over the land threw newsmen in jail for refusing to disclose confidential sources. It was the most serious governmental challenge the newspapers have faced since the beginning of the 19th Century.

NOW MUCH has changed. The President has extended the olive branch and his secretary has apologized. The case brought against Daniel Ellsberg — regarding whose materials prior restraint was attempted and failed because the courts acted —may well soon itself be thrown out of court. The vice president has said many conciliatory things.

But, much more important, efforts led by a few news media and then joined by many have resulted in uncovering abuses in American government on an unprecedented scale. The press has done its duty, and the air is much clearer.

There is no cause for exultation. The administration of President Nixon is grievously wounded. Many facts have to be brought out and sifted before we know where guilt lies. The President's staff is in shambles. His personal prestige and honor are gravely jeopardized. How the mess will be cleaned up, and what the rest of his term will be like, are mysteries.

Meantime, responsible editors are reminding themselves of the awesome issues at stake, and of the need for caution. It has to be remembered, of course, that anybody is presumed innocent until proved guilty.

MANY PEOPLE have been accused, but little guilt has actually been proved. And this is a time still when rumors are flying through the air like confetti at a wedding. They can't all be true. Too many get into print.

Wise newspeople remind themselves that their profession is as subject to error as any other. A great many people in the nation, despite current vindications, have lost confidence in the news media. Sometimes this is caused by sloppy reporting or bias. The press needs to be careful that it never falls itself into the pit into which its critics have tumbled. Its duty is not to itself as a business enterprise, but to the people it must inform as accurately as is humanly possible.

So a rather sobering attitude is emerging. It is especially conditioned by the terrible gravity of the present situation. American executive government must not be weakened into impotence. Nobody questions the seriousness of problems around the world, or at home. Nobody doubts the necessity of a strong presidency, working beside strong legislative and judicial branches.

But this effective government, like the press, must exist within an effective exercise of decency and balance. Open government, countervailing power, respect for and listening to the views of others — all these are essential to protect and restore the institutions which have been so endangered.

WHILE SENSATIONS continue to burst forth in the news, few of them are yet conclusive. It will take a lot of time to get the facts really nailed down. We will have to be patient. And in this interlude we would do well to pass few conclusive judgments. Most of us are terribly saddened and indignant at what seems to have been going on. But it all has to be clarified and proved out.

Government must go on. A considerable start at clean-up has been made. The press, its first elation worn off, needs to be as fair as it is vigilant. And it should seek healing for the nation's leadership, for that is what is most needed.

Absence Of Promised U.S. Aid May Bring New Vietnam War

All the noise is about alleged violations of the cease-fire in Vietnam. But the real danger to a stable peace out there comes not from what may or may not be an unfavorable balance on violations of the old agreement but from the present inability of the Nixon White House to carry out the economic terms of the agreement which Henry Kissinger worked out some five months ago with the men from Hanoi.

Article 21 of the agreement says that "the United States will contribute to healing the wounds of war and to postwar reconstruction of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and throughout Indochina."

A North Vietnam army of somewhere over 100,000 men is deployed in or near South Vietnam. As a bargaining weapon it is in impressive shape. It has over the last four months been resupplied, reequipped and its casualties replaced. It is an entirely credible military force in strategic location. It could take the offensive at any moment. It has not been involved in heavy fighting for a year. The village-grabbing attempted just before the cease-fire went into effect was done by Viet Cong units, not by the regular North Vietnam units. They, the NVN regulars, have had no heavy fighting since the Easter offensive of a year ago.

BUT DR. KISSINGER'S counterweapon is in damaged shape.

When he worked out the cease-fire agreement things were very different. There had been no POWs coming home with atrocity stories. And Watergate was still only a wistful hope among discouraged Democrats. 'Way back last October Dr. Kissinger could promise American reconstruction aid to Hanoi with every expectation of being able to deliver. He could promise it "in pursuance of traditional policy." It is "traditional" for Americans to help out their enemies after a war. It was done, to excellent advantage, after World War II for both Japan and Germany.

But the POW stories make a big difference. So long as the memory is vivid, Congress is bound to be reluctant to give Mr. Nixon any money for rebuilding Hanoi and Haiphong. And Mr. Nixon's ability to influence the Congress has been eroded deeply by Watergate.

The result is that, certainly as of this moment, Dr. Kissinger is unable to carry out the American side of the essential bargain in the cease-fire agreements.

HANOI, OBVIOUSLY, is going to move toward a stable peace only if it gets a better deal that way than by war. Its chances in war are good, now that American forces have been withdrawn. An aid program must be available, and good, to be worth more than the war chances. Countries act on a basis of self-interest. Hanoi is going to elect war or peace on the basis of which is more promising.

Right now Dr. Kissinger has too little to offer in fulfillment of the American part of the agreement. This, of course, is why President Nixon is again rattling his bombs.

'Public' Discussion Of Public Business At Breakfast Meetings

The Novato City Council, judging by its early season form, is going to set a new world record for meetings in a calendar year.

Along with regular meetings, joint meetings general plan meetings and budget meetings, the council has embarked on a series of breakfast meetings with boards of other agencies in the Novato area.

ONE MORNING last week several members of the council had a "public" meeting with the Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory Board at the Alvarado Inn.

The public consisted of two waitresses, a reporter, and a young couple staying at the inn, who arrived for breakfast and sat in a far nook.

Technically, the meetings are legal if announced in advance and open to the public, as are the dinner meetings of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen, which aren't attended by the public either.

However, the hour and the inconvience of attending virtually excludes the public from breakfast sessions.

The council has had such sessions since January with boards of Novato Unified School District, Novato Sanitary District, Novato Fire Protection District and Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory and North Marin County Water District.

When the council decided in January to seek meetings with other boards to discuss mutual problems and coordinate activities, it suggested breakfast meetings. There wasn't a word about public inconvenience.

The council, with a heavy schedule of night meetings, favored a morning session, but agreed that the invited board could pick another time if it wished.

Councilmen aimed for meetings with ther boards on a rotating basis, with provision that if there wasn't anything to discuss sessions would be cancelled.

ABOUT HALF the scheduled breakfast meetings have been cancelled for lack of an agenda, and there were none last month.

The attitude has prevailed that they consist of short talks, more or less exploratory and informal, and don't result in immediate action, so the public isn't missing out on anything momentous.

Apparently the public agrees, for there has been virtually no comment except protest by Betty J. Machaco, who recently was elected to the Novato Unified School District board.

True, there hasn't been any action, but during breakfast discussions the selling of the Marion School site, the water delivery problem, and the sanitary district's long-range capabilities have been talked about.

ART BUCHWALD

How The New New Nixon Came To Be President

WASHINGTON — We've had an Old Nixon and a New Nixon, and last week on nationwide television we saw a New New Nixon. How the New New Nixon came to be President is a very interesting story.

Back in January, 1972, the New Nixon was engaged in working out the details of the Vietnam cease-fire and solving difficult problems with Red China and the Soviet Union. Because the duties of the presidency consumed so much of his time, he turned over his re-election campaign to the Old Nixon, who at the time was unemployed and needed the work.

On June 17, while the New Nixon was in Florida resting up from his trip to Moscow, he received word of the Watergate break-in. He was appalled at this senseless, illegal action, and was shocked to learn that employees of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President were involved.

THE FIRST THING he did was to call the Old Nixon and order an immediate investigation to find out who was responsible.

The Old Nixon promised the President that he would leave no stone unturned in rooting out the people who were involved in this sordid affair.

As the weeks went by, the Washington Post and other newspapers started writing that people in the White House were involved in the Watergate. The President called in the Old Nixon and asked him what he knew about it.

The Old Nixon replied: "It is rotten journalism, hearsay and mudslinging at its worst. I have talked to John Dean III, Charles Colson, John Mitchell, Jeb Magruder, H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, and they have assured me that no one in a position of any responsibility had anything to do with the Watergate. I also have seen Pat Gray's FBI files and everyone is clean."

The New Nixon breathed a sigh of relief, but he gave further instructions to the Old Nixon. "I don't want a whitewash. The chips must fall where they may."

"Yessir."

ON MARCH 21, the President received new information implicating members of his own White House family. This information shocked and appalled the New Nixon because the White House was a sacred trust.

He called in the Old Nixon and demanded his resignation.

"I'm not going to be the scapegoat," the Old Nixon shouted. "If I go, I'm going to involve a lot of other people. This whole Watergate mess wasn't my idea, and I'm going to name names."

THE NEW NIXON told the Old Nixon he could stay on. Then the New Nixon went to Camp David to think about what he should do. He knew he had to get rid of the Old Nixon.

However, he was hoping to save Ehrlichman and Haldeman.

But the pressure was too great, and a group of highly influential Republicans flew in secretly to see him. They told him he would not only have to get rid of the Old Nixon, Kleindienst, John Dean III, Ehrlichman and Haldeman, but he would also have to go himself.

The New Nixon couldn't believe it. "I haven't been accused of anything."

One of the Republican leaders said, "In matters as sensitive as guarding the integrity of our democratic process, it is essential that the public have total confidence in the President of the United States. While you are probably innocent, you were in the White House when all this took place."

"But who will replace me?"

THE DOOR OPENED and in walked the New New Nixon. "I'm sorry about this, Dick," the New New Nixon said, "but the country comes first."

The New New Nixon sat down in the President's Chair and started dictating the speech he gave April 30.

A Solution To Billboards

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Removing large billboards from the nation's highways by 1976 would be a good way to celebrate the country's 200th anniversary, two leading architects suggested Monday.

S. Scott Ferebee Jr., president of the American Institute of Architects, and Archibald Rogers, president-elect of the organization, made the suggestion at a news conference at the AIA convention.

"It would be a nice birthday present for the bicentennial," Rogers said.

The AIA "has urged amendments to the Highway Beautification Act of 1965," Rogers said.

Bedayan Enters Pleas To Shallock Deaths

Brent W. Bedayan, indicted on murder charges in the slaying of three members of a Mill Valley family, yesterday entered dual pleas of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. appointed two psychiatrists to examine Bedayan and submit reports to the court by May 21.

He also set July 9 for the beginning of what is expected to be a three-week jury trial of Bedayan's case, and set a pretrial hearing for July 3.

The 22-year-odl Bedayan has been held in Marin County Jail since April 17, the day after Mill Valley police and firemen found the bodies of Melvin Schallock, 61; his wife, ruth, 56, and their son Daniel, 19, killed by shotgun blasts outside the Schallock home.

Action Wanted On Seat Belts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked Monday by Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar to pass a resolution calling on the states to make automobile seat belts mandatory.

"Twenty-four out of every 25 persons in cars equipped with lap and shoulder safety belts fail to wear them," Brinegar said. "Further, three out of every four persons fail to wear avaiable lap safety belts."

Twenty-three states are reported considering mandatory seat belt legislation.

While the proposed Congressional resolution carries no legal weight, an aide indicated that federal funds could be withheld from states that did not adopt such legislation.

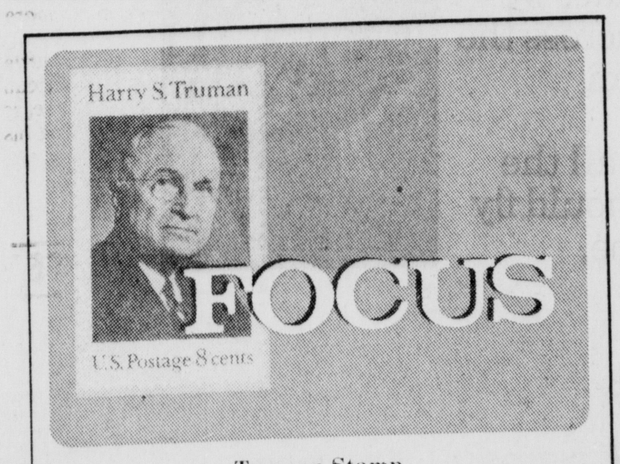
Wireless Phone Prototype Stolen

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Patrick K. Bault was charged Monday with stealing a prototype of a wireless telephone from a parked car and taking sales orders for duplicates from the Mexican government.

Bault, 51, of Las Vegas, Nev., tried to obtain a patent on the phone in Mexico City and agreed to sell Mexico 250,000 of them for use in police cars, police said.

He was arrested Friday at the Long Beach airport, allegedly en route to San Diego to meet with another prospective buyer for his purported invention.

Bault stole the prototype, now reported to be in Mexico City, from a car belonging to Mobile Systems Inc., of El Cajon, Calif., police said.



Truman Stamp

Born on this day in 1884 in Missouri, Harry S. Truman was a World War I captain in artillery, a businessman, a judge, a Senator, and a Vice President. As our 33rd President, his desk plaque read, "The Buck Stops Here," and he was called upon to make some of history's most momentous Hot and Cold War decisions — one notable example being the dropping of the atomic bomb. Mr. Truman also was President when 25 years ago the United States formally recognized the newly-formed nation of Israel. A commemorative Truman Stamp will be issued today in Independence, Mo.

Second Low Sewer Plant Bid Accepted

Failure to fill in a blank space in a bid application may cost a low bidder the job and may cost the taxpayers $18,000 more than need be to build Mill Valley's new sewage treatment plant. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 1.)

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham told the city council last night that the city has to accept the second lowest bid of C and C Bohrer Inc. of Palo Alto even though it is about $18,000 higher than one from Albay Construction of Concord because Albay forgot to fill in one blank. The city must come up with $2,000 and the federal government with $16,000 to meet the difference, he said.

Cunningham said the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, which is funding 80 per cent of the $300,000 project, refuses to consider Albay because of the empty blank, and "there's no way the EPA will change its mind."

The blank was on a sheet where the bidder was to list the trades that would work on the job and then was asked to relist the same trades in a space asking if the bidder would follow fair hiring practices.

H. Richard Soennichsen, of the Walnut Creek consulting firm of Yoder-Trotter-Orlob and Associates, which is handling the project, told the city council that Albay simply forgot to repeat the list of trades.

He said he did not notice the mistake when he opened the bids but, if he had, he would have been legally powerless to do anything.

"Doesn't the law allow for corrections of bids?" asked Councilman Robert E. Capron. "Can't we make it crystal clear to all staff and consultants that they have our authority to correct any errors like this?"

Soennichsen said the EPA is adamant because of previous lawsuits from disappointed second lowest bidders in similar cases.

The council voted to continue the matter until May 21 when the city attorney and staff was to report back on efforts to get the EPA to change its mind.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

CLOSED SESSION — Held a closed meeting to discuss appointment of a negotiating team to consult with employees on salaries.

YOUTH — Resolved to appoint a youth representative as a nonvoting member of each city adult commission or board.

DEVELOPMENT TAX — Voted to have the city attorney draw up an ordinance waiving development or "bedroom" taxes for nonprofit corporations building low and moderate income housing.

NORTH RIDGE — Asked Councilman Capron to report to the North Ridge Committee that the council favors setting up a county service area which would raise local funds by taxes or bond issues to buy the North Ridge Area.

FIREHOUSE — Set June 6 as the date to discuss final costs of the firehouse and other budget priorities.

STREETS — Continued until June 4 a proposal to require property owners abutting major arterial streets to pay for improvements done from their property up to the center line of the street.

BUS DEPOT — Continued until May 21 a proposed lease with Richard Magnani who plans to turn the city bus depot into a restaurant.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Announced an opening on the Human Rights Mini-Board.

METERS — Appropriated $3,900 for new 10-hour parking meters at Brown's Store and Mayer Building parking lots.

STRAWBERRY — Asked for city staff to investigate the possibility of the city holding an annexation election in Strawberry.

Senate Bill, Budget Discussion Is Set

Harlan Barry, assistant city manager of Larkspur, will discuss the effects of Senate Bill 90 on the city's 1973-74 budget at a meeting of the Larkspur Town Meeting tomorrow at 8 o'clock in city hall.

Warren H. Patton, chairman of the Town Meeting, said the public is invited to the meeting. The city's 1973-74 estimated budget totals haven't been prepared yet, but the provisions of SB90 will limit revenues to the amount raised by a tax rate no higher than this year's rate of $1.98 per $100 assessed valuation.

TWA's Ambassador Service.*

It's what that long trip to Europe should be.

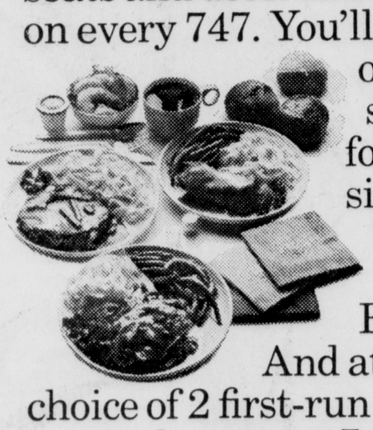
TWA has more 747 and 707 non-stop and direct flights to more European cities than ever before.

We've got a daily 747 direct polar flight at 10:45 AM to London and Paris. The only direct 707 flights to Rome, Athens, Milan and Tel Aviv. And connecting service to Frankfurt.

So whether you're going on a business trip, or just taking a vacation, our schedule can fit your schedule.

Only TWA gives you Ambassador Service.

That means you get completely refurnished seats and decor in both First Class and Economy on every 747. You'll get Twin Seats in Economy on every 707, so if nobody's sitting next to you, you can fold down the middle seat and sit 2 across instead of 3 across.



You'll have a choice of 5 international meals in First Class and 3 in Economy. And at an additional charge, a choice of 2 first-run movies†.

And on every 747 there'll be a First-Class lounge, where you can relax and have a drink.

And an Inflight Ambassador who can help you rent a car or book connecting flights. Right on the plane.

This is what has made TWA the most popular airline to Europe (in fact we carried more people across the Atlantic last year than anybody).

So if you're flying all the way to Europe, you should fly the best way to Europe.

TWA is what travel should be to London, Paris, Rome, Milan and Frankfurt.

By KAREN PETERSON

"Russians do not believe in art that doesn't have political impact," explained Dr. Mary Arnold, a Russian language and literature professor at Sonoma State College. "The new society of communism is predicated on new consciousness and new art."

Dr. Arnold, a Tiburon resident, speaks of the trends in Russian literature and the people of Russia with a knowledge gained both from years of study and her experiences in the country during the turbulent 1940's and early '30s.

The 10 years Dr. Anold spent in Russia with her parents were plagued first, she said, by the first Five Year Plan and economic troubles and later by the first purges of Stalin.

Sitting in her office at the college, Dr. Arnold said in all the arts the role of the artist is to help cultivate the new Soviet man. And the basis of the new Soviet man, she said, is primarily identified as working for the good of the collective.

ALL THE ARTS, including literature, must follow the guidelines of Socialist realism, a style espousing the goals of Soviet society, said Dr. Arnold, who has also been a linguist, translator and interpreter.

Calling this style a detriment to Soviet literature, especially during the Stalin era, she said she recognizes a relative rebirth in liberalism today. Yet, she claims, the Khrushchev era was even more liberal for writers than it is today.

Many authors purged by Stalin have now been rehabilitated, but others, including Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn, have fallen out of favor and become "unpersons," she said.

Solzhenitsyn attacks values, she said, moral values. And because of this, she pointed out that he has not been mentioned in the new Soviet Literary Encylopedia.

The result of authors falling out of this prescribed pattern is a massive network of self-publishing, the Soviet equivalent to the underground press.

Copying machines are literally under strict guard, said Dr. Arnold, who received her doctorate at the University of California at Berkeley. Authors such as Solzhenitsyn type out whole books outside official channels. These books, she continued, are widely read in limited circles of intellectuals in big cities.

"RUSSIAN LITERATURE has always offered insight into

society. We're getting a lot of unofficial, underground literature which provides us with an insight behind the facade," she said.

When it comes to Western authors, the Russian people still admire Jack London, said Mrs. Arnold, also a member of the International Hospitality Center in San Francisco, a semi-official arm of the U.S. State Department.

And very often, she said, a favorite form of entertainment to Soviet visitors is a trip to Glen Ellen, the home of Jack London.

But the Russian people are beginning to move into more contemporary, sophisticated American literature, she said, including the works of J. D. Salinger, William Faulkner, John Updike and Truman Capote.

"There's also a Hemingway cult in Russia that goes back to the 1950s," she added.

Russian literature is social problem oriented, she said, and earlier Russian literature was most often strong in religious beliefs.

While the practice of religion is legal in the Soviet Union, the constitution forbids religious teaching. Nevertheless, said Dr. Arnold, a great many people still attend church, including many young people.

SURPRISED AT the crowds of people in churches on her last visit, Dr. Arnold believes it is an indication of a religious revival. And the number of young people in attendance also indicates people are taking the risks to give their children a religious upbringing, she said.

Besides increased religious activity, Dr. Arnold also sees a great deal of restoration of prerevolutionary art, and she calls this a reaffirmation of the past culture.

Icons, for example, are on display and rooms of museums are dedicated to them, a practice not true at one time, she said.

The visitor to the Soviet Union has the opportunity to see Old Russia, she said, including the churches, palaces and crown jewels of the Czars.

But the tourist cannot just wander around the country, she said. He must have a set itinerary approved by the Soviet tourist agency.

This restriction is largely a way of controlling contacts between the people and foreigners, said Dr. Arnold. People in contact with tourists, tour guides for instance, are screened and cleared by the government first, she said.

"People always want contacts," Dr. Arnold said about the Russian people. "They have a desire to meet and understand foreigners and the foreigner's world. But they are cautious — it depends on where they are and what they are doing.

"They're curious. Coverage of the West is limited and selective," she said.

At the same time, it is difficult to take a measurement of the discontent or contentment of the people, she said. It is even more difficult because of the language and the general caution the Russians have in dealing with foreigners.

And yet, she added, there are ways of getting feelings from the people by listening to the type of questions they ask. Russians are very frank, she said, if you know where their minds are and if you are able to communicate with them, you can get below the surface.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Party Is Held For Architects

By MOLLY MARIN

Parties, reunions and tours are being held in conjunction with the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco this week.

Architects and their wives who traveled together on a special trip to Japan in 1968, were honored today at a reunion luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bernardi in Sausalito.

Co-hosts for the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Cabell Gwathmey of Belvedere, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of Los Altos Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Worley Wong of Oakland. The 60 guests are attending the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco.

A chartered bus brought the visitors to Sausalito from their hotels in San Francisco. To emphasize the Oriental reunion theme, a Japanese menu is planned.

Included in the exhibit will be Mrs. Bernardi's tapestries and line drawings, Maggie Merriman's paintings, Rosalie Hackeny's stained glass, Rex Gros' sculptures, and Douglas Herr's sculpture. Sheri Williams, Mrs. Bernardi's niece, will act as hostess to the architects and their wives at the gallery. The Bernardi home will be open to their professional friends during the convention.

HOUSEGUESTS OF Mr. and Mrs. George Monardo of Mill Valley will be Mr. and Mrs. William Klene who will arrive from their home in Hearndon, Va., Sunday (May 6). Klene, the brother of Marilyn Monardo, will be attending sessions of the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco.

Hildegarde Klene will have an exhibit of her original wall hangings at the Imprint Shop on Jackson Place, San Francisco through this month. Mrs. Klene uses a hand-hooking method and wool yarn to carry out her designs.

The visitors will spend some time at the Monardo's summer home at Lake Tahoe before returning to the East.

TWO SURPRISES occurred Friday evening at the Martin E. Barretts' home in Larkspur. Barrett was surprised at the party arranged by his wife for his 40th birthday, and Mrs. Barrett was surprised that her husband arrived in time.

The day before the party Barrett told her he would be late due to an appointment in Sacramento, so not wanting to spoil the surprise, Mrs. Barrett kept quiet and hoped, she said.

Barrett was greeted with a poster sized baby picture of himself, a cake inscribed, "You've Come A Long Way Baby," and more than 40 guests, including the man who introduced him to his wife 18 years ago in New York, Erskine Buffano of Mill Valley.

Other guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Vincent Keyes, Gene Wilson, George Burton and the Rev. Albert J. Smith and Jerry Peterson.

MRS. LEONARD James of Sausalito will leave May 25 for her native Denmark, where she and her small son, David Alden James, will visit her parents and friends in Copenhagen.

MRS. HERBERT ROSS has recently returned to Belvedere after visiting her son, daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Russell and Jennifer Russell in Surrey, England. On Jennifer's birthday, the family visited "Stonehenge," the stone-age circle of rocks used, it is thought, for astonomical calculations and religious purposes.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. A. Deane Gough of Kentfield have returned from a vacation trip to the resort retirement community of Sun City, Ariz.

Marietta Mangini To Wed Sostenes F. Rodregues Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Mangini of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Marietta Louise to Sostenes F. Rodregues Jr. of Campbell.

Marietta was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the College of Marin. She also attended Baptist Oklahoma University and was graduated from Sonoma State College.

Marietta is the sister of Ann Marie Mangini of Davis and Michael D. Mangini Jr. of San Rafael.

Sostenes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sostenes F. Rodregues of Campbell. He was graduated from high school in Campbell and attended Oklahoma Baptist University. He is currently attending California State University at Hayward and will begin student teaching this month.

He is the brother of Lupe, Robert, Richard, Mary Jane, Olivia Amanda and Bernice Rodregues and Mrs. Mike Fortwangler. He is the grandson of Mrs. Luisa Acosta of San Jose.

The couple plan a July 28 wedding at St. Isabella Church and will live in Modesto.

Equal Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Michigan Legislature is considering proposals which would give the Creator equal time with Darwin in all public school classrooms where evolution is taught.

ON THE AGENDA

Day Care Center Will Sponsor Fund-Raising Events In Cotati

Myschool, a day care center in Cotati serving student parents from Sonoma State College, will sponsor both a spaghetti dinner and Mother's Day fair this month as fund-raising events.

The spaghetti dinner will be held tonight at 7 p.m. at the Inn of the Beginning in Cotati. Featured performers will be Elizabeth Owens from the School of Expressive Arts and other local poets reading their poetry, and the Sonoma Mountain Make-Believe Band playing country and western music.

The "Mother's Day Fun Fair" will be held Sunday at the Cotati Plaza. The event will include a rummage sale, bake sale, crafts fair, bicycle raffle, local bands, puppets and a children's parade.

People interested in spaces for the craft fair may contact Bridget McCoy or Bonita Blomfield at the school.

"I REMEMBER Mama" will be the theme of the Madera-Tiburon Guild of Sunny Hills fashion show and brunch tomorrow at San Geronimo Golf and Country Club.

Brunch will be served at 10:30 a.m. followed at noon by modeling of spring and summer fashions by the Marin Mannequin League.

Mrs. F. O. Foster will play the piano.

THE KATHERINE Branson School Parents' Association will present the traditional silent auction tomorrow at the school in Ross.

A spring fair and luncheon is also included. Doors will open at 11 a.m. followed by the luncheon. The hour-long auction will begin at 2 p.m.

Luncheon reservations may be made through the school alumnae office.

A LUNCHEON and fashion show, "Summer Safari," will be presented by the Alumnae Council and the Service League of San Domenico School for Girls at noon tomorrow on the San Anselmo campus.

Following the luncheon, students, alumnae and parents who are members of the service league will model the fashions, including one three-generation group.

Chairman for the alumnae council is Mrs. David Powel of San Rafael, assisted by Mmes. Alan Shattuck of San Rafael, Robert Dougherty of Ross, Dennis Ciocca of Corte Madera and Joseph Hurley of San Francisco.

Chairman for the service league is Mrs. Edgar Lindner of Kentfield, assisted by a committee of Mmes. John Hunter of Kentfield, Kleve Johnson of San Rafael, John Munson of San Rafael, W. Bruce Shafer of Sausalito, Imre Vizkelety of Mill Valley and Leopold Simon of Tiburon.

A FASHION SHOW, presented by members of the Marin Mastectomy Services, will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the home of Mae Steward, 44 Lower North Terrace, Tiburon.

Commentator for the show will be Annette Lerner. Allen Goodrich and Patti Mitchell will provide the music.

OPEN HOUSE for the San Anselmo Co-Operative Nursery School will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

The open house will provide preschool children the opportunity to acquaint themselves to the facilities and programs available to them.

"RESOURCES IN THE Community" is the theme of tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Marin Chapter, California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children (CANHC), at the Pacific Gas and Electric Auditorium, Third and Brooks Street, San Rafael.

The meeting is open to the public.

A POTTING Party will give members of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Women's Club an opportunity to exchange ideas on gardening, after a luncheon tomorrow in O'Brien Hallat, a church in Mill Valley.

Members and guests are asked to bring containers. Plants will be supplied.

Mrs. Jack Larson is chairman.

INSTALLATION of officers of the Peacock Gap Garden Club will be held tomorrow at Peacock Gap Country Club. No host cocktails will begin at 11:15 a.m. with luncheon following at 11:45.

New officers will include Mmes. Douglas Wray, president; Stanley Leete, first vice president; Jerry Good, second vice president; Mostyn Lloyd, third vice president; Thomas Holmes, fourth vice president; Will Sanders, recording secretary; Seymour Malmuth, corresponding secretary; Robert Schoenlank, treasurer; Douglas Howell, historian and Lawrence Frate, parliamentarian.

SGT. RAY DELEON of the Larkspur Police Department will be the guest speaker at the last in a series of afternoon talks sponsored by Larkspur city councilman Joan Sestak.

Sgt. DeLeon will discuss burglaries and how to prevent them at noon tomorrow in Mrs. Sestak's home, 359 Wilson Way, Larkspur.

(Novato Photo)

Laura Bishop Becomes Bride Of Jack Kegg

Jack William Kegg of Novato claimed Laura Lyn Bishop of San Francisco as his bride at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on April 28.

Laura is the daughter of Glenn Bishop of Petaluma and Mrs. Marilyn Bouhaben of San Francisco, and Jack is the son of Jack B. Kegg of Arizona and Mrs. Eleanor Kegg of Novato.

The bride chose her sister Julie Bishop of San Francisco as her maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Glen Eddings of Vacaville, the bridegroom's sister; Mrs. Ronald Darrington of Kentfield, Alvina Butti and Mrs. Ron Lerch of Novato.

Dave Field of Novato was best man, and ushers were Glen Eddings, Charles Maynard of Santa Rosa, Gene Syrup and Ron Lerch of Novato.

Following a reception at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, the couple went on a wedding trip to Southern California. On their return they will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is attending California State University, San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Bishop of Rohnert Park and Mrs. E. K. Budkovsky of San Francisco.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed at Roger Wilco store in Novato. Mrs. and Mrs. Eddie Strockbine of Novato are his grandparents.

Bad Check Writers Use Family

NEW YORK (UPI) — Family relationships, good or bad, are like money in the bank for worthless check passers.

In either case, the American public picks up a tab in phony checks variously estimated at between $100 million and $1 billion annually.

John J. Janssen, who operates the nation's only clearing house for bad checks, says nobody knows for sure their real cost, but unit volume has been mounting by 10 per cent each year over the past five years.

As director of bank and hotel security for Burns International Security Services, Inc., Janssen circulates monthly warning bulletins to police, hotels, motels, banks and merchants on the latest wrinkles in check passing and featuring "mug shots" of the perpetrators. He has files on about 50,000 known forgers and other phony check writers.

The bulletins reveal many of the old-time passers use togetherness — children, husbands, wives-to soften up check-cashing victims usually for $100 to $500 amounts.

On the other hand, young people who have "split" from their families are accounting for a large part of the upsurge in worthless paper—and pass checks usually in $10 to $15 amounts.

The professional swindler, however, usually is on the move to another community before his checks bounce and he can be nabbed, Janssen says.

One woman swindler opens a small checking account and then papers a community—making her rounds in a chauffered limousine with two children to convince merchants she's a rich matron who can write checks for any amount.

A "devoted" mother and son team write checks made out to each other and have little trouble cashing them.

GENERATION RAP

Professor Agrees That Student Evaluations Are Worthwhile

DEAR BOTTELS:

I am the retired college professor whose "loaded" questions on hand-holding in school halls received equally loaded answers from you two. You ended, "No offense, sir, we'd really love to hold your hand."

I am disappointed that you did not follow up with a date for this hand-holding, and hope one is forthcoming. If there is a choice, I prefer Helen. . .no offense, Sue; she's nearer my age.

But to get on: This time I am in accord with you and "Humanities Major" that student evaluations of their teachers are valuable. Several research studies agree. One study (University of Michigan) indicates that even the evaluations of fifth-grade pupils are sound and helpful.

I always used them in my college classes, and credit them for worthwhile changes in content, methods —even modification of personal faulty mannerisms and dress.

Evaluations should be voluntary, unsigned and unstructured. I simply asked four questions: 1. Strong points? 2. Weak points? 3. Suggestions on teaching methods, etc? 4. Remarks? I urged students to "let themselves go," and often received two-page critiques.

It is surprising that your mail went four to one against evaluation of instructors by students. Constructive criticism (and most students aren't vindictive) should be welcomed. — DR. A. D. (HOPEFUL HAND HOLDER)

DEAR DR. D.:

You get A+ for good sportsmanship on our evaluation sheet, Professor, Sir: Those sassy answers to your first letter weren't exactly handholder stuff. We appreciate your sense of humor, and we'd love to shake your hand. — HELEN

DEAR DR. D.:

It's weird about advice column mail: The minute we say "Correspondents are four to one against," those in favor start writing. Since our last column on student evaluation of teachers, five-sixths of the letters have been "pro." — SUE

Examples:

RAP:

Teachers who ridicule or veto student evaluations are those who need them most. Why shouldn't the persons who stand to benefit or lose most have a say? — JULIAN

HELEN AND SUE:

Students are the logical choice to conduct evaluation of instructors whose professional success depends upon the ability to communicate. Only students can tell us whether the instructor knows his material, presents it clearly, is fair, tolerant, understanding, etc. Perhaps, more importantly, these evaluations tell us how young people feel about a teacher. The most learned man in the world can't impart knowledge unless he makes contact, and how will he know he is failing here unless his students can tell him? — EDUCATOR

RAP:

When I got pregnant, my fiance said he'd marry me only if I had an abortion. He dropped me off a block away from the clinic, gave me the money and told me to call him when it was over. He picked me up on the corner — and I've never seen him again.

Last week, in desperation, I called, and he said he just couldn't help feeling that a girl who has had an abortion is "kind of damaged goods," and "Sorry, Deanna, but it would never work for us now."

What can I do now? — LEFT WITH NOTHING

DEAR LWN:

You can thank fate for showing you what kind of chauvinist stinker this man is — before you married him. We're sorry the lesson was so hard. — HELEN AND SUE

Join the floor-sitting set and get involved. i'm not talking about group-encounter sessions —merely gamesmanship at a new level. And it all starts with a new, fun floor covering called "Games People Play."

This carpet allows anyone in the family to become chairman of the board. Chessboard, checkerboard, tick-tack-toe boards are all incorporated into the design. Then there's parchisi, spin-out, cribbage and Chinese checkers. And, if anyone wants to circulate the blood, the hopscotch squares can always be acted out.

The manufacturer, Jorges Carpet Co. of Rossville, Ga., has worked with Rhodes Associates of Dalton for more than three years to make the concept work. And the copyright was established early this year. Nine lively primary colors have been incorporated into the carpet design, and accessory items are available containing game kits. The game accessories have been beautifully engineered for good looks, safety and adequate heft so that playing on the textured carpet is enjoyable. The accessories work for more than one game.

Another unique feature of the carpet is that it incorporates Brunslon nylon fiber, the static-control yarn that offers cleanability, soil and stain resistance and a static-free surface.

The manufacturers believe this is the first of a new kind of floor covering. Until now, carpeting has not become involved in the overall purpose of a room. It has been a decoration used for comfort, color and acoustical value. They see the beginning of a new use and new integration of carpet into the total meaning of an interior. How this idea will be developed is not yet known, however, learning carpets would be a natural step for a child's room. Some craftsmen have already designed "alphabet" rugs and custom vinyl floors have utilized the idea.

Perhaps we are about to experience an explosion of new ideas for the floor. It will be fun to watch — just as we've enjoyed the enormous change in the bed linen field. Just five years ago the average family used all-white bedding. Now color has become an important part of our sleep life. Who knows where carpeting is going? There's a new dimension just over the horizon.

AAUW President Is Mrs. Epstein

MRS. WILLIAM D. EPSTEIN
AAUW branch president

A longtime member of the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. William D. Epstein of San Rafael, has been elected president.

During 13 years of membership Helga Epstein has served as publicity chairman, fellowship chairman, editor of the bulletin and recording secretary.

AAUW awards fellowships to college women and each year honors a member by naming a grant in her honor. Mrs. Epstein was honored by the Marin branch in 1967. A variety of social and study groups are offered to members, who attend a general meeting each month with a guest speaker and program. Fund raising events are held to finance the fellowships.

According to Mrs. Epstein, the purpose of AAUW is to cooperate with other educated women to attain fulfillment as individuals, to enrich family life, to support the goals of continuing education and to serve as an effective force in the community and in local, state and national government.

Membership is open to women who have received degrees from college or university approved by AAUW. Mrs. Epstein, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and received a master's degree in English literature from Dominican College. She is a member of Junior Theater, Youth-In-Arts Auxiliary and former director of the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

A 15-year-resident of Marin, Mrs. Epstein and her husband, an insurance and investment salesman, are parents of David, 16, Andrea, 14, and Robert, 11. Her hobbies are tennis, swimming, the theater, reading, cooking "for an appreciative family," politics and traveling. The Epsteins returned recently from a trip to the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

Other AAUW officers are Mmes. Edward Meyers, first vice president and program development chairman; John Donovan, second vice president and membership chairman; Oscar Fenton, recording secretary; Robert Kenney, administrative secretary; Howard Rice, membership treasurer; and John Braman and Terrence Valeski, directors at large.

Kathleen Gage Bell To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keith Bell of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Kathleen Gage to Larry Wiley Garst of Falls Church, Va.

Kathleen was graduated from San Rafael High School, the College of Marin and Sacramento State College. She is now employed at the school of Contemporary Education in McLean, Va.

She is the sister of Steven R. Bell of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Gage of Marysville.

Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Garst of Roanoke, Va. He was graduated from high school in Roanoke and is currently working on his doctorate at George Mason University in Arlington.

He is the brother of Wallace B. Garst Jr. of San Diego and Mrs. Marvin Hevener of Richmond, Va. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Garst and Mrs. Nonie Meador, all of Roanoke.

The couple plans an Aug. 11 wedding at the Pathfinder Tea Garden at the Marin Art and Garden Center. They will live in Falls Church, Va.

St. Raphael Court Wins State Honor

Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, was honored at the 24th biennial state conference, which was held Thursday through Sunday in Monterey.

Mrs. William Webb of San Rafael, regent of Court St. Raphael, accepted the first place award for "work done during the past year on behalf of those less fortunate than ourselves."

The court also received a certificate of appreciation from Shirley Godfrey of Sacramanto president of the board of Madonna Manor Home in Salinas. The home is for retired Catholic Daughters.

Andrea L. Black Weds William Langenderfer

St. Patrick's Church in Grand Rapids, Ohio, was the setting for the wedding of Andrea L. Black to William Robert Langenderfer of Bowling Green, Ohio.

For the April 27 evening rite Andrea, who formerly lived in Corte Madera, chose Jeanne Langenderfer as maid of honor and Mary Jo Langenderfer and Mrs. Steve Hildebrand as her attendants.

Norman Langenderfer of Bowling Green was his brother's best man. The ushers were the bridegroom's brother Edward Langenderfer of Bowling Green and Frank Baker of Lambertsville, Mich.

A reception was given for the couple at the Riveryby Country Club in Bowling Green. After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will live in Detroit, Mich. Andrea is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia K. Black of Corte Madera and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. M. Komora of Corte Madera. She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Komora in India for eight years and is a graduate of Redwood High School and attended the College of Marin. Andrea has been a stewardess with Delta Air Lines in Chicago.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Langenderfer of Bowling Green. He was graduated from Bowling Green State University and is attending the University of Detroit Dental School.

Ambassador To Nepal Wins Service Award

I-J Special Report

Carol Laise, United States Ambassador to Nepal, received the National Civil Service League 1973 career service award for sustained excellence at a ceremony Friday in Washington, D.C.

CAROL LAISE
Ambassador honored

Ambassador Laise is one of two women among the 10 award winners honored this year. The other is Charlotte Tuttle Lloyd, assistant general counsel for the U.S. Treasury Department.

In submitting Ambassador Laise's nomination for the award, Secretary of State William P. Rogers noted her "superior talent and professional competence in a series of demanding and important posts" in the state department. Serving in Nepal for the past six years, she is dean of diplomatic corps there and often represents all foreign diplomats at official Nepalese functions.

Ambassador Laise is married to Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to Saigon, and they usually manage to meet once a month in Kathmandu or Saigon, and on one reunion her plane landed in Saigon at the height of the 1968 Tet offensive.

Carol Laise served with the Department of Agriculture, the Civil Service Commission and the United Nations Refugee Relief Administration before she joined the state department in 1948.

Blood Bank Service Will Be Honored

Mrs. T. A. Ronnenberg of Corte Madera will be honored at a luncheon Thursday for volunteering 1,000 hours of service to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. The luncheon will be held in the auditorium of the San Francisco Medical Society.

During 1972 volunteers contributed more than 22,400 service hours to the blood bank, according to the executive director Mrs. Bernice M. Hemphill.

Bible Vetoes Plan For Wolfback Ridge

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee has vetoed a plan to include Wolfback Ridge lands in the Golden Gate Recreation Area as an administrative revision of park boundaries.

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, said special legislation will be needed to do the job.

The Department of Interior proposed in March to expand the proposed 34,000-acre recreation area by 323 acres, including a 214-acre parcel on Wolfback Ridge and 145 acres in Tennessee Valley.

Much of the Wolfback Ridge land is owned by Oakland attorney Edward R. Fitzsimmons and partners, who have been battling with the City of Sausalito for almost three years to develop the property with 200 single-family homes.

The bill creating the recreation area allowed the Department of Interior to make boundary changes administratively with the approval of the chairmen of the House and Senate interior and insular affairs committees.

In a letter to the department, Bible has balked. A member of his staff said today that Bible considers the Wolfback Ridge lands too large for administrative inclusions, and seeks special legislation.

He took a similar position on the Tennessee Valley property, owned by Allan Olds of Laguna Hills. That acreage is located on the west side of Tennessee Valley Road just before it reaches the old Marincello gate.

However, Bible said he opposed that land being included as an administrative action for different reasons. It's not faced with imminent development, he said.

If no one in the Senate takes action, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, said today, he will introduce the needed legislation. But he said the burden seemed to be on the upper house, particularly its California representatives, Democrats Alan Cranston and John Tunney, since the snag is in the Senate.

A spokesman for Cranston's office said today the senator is awaiting a conference with Bible before acting.

Fitzsimmons, meanwhile, has told Bible's staff he will accept no less than $25,000 an acre for the property held by him and his partners. That would put the cost of their 160-acre holding at $5.3 million.

The attorney, who has filed multimillion-dollar damage claims against the city in connection with his stalled development plans, told the city council recently he will do "everything I can" to thwart including his property in the recreation area.

Plans For A Taco Bell In Novato Are Advanced

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved precise development plans for a Taco Bell restaurant in Novato Square, east of Highway 101 between Delong and Grant avenues.

The restaurant plans submitted by Ben Ostlind, were approved by a 4 to 3 vote.

Leroy J. Syrop dissented because he opposed the restaurant and commissioners Robert Glasscock and George E. McDaniel dissented because they opposed conditions of approval, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

COMMERCIAL — Recommended rezoning two acres on the east side of Railroad Avenue between Madrone and Orange avenues from planned residential to planned commercial as requested by Alfred Bellucci and Frank DeMello.

LUMBER SALES — Granted Hubbard and Johnson Lumber Co. a use permit for a retail lumber, building materials, plumbing, electrical, paint and hardware store and outside sales are between Ford Way and Highway 101, south of United Rent-All.

INDUSTRIAL — Recommended rezoning eight acres on the east side of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, north of Los Robles Mobile Park, from residential to industrial as requested by Ronald Antonioli Inc.

TOGNOLI LAND — Denied an application by Alfred Tognoli to reclassify nine acres on the south side of Adrienne Avenue and Hancock Street intersection from half-acre lots to planned residential development. Tognoli planned to put 80 townhouses on the site, a development the staff said would result in "massive grading."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Thursday for a joint meeting with the city council on the Novato General Plan at the Novato Community House.

Violinist To Give Recital On Friday

College of Marin student Mary Helen Weinstein will give a free public violin recital in the choral hall of the college's Fine Arts Building on Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Weinstein will perform works by Johann Sebastian Bach, Sergei and Cesar Franck, accompanied by Carol Castro Mauia, piano.

Anderson Quints All Gain Weight

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — For the first time since their birth 12 days ago, the Anderson quintuplets have all shown a weight gain during a 24-hour period.

The five infants are "all approaching their birth weights" and doing "quite well," said Dr. Fred Nomura of Bess Kaiser Hospital.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation giving state income tax credit to working parents who have children enrolled in preschool centers was proposed today by Assemblyman Mike D. Antonovich, R-Los Angeles.

Washington Post's Probe—A Pulitzer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Washington Post won the 1973 Pulitzer Prize for public service yesterday for its investigation of the Watergate scandal.

It was one of 11 prizes awarded in journalism, eight in letters and one in music. There was no prize this year for editorial cartoons.

Among the other winners was a second Pulitzer for the Post, to political reporter and columnist David S. Broder in the category of commentary. Max Frankel, Sunday editor of The New York Times, won the Pulitzer for international reporting for his coverage of President Nixon's trip to China.

The drama prize went to Jason Miller for "That Championship Season."

William Andrew Swanberg, who was recommended by the prize committee in 1962 for his biography of publisher William Randolph Hearst only to have it turned down by the trustees of Columbia University who have the final say, was awarded the prize in biography for "Luce and His Empire," a work about Henry R. Luce, the founder of Time, Inc.

Robert Boyd and Clark Hoyt of The Knight Newspapers won a prize for national reporting for their disclosure that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, had a history of psychiatric treatment.

Other awards announced:

The Chicago Tribune for distinguished general or spot news reporting within a newspaper's local area of circulation, for uncovering flagrant violations of voting procedures in the primary election of March 21, 1972.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha for distinguished investigative or other specialized reporting within a newspaper's local area for uncovering the large financial resources of Boys Town, Neb. The stories led to reforms in the organization's solicitation and use of funds contributed by the public.

Roger B. Linscott of the Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass., for distinguished editorial writing, for the body of his editorial writing in 1972.

Huynh Cong Ut of the Associated Press for spot news photography for his photograph "The Terror of War" depicting children in flight from a napalm attack.

Ronald Powers of the Chicago Sun-Times for distinguished criticism for his critical writing about television during 1972.

Eudora Welty, in the fiction category, for her novel "The Optimist's Daughter."

Michael Kammen, 35, a professor at Cornell University, in the history category, for his work "People of Paradox: An Inquiry Concerning the Origins of American Civilization."

A special citation was awarded to James Thomas Flexner for his four-volume biography, "George Washington." He is a former reporter with the New York Herald Tribune.

Two co-equal prizes for general nonfiction were awarded to Frances FitzGerald for "Fire in the Lake: The Vietnamese and the Americans in Vietnam" and to Dr. Robert Coles for "Children of Crisis," volumes two and three.

Maxine Winokur Kumin, 53, was awarded the prize for poetry for her fourth collection of poems entitled, "Up Country."

Mill Valley Parents Get Concession

Mill Valley parents who want to play a greater part in personnel decisions in the Mill Valley School District, have won their first concession from the school district board.

Trustees last night agreed to expand from three to five the number of parents from Marin Terrace School who will sit on a 33-member interviewing committee to talk to nine candidates for the posts of principal at Marin Terrace and Alto-Edna Maguire schools.

The Marin Terrace post is vacant because the board last month removed principal David W. Erskine, a decision strongly opposed by some parents. They have been unsuccessful in their efforts to have the board reverse its decision.

The parents did, however, pledge to work more closely with the board in making future personnel decisions affecting Marin Terrace and it was in response to their request that the board last night expanded the committee to include five parents.

Commenting on the move, Richard K. Swain of the committee for the preservation of alternatives, which fought the Erskine transfer, said: "Perhaps it's a concession but it remains to be seen just how much say in the selection the parents really will have."

The parents committee's goal is to select a principal of the same caliber as Erskine, Swain said.

In addition to the five Marin Terrace parents — the President of the Marin Terrace Parent-Teachers Association plus four others to be named by board chairman John G. Eliot — the interview committee will consist of 28 other persons, according to Patsy White, secretary to Supt. James A. Collins.

The others are the president and president-elect of the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association, five parents from Alto-Edna Maguire, the P-TA presidents of each of the other five district schools, two principals, two members of the non-teaching staff, eight teachers and four students from the Marin Terrace and Alto-Edna Maguire.

Mrs. White said the committee will interview the applicants all day Friday and the board will interview them Saturday.

She said Swain read a letter on behalf of the parents committee asking to make a proposal for an ombudsman committee to the board at its May 21 meeting. The committee would assist the board in making decisions affecting Marin Terrace.

Kissinger Will Stop In London

LONDON (UPI) — U.S. National Security adviser Henry A. Kissinger will stop in London Wednesday on his way back from Moscow to Washington and may confer with Prime Minister Edward Heath.

British and U.S. government sources said Kissinger may meet with Heath in what is believed to be Kissinger's only European stopover on his way home. However, the British Foreign Office would only confirm that Kissinger would meet with Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Lagunitas Nonteachers Ask 7.5 Pct. Pay Hike

The Lagunitas School District board last night received a request from the district's nonteaching employees for an across-the-board 7.5 per cent salary increase, estimated to cost the district an additional $4,000.

The board took no action on the proposal, according to Anna Mae Kondratieff, district business manager-secretary.

Nor did the board last night attempt to wrestle with a proposed budget for 1973-74. Instead the board set a special workshop on the budget for 7:30 p.m. next Monday. A preliminary budget of $572,000, up $15,000 from the current budget has been proposed.

The board also discussed again a proposal to extend the district's "open program," the least structured of three programs in the elementary grades, to the seventh and eighth grades.

No decision was made on this matter, either, Mrs. Kondratieff said, and it will be discussed again at the May 21 meeting.

The board also learned that two citizens committees have recommended that the district office be moved from San Geronimo School to a portable building on the Lagunitas School grounds.

At the same time, the facility use and citizens advisory committees recommended that room at Lagunitas School burned in a fire last Fall be restored for a teachers' room.

Planners Slate Special Meets

Last night's Tiburon Planning Commission meeting was called off due to lack of a quorum, according to Richard G. Arjo. Director of community development, but two special meetings were set to handle the business.

The commission will meet at 6:30 p.m. today at city hall to consider a tentative subdivision map for seven single-family homes proposed by Marco A. Radomile on Round Hill Road.

The commission also will meet at 8 p.m. May 23 at city hall to consider rezoning much of the city's open space into a special zone, which would require developers of the land to provide for permanent open space as part of their projects.

STUDENTS GIVE BIG HONOR

Bruce Pinegar (left), art director for San Rafael City Schools, reads four-foot letter sent to him by fourth and fifth graders at San Pedro School. The students were thanking him for his work in preparing the annual art exhibit by students which begins Monday and runs through May 25 at the district office, Third and E streets. Delivering the letter yesterday was postman Cecil Simpson and some of the students who created the letter and commemorative stamp attached: Jolene Ansbro, Jeanni Clancy, Lori Grady and Eric Turner.

Pacheco Ranch Site Fire Station Eyed

Novato City Council and Novato Fire Protection District directors this morning probed the potential for a fire station at the Pacheco ranch site where 700 housing units, mostly townhouses, are to be built.

Fire directors said a station will be needed in the south end of the city to serve Pacheco Ranch homes, the expanding Hamilton Industrial Park, mobile homes and other developments planned in the area.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain proposed exploring the possibility of a combination community center-fire station, such as the center in Marinwood.

Since details weren't available on the size and character of the proposed community center site, the council and the board referred the matter to staff for further study.

Councilmen adjourned until 8 p.m. today for a regular meeting at the Novato Community House.

10 Acres Recommended For Open Space Status

The San Anselmo Planning Commission recommended last night that about 10 acres of the 15-acre Schenck development near the city's Sorich Ranch Park be dedicated as open space.

City officials and neighbors have fought the project's size, wanting a maximum of 16 units.

(Yesterday, Schenk's attorney, Albert Bianchi, informed the county planning commission that Schenck intended to develop only two acres and dedicate 13 for open space. The commission then approved plans for a 20-unit townhouse development.)

City planning technician Daniel W. Thomas said the commission asked the city council to recommend that county officials require dedication by the landowner of the rear portion of the hilly property as open space.

The commission also recommended for open space acquisition the Red Hill property on which a major slide occurred several years ago. Owners have defaulted on payment of taxes, and the property, consisting of 55 parcels, is available at $1.50 per parcel, Thomas said.

Also last night, the commission deferred indefinitely action on use permit requests by Kurt Kissman, who wants to build nine single-family residences on graded lots along the Oak Springs Drive ridgeline.

Thomas said the development may need an environmental impact report because more than one single-family residence is proposed at one time.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

HOUSE — Sent back for redesign plans by John C. Eden for a single family home at 95 Oak Springs Drive. Thomas said 29 persons signed a petition opposing the construction because it would damage area property values and block views. Eden seeks several variances, among which would bring the home close to the front property line.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a two-lot subdivision for Bob Wong and Billie Cotie at 30 Carlson Avenue, but held up granting a use permit for construction of a residence there because of possible general plan conflict.

MEETING — Said it next would meet May 21.

Manzanita School Use Decided

Manzanita School in Marin City, vacant since the Sausalito School District shifted all its kindergarten operations to Bayside School in 1971, will again be used by the Marin City community under a lease signed last night by the school board.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said trustees voted 4-0 to approve the lease of the building to the Marin City Community Services District, which will allow Marin City groups to use the structure. Trustee Warren K. Hansen was absent.

Trustees approved spending up to $2,275 to renovate and repair the school building in preparation for its new use. Lindberg said the board wants to retain title to the school in case it ever is needed for educational purposes.

Manzanita School figured in a controversy in 1971 when some Marin City residents made a bid to use it for a private school, the Marin City Learning Center. Their request was rejected by the board.

The board also accepted a $125 gift from the Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association to buy a tuba for the Martin Luther King School Band and adopted guidelines for judging the environmental impact of district projects.

Board Approves An Open Campus

Redwood High School students last night won approval from the Tamalpais High School District board for an "open campus" on trial basis through the fall semester.

Under the new arrangement, students will be free to leave the campus during periods in which they have no classes. Last month students and faculty agreed the present rules are unenforceable, and that other high school students in Marin have open campuses.

The open campus, which several years ago was strongly opposed by Larkspur residents and police, drew no opposition last night, according to Edward J. Neumeier, district information officer.

Redwood High students also won the right to have their junior prom off-campus, at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael, with the board approving an exception to the district policy that all student dances except senior balls be at the schools.

The board also took a look at a list of proposed new courses for Redwood High, according to Neumeier, which included "survival for singles."

According to a prospectus for the course, it would include learning such skills as "broiling, e.g. hamburgers," and other techniques necessary for adult survival.

Although the board asked for and received assurance from Dist. Supt. Robert Torrey that another course, group counseling, did not involve "sensitivity training," no action was taken on the new classes.

In other action, a slight flap arose over a $50 one-day course being offered for school board members by Trustee Frank L. Miller's firm.

Lotte Schiller, newly elected trustee who will not be seated until July, questioned the propriety of a board member giving the course, being offered in Berkeley.

Miller said he was being paid by the University of California to put on the course on "school board effectiveness" but said it was "not relevant" when asked what he was being paid.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

RAISES — Received a request from the Tamalpais Classified Employees Association, which represents most of the district's teachers, for a 5.5 cost of living increase but took no action.

APPOINTMENT — Named Lawrence Moyer of the Tamalpais High School staff as representative to the Adult Continuing Education Council for Marin County.

LEAVES — After much discussion granted leaves of absence for the 1973-74 school year to Mary Donovan, Redwood High teacher to allow her to go to law school, and to Tamalpais High teacher Edward McClellan, to allow him to leave the teaching field for a year.

CLAIM — Settled a claim with Chris Souravlis, former nonteaching employee who claimed he was owed overtime pay, for $1,000.

Mead Film Will Be Shown Friday

A documentary film on man and his environment "Survival of Spaceship Earth" featuring anthropologist Margaret Mead will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the United Nations Association, and the Leagues of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin, the film will be followed by a discussion, moderated by James F. Reed III.

Correct Club

The North Bay Chapter of the March of Dimes erred in reporting for yesterday's Independent-Journal that the San Rafael Lions Club — rather than the Northgate Lions Club — manned a checkpoint in the March's successful Sunday walk-a-thon, according to Arcima Taylor, secretary of the Northgate club.

Marinwood CSD Session Tonight

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District have scheduled a special meeting tonight in connection with purchase of open space lands.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. in the community center, is to consider a sale offer from a representative of landowners whose property is under consideration for purchase.

Petaluma Receives $4.5 Million Budget

A 1973-74 preliminary budget of $4.5 million — up $300,000 from this year's $4.2 million, but expected to leave the tax rate unchanged because of increased assessed valuation — was presented to the Petaluma City Council last night.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer recommended general fund expenditures be set at $2,544,536.

It includes $61,811 that can be applied to any salary increases for employees agreed on in negotiations still under way, he said.

Meyer also told the council it could consider using revenue sharing funds, a utility tax or water fund reserves if a larger budget is desired.

Meyer said the tax rate would remain at $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation as it has been since 1958. He said debt service would add another $.39 cents for a total tax rate of $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation as it was last year.

The preliminary budget, by department (with last year's expenditures in parenthesis) include:

City clerk, $26,013 ($19,542); finance department, $79,858 ($79,197); city attorney, $32,685 ($27,022); city manager, $49,712 ($40,479); planning department, $69,844 ($69,059); city council, $7,688 ($7,148); retirement and insurance, $368,560, ($357,357); police department, $556,882 ($532,435); fire department, $497,743 ($488,770); ambulance, $25,148 ($24,840); animal control, $25,696 ($25,874); building inspection, $53,607 ($47,002);

Engineering, $109,174 ($108,967); weed abatement, $5,710 ($5,335); street department, $232,894 ($226,455); building maintenance, $48,376 ($50,528); corporation shop, $16,579 ($20,275); recreation department, $41,194 ($43,927); library, $119,951 ($115,304); swimming pool maintenance, $29,356 ($31,709); recreational and instructional swim, $16,730 ($16,375); parks department, $100,127 ($91,673); building abatement, $10,000 ($10,000); general reserves, $20,000 ($41,090).

Allotments for other funds included: park development, $74,164 ($45,000); parking meter fund, $29,203 ($28,713); sewer maintenance and operation, $268,877 ($237,732); and water department, $637,143 ($626,838).

The Petaluma City Council Also:

WIDENING — Awarded contract for widening Washington Street from Keokuk to Kentucky Street to Ghilotti Brothers at the low bid of $107,492. City Engineer David A. Young said the original estimate was only $85,112, but that no purpose would be served by seeking new bids.

MOVIES — Received a petition signed by 800 persons objecting to pornographic movies being shown in downtown theaters and drive-in movies. Councilmen said state law permits X-rated films in theaters, but asked City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to research legislation to control outdoor films.

BUDGET — Received the preliminary 1973-74 budget and set the first study session on it for Monday. No time was set.

RETIREMENT — Accepted the resignation of City Clerk Lillian Nommsen, who will retire Aug. 1 after 20 years as a city employee.

OFFICE — Introduced an ordinance rezoning property at 210 Vallejo Street as requested by Newman Nelson for a future office building for his construction company.

MEETING — Adjourned until 5 p.m. today to hear a report on a computer program system for several city departments.

Fluoride Arguments Are Heard

The issue of whether the Marin Municipal Water District must prepare an environmental impact report before it begins adding fluorides to the district's water was argued yesterday before Jack L. Blaine, sitting as a judge pro tem in Marin Superior Court.

Blaine took the case under submission after nearly two hours of hearing, promising a decision soon after he receives briefs from both sides.

He gave the California Public Interest Law Center — which last month sued to block the fluoridation — until Monday to file its brief, and the water district attorneys until May 18 to file theirs.

Yesterday's hearing was the aftermath of a temporary injunction the law center obtained last month, ordering the district to prepare an environmental impact report or show why it shouldn't have to do so.

In March, water district directors decided no impact report was needed, but the California Board of Health temporarily blocked fluoridation for comment by Marin's medical and dental societies. The state board on April 24 voted 8-0 to approve the district fluoridation plan earlier approved by the district voters.

But attorney Marx Elmer, counsel for the Public Interest Law Center and Marin fluoridation opponents, raised the question yesterday of whether the water district, the state board or some other public agency is the "lead agency" responsible for making an impact report.

Water district attorneys Robert W. Elliott and Peter B. Brekhus argued that the Federal Environmental Agency had written on March 5 that the water district doesn't need an impact report.

Moratorium Variances Are Filed

Marin developers caught by the Marin Municipal Water District's ban on new water connections last Monday have wasted no time applying for variances from the moratorium.

Seven applications for exemptions from the ban will be considered by the water board meeting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district headquarters in Corte Madera.

Six of the variance requests are for small projects of one or two homes. The seventh is for a 78-unit condominium project to be located on Tamal Vista Boulevard in Corte Madera.

Before the board considers the requests, however, it is slated to review proposed guidelines under which variances may be granted.

The board, citing a threatened water shortage, April 30 adopted a temporary ordinance banning new water connections and promised to replace the measure within a month with a permanent ban.

In other business, related to the water shortage, directors will continue studying possible new sources of water. The conservationist majority on the board appears to favor a new reservoir at Walker Creek in Northwest Marin.

Home Owners Complain Of Sloppy Construction

Disgruntled East Petaluma residents fed up with poorly constructed homes appealed to the city council last night for assistance.

Residents of Foothill Manor and Casa Grande Manor subdivisions complained that developer Arthur Condiotti has not corrected problems in the construction of their homes after several years of badgering.

Lois D. Kana, president of the La Tercera Homeowners Association, showed the council a lengthy list of complaints by neighbors. She said minor repairs have been made by Condiotti, but that major work on foundations, plumbing and heating have not.

Mrs. Kana said she was scheduled to meet today with a representative of Condiotti and said if satisfaction is not received, she will return to the council for help.

Residents complained of leaking plumbing, unusable bathrooms, defective heating units and crumbling foundations.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said the city would not be liable since the builder need only meet minimum building codes. He said city building inspectors could not enforce the quality of construction.

Residents countered that the city has a moral obligation to help because city inspections were not adequate. "We are the victims of fast growth," Lynn Puller said. "The city was growing so fast you didn't have the manpower to inspect and now we're paying the price."

Divorcee, 26, Claims Attack

A 26-year-old divorcee told sheriff's deputies yesterday that she was raped in her Tamalpais Valley apartment late Sunday by a man she had met that evening in a Sausalito bar.

The woman said her attacker, a man in his 30s took her to dinner after they met casually in the Latitude 38 on Bridgeway, gave her what he said was his business card, then asked to come to her apartment to listen to records.

She said when she asked him to leave about midnight he attacked her and implied that he would harm her 8-year-old son if she resisted. He then took back his card and departed, she said.

San Anselman Facing Two Criminal Counts

A 23-year-old San Anselmo man faces two separate felony trials in Marin Superior Court after pleading innocent yesterday to one count of attempting to pass a forged check, and another count of burglary.

Judge David Menary Jr. ordered Flynn William Harris to stand trial the week of July 16 on the check case and the week of July 23 on the burglary.

San Rafael police accused Harris of trying to cash a $62 check belonging to Robert Finn of San Rafael on March 19. He was arrested again April 6 on a charge of trying to break into a building on Lincoln Avenue housing a glass company. He was held to answer after separate preliminary hearings in municipal court.

worked their magic and the result is the loveliest grounds we've seen in a long time. A huge Bay tree is centered in a soft brick terrace, up easy winding steps is a sun deck, azaleas and rhododendrons abound — and it's all sprinklered and flood lighted. The house is kinda special, too, with 5 bedrooms, new KitchenAid dishwasher, self-cleaning oven, wall-to-wall carpeting and a fire alarm system in every room. $59,950

WHY PAY EXTRA FOR A CAR WHEN YOU GET MORE FOR YOUR MONEY IN MARIN?

If you're tempted to buy a car in the City or East Bay, put on the brakes and consider: Marin dealers, with much lower overhead, pass you the saving. They're local, you're local. They want your business and will prove it to you both in price and service. Lower sales tax, too! More convenience, a better deal. Makes sense?

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)

Superior Court of California, County of Marin, Hall of Justice, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California

Petitioner: KATHLEEN STEWART and
Respondent: CHARLES LEE STEWART

To the Respondent: The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within 30 days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorney's fees, costs, and other such relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held in the Alameda Room, Hotel Claremont, Ashby and Domingo Avenue, Berkeley, California, at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 16, 1973 by the Agency Board of the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency to consider the budget estimate of the Agency for fiscal year 1973-74 in accordance with the provisions of Section 16800 et seq. of the California Water Code. Agencies, organizations or individuals having an interest or concern in the Agency's budget for fiscal year 1973-74 are invited to attend and present testimony. All persons are advised that, under the law, upon conclusion of the hearing and not later than June 10, 1973, the Agency Board must approve the budget estimate as submitted or as revised by the Board and thereupon the same shall constitute the final budget for the ensuing fiscal year.

Information copies of the proposed Agency budget are on file in the Agency Office at Hotel Claremont, Ashby Avenue and Domingo Avenue, Berkeley, California and in the Office of the County Clerk of each County within the Agency.

Hearing Slated For Airman On Pot Charge

Larry Oliver Hardgraves, 22, of Hamilton Air Force Base, will undergo preliminary hearing May 15 in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing marijuana for sale.

Hardgraves was arrested Wednesday when Novato police stopped the auto in which he was riding for a traffic violation and reportedly found six bags of marijuana, five marijuana cigarettes and a pipe.

Hardgraves pleaded innocent to the felony charge Friday.

Two companions arrested with Hardgraves and booked on misdemeanor charges of suspicion of having narcotics paraphernalia, Raymond Louis Lockhart and Thayon Fingers, both 22, and both of the base, are to appear in municipal court May 15 to enter pleas.

Talk Is Set On Reptiles

Robert C. Drewes, senior curatorial associate with the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, will talk on reptiles and amphibians of the Tiburon Peninsula at 8 p.m. Friday at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

His talk is the last in a series of illustrated lectures on the natural environment of Tiburon. It is sponsored by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

On Saturday, Drewes will lead a field trip. Details of the trip will be announced at the lecture, which is open to the public.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, May 8, the 128th day of 1973 with 237 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Harry Truman, 33rd president of the United States, was born May 8, 1884.

On this day in history:

In 1879, George Selden of Rochester, N.Y., filed for the first patent for an automobile. It was granted in 1895.

In 1945, President Truman officially declared V-E Day — the end of World War II in Europe.

In 1972, President Nixon ordered the mining of North Vietnam ports as part of an effort to force the Communists to agree to end the Vietnam War.

A thought for the day: Greek scholar Aristotle said, "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always remain unaltered."

Rohnert Park Council Tackles Growth Issue With No Success

The continuing question of how to ease overpopulation in the schools was left unanswered last night as a divided Rohnert Park City Council tackled a demand for action on controlled growth.

Faced with a petition signed by 521 Rohnert Park residents asking for a slowdown on construction of new homes, council members spent nearly two hours debating what should be done and who should be responsible, but defeated one proposal and postponed discussion on another.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith urged without success that all tentative maps be reviewed with the intent of rejecting any development showing signs of adverse effect on education.

Another proposal by Smith to define the city's growth policy was postponed for discussion at the next council meeting on May 21.

Mrs. Ohris Compton, who presented the petition to the council, accused the council and the school board of "buck-passing their problems."

Saying there was minimal opposition to the petition, Mrs. Compton said Rohnert Park residents are alarmed at the number of housing units planned in the city and said uncontrolled growth would have a detrimental effect on the schools.

Councilman Lou Beary, who said he has done an about-face on his views of a year ago, aruged that controlled growth "infringes upon the freedoms everyone of us in our lifetime is fighting to protect." It's damaging to restrict development, he said.

Beary also said that controlling growth raises prices for homes. The responsibility, he added, should be placed at the state level.

Smith countered that the state is being used as a scapegoat. Greeted with loud applause from the more than 100 spectators crowded in the small chambers, Smith also said it is unfortunate that the city is so unresponsive that residents have to come out and place pressure on the council.

By implementing double sessions, he added, the schools will alter the life style of the students and the harmony between students and parents. Both, he said, would have an adverse affect on education.

Mayor Armando Flores and Councilmen Arthur N. Roberts and Warren Hopkins said more discussion is needed before the council can act.

"This is the first year we've really gotten involved in education policy," Roberts said. "It's time to sit down and reach out to solve mutual problems."

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

DEVELOPERS — Heard a complaint by Mrs. Daniel Rishe of 8379 Laurelwood Drive that her year-old home in Country Manor has warped doors, cracked cement and needs waterproofing.

WASTE — Approved paying William Kortum and David Eck $1,500 to study the possible use of waste water for agricultural irrigation on an eight-acre plot by the sewer treatment plant.

MAP — Approved a tentative 290-lot map, 4-1 with Roberts opposed, to Quantas Development on 71 acres south of Southwest Boulevard for low density residential.

RETIREMENT — Defeated unanimously an amendment to permit participation of the city council members in the employees retirement system.

STADIUM — Approved installation of bleachers at Rancho Cotate High School at a cost of $25,000.

MEETING — Postponed the public hearing on the general plan to May 12.

Belvedere To Eliminate House Numbers On Curbs

House numbers which recently began to appear on Belvedere curbs have met with something less than enthusiasm from residents of the island town, and the city council last night ordered their removal. (Another Belvedere City Council story, page 1.)

The number-painting project was a money-making enterprise by a group of College of Marin students, the council learned, but the council was not sympathetic to their industry.

The students had left notices that numbers would be painted unless they were told not to, according to City Mgr. William L. Cavalli.

The council objected to this method of doing business, and the students are to be notified to remove numbers for residents who don't want them.

The Belvedere City Council also:

SURVEYS — Adopted a resolution requiring property surveys less than five years old in connection with applications for variances.

DENIAL — Turned down a request from Richard Smith for a variance to declare a vacant lot on Bella Vista Avenue a building site.

HELICOPTERS — Instructed Cavalli to look into SFO Helicopters' addition of flights, because Belvedere residents have complained of noise.

REPAIRS — Took no action on requests from residents of upper Acacia Avenue for street repairs, but asked further surveys.

EFFICIENCY — Set a meeting for May 22 to interview five applicants who want to make an efficiency study of the city offices.

BUSES — Learned that the Golden Gate Transit District is reducing service to Belvedere, with buses mainly slated to run during commute hours after June 4.

FEES — Decided not to charge filing fees for candidates for city offices.

SEWER — Accepted a low bid by Tam Sewers Inc. of $7,131 for a sewer force main on Lagoon Road.

DUPLICATOR — Authorized purchase of a new duplicator for the city office at a cost of $1,106.

Library Friends Slate Dinner

Friends of the Marin County Free Library will hold its annual dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, according to Jean Schils, dinner chairman.

Following the dinner, which will include a sherry tasting session, Richard Dillon of Mill Valley, a director of the California Historical Society, will discuss "The Lost California Indian War."

The dinner is open to the public, according to reservations chairman Alfred Leckie, 321 Palm Avenue in Kentfield.

Sports
Independent-Journal, 29
Tuesday, May 8, 1973

NEW YORK (UPI) — The gold medal still belongs to Russia, but a certain measure of pride has been restored to the United States.

"I wasn't playing for me, I was playing for my country," was the way Marvin Barnes, a 21-point scorer, described it after the American national basketball team clinched its cross-country series against the Russians with an 89-80 overtime victory Monday night.

"Our people were chanting for us and waving flags," added Barnes, who scored eight of his points in the final minutes of overtime. "We wanted to win it for them. I thought there'd by no place we could hide if we didn't."

The victory, also made possible by the flashy play and 25-point scoring of 6-foot guard Ernie DiGregorio, was the fourth in five games for the Yanks. With only Wednesday night's game in Baltimore remaining in the current series, the U.S. thus accomplished its goal of attaining some measure of revenge for the 51-50 to Russia in the Olympic final at Munich last year.

"The whole two weeks has been a very emotional experience for myself, my two assistants and, for a very obvious reason, to the kids too," said Bob Cousy, head coach of the U.S. team who accepted the non-paying job after first refusing it.

Ron Behagen, who contributed 10 points and seven rebounds, had a more personal reason for wanting to beat the Russians.

"We saw films of the last game (at Munich) and it was upsetting," he said. Then, referring to the disputed final play when the Russians were given three chances before making the winning basket, he added, "the U.S. won that game. You can't start it over three times. I've never seen anything like it. But what hurt me too is what they did to Brewer (Jim Brewer, his University of Minnesota teammate). They just knocked him out. I wanted to do something for Brewer."

Despite the desires, the series clincher in Madison Square Garden didn't come easy. Just as they did in the previous four matches, the Russians played a very physical game and a total of 75 personal fouls were called —38 on the U.S. Five Russian players and three Americans fouled out of the game.

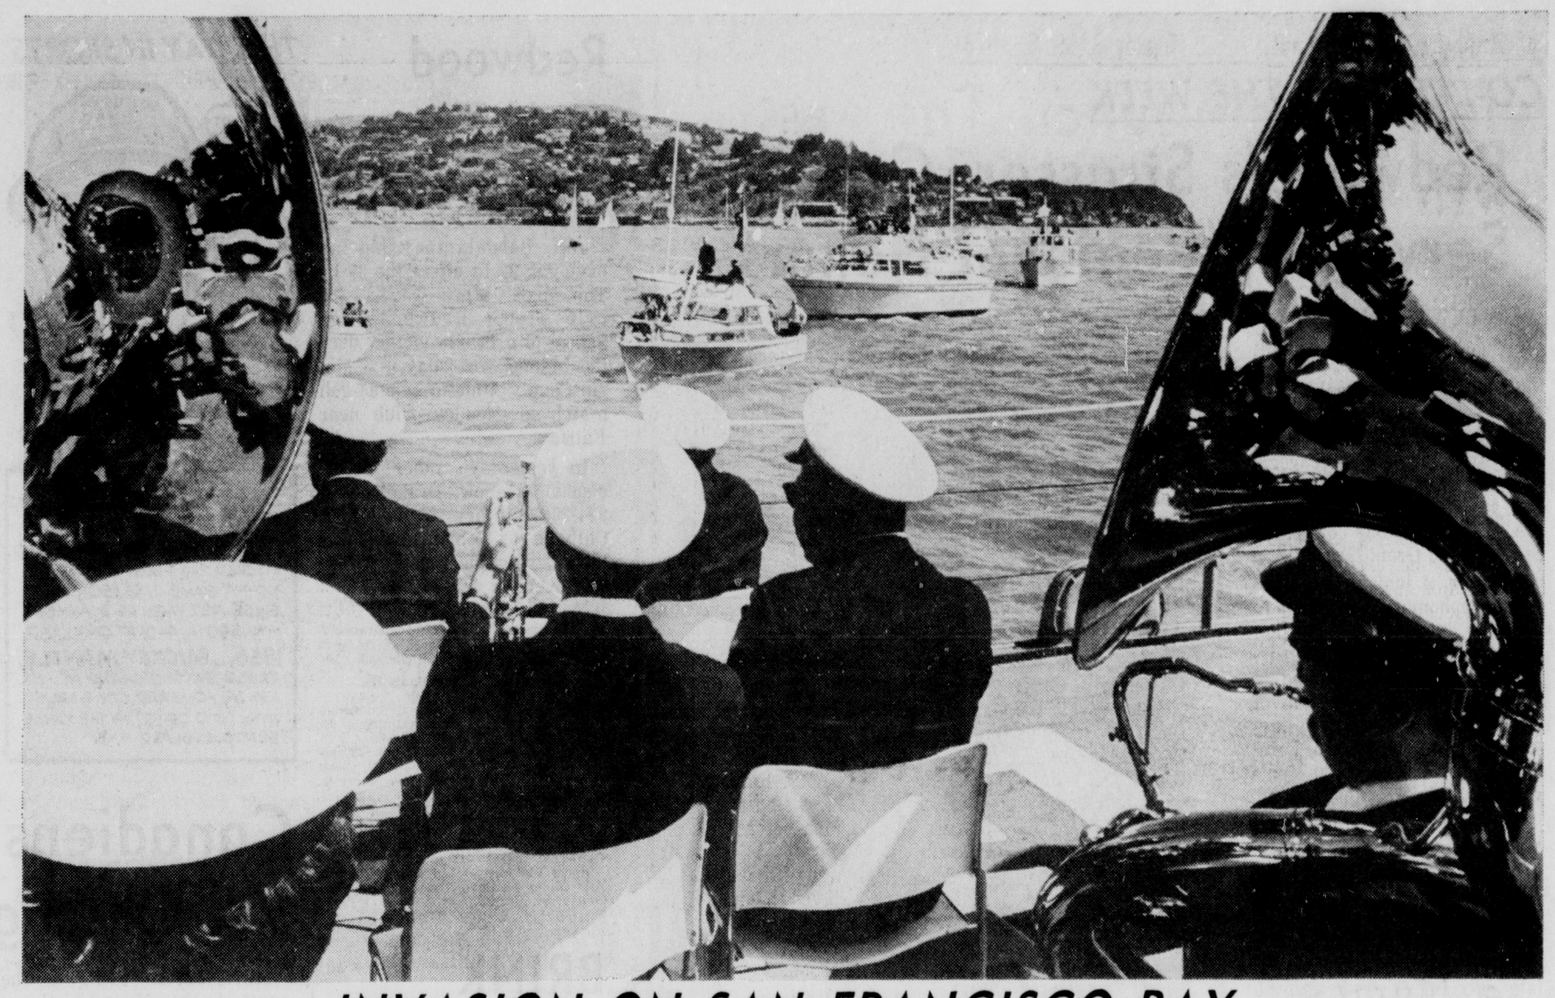
"When these guys go into the NBA," Cousy quipped, "they'll think they're going to the junior prom after this."

The game started out as if it would be a rout with DiGregorio scoring eight points and Tom Henderson seven as the U.S. mounted a 24-15 lead. With just 3:27 left to go in the first half, the Americans still led 35-27 following a basket by DiGregorio and two free throws by Behagen.

But the Russians ran off seven straight points and trailed only 36-35 at intermission.

Once again in the second half it was the U.S. setting the pace, opening a 55-48 advantage at one point. But although the Russians lost four of their players in the second half to fouls, including team star and high-scorer Aleksandr Belov (13 points), they not only fought back but commanded a 73-69 lead with 50 seconds to go.

But DiGregorio fired in two baskets in the space of 14 seconds to force the overtime, and he scored the first two U.S. goals of the extra session. George Karl then followed with his only basket of the game to put the U.S. in front for good, 79-77.



INVASION ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY

An armada of sail and power boats paraded on San Francisco Bay Sunday in celebration of the start of yachting season for 1973. This is a view from behind the Navy band aboard the U.S.S. Carpenter, a destroyer anchored in Raccoon Strait between the Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon and Angel Island. From the deck of the Carpenter, religious leaders blessed the fleet as it passed, an event sponsored by the Corinthian Yacht Club. According to Capt. Elmer J. Towle of Belvedere, originator of the ceremonies, "The blessing, in essence, wishes good will and safety on the waters for both the boats and the captains."

Lee Gets Wish; Boc Is Socking

Bill Lee, Boston Red Sox southpaw who learned his baseball on the sandlots of Terra Linda, has finally gotten his wish and has been put in the starting rotation, at least temporarily, by the Bosox.

In his first start the other day he didn't last too long, but came out with no decision. Then last Saturday he pitched 7⅔ innings against the Minnesota Twins before getting some relief help from Bob Veale, and Boston won, 5-1. Lee, in picking up his second win without a loss, gave up nine hits, one earned run, walked four and struck out six. It was Lee's 11th start in his five years with the Red Sox.

John Boccabella of Terra Linda, who played at Marin Catholic High and University of Santa Clara before embarking on his major league career, seems to have found his batting eye with Montreal. Although the Expos' catcher hasn't been hitting with his accustomed power, he was batting .283 the last report I saw. He has eight runs batted in but is still looking for his first home run of the year. It will come, I guarantee.

Moving to golf, former Marinite Ron Cerrudo picked up $1,486 for his 290 finish in the Houston Open Sunday, bringing his total to slightly under $12,000 so far on the '73 tour. I know it's not like Bruce Crampton and his $152,886, but it's a start.

IF YOU HAPPENED to turn on your television set last Saturday at 2 p.m. for the Kentucky Derby and got the wrong channel, you might have seen a young man from San Rafael displaying his talents of fly tieing. Twelve-year-old Doug Canfield had an eight-minute spot on Channel 4's Git Box Tickle show, the same time that Channel 5 was showing the Kentucky Derby. Anyway, I was able to see Doug tie a fly on a hook and then flip channels in time to see the Derby. I have some of Doug's originals and am anxious to try them on some Northern California stream. Watch out, you trout.

THE OLD JOCKS of College of Marin fame are getting ready for their big bash Friday night at Nave Lanes in Ignacio. The party is for the football, basketball, track, baseball, Ping Pong and poker players of 1946-48 vintage. A main celebration will be the silver anniversary for College of Marin's national champion basketball team of 1948.

Among the team names to be heard that night are the (Irwin "Red") Diamond's Dandies, (Arleigh) Williams' Warriors and (Harry) Pieper's Pirates, the names of course coming from Marin coaches of that period.

A strictly stag affair, I understand the cocktail "hour" is scheduled from 6:30 to 9 p.m. I hope all those guys have time for dinner.

ANDY MOFFAT of Mill Valley, a young man who won numerous titles as he was going through the age group tennis scene in Marin County, is still winning on the collegiate scene. He won his singles match for his San Jose State team Saturday in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championships in San Jose. He defeated Long Beach State's Neal Bessent, 6-0, 6-3.

Marichal Vs. Gibson Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Juan Marichal and Bob Gibson, the two winningest active pitchers in the majors, will oppose each other tonight when the San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals open a three-game series.

Marichal, 4-2 this season, has 231 career victories while Gibson, 1-3 for the year, has 226 lifetime triumphs.

The Giants, heading the National League West Division, hope to extend their 1½ game lead over Houston. The Astros play at Montreal.

Monday, the Giants played their annual game at Santa Clara and drew more than 6,000 fans as San Francisco rolled 13-4 over the Broncs.

The Giants are now 9-2 in the 11-year exhibition series, proceeds of which go to the Santa Clara baseball program.

Chris Arnold, Dave Rader, Dave Kingman and Jim Howarth belted giant homers while Jim Wilhelm hit a bronco circuit clout.

Meanwhile, there was still no word on the fate of the Chicago Cubs protest during the first game of Sunday's wild twin bill with Chicago.

Dave Rader roared around the bases and scored after a beanball war erupted into a fight between both squads. Chicago manager Whitey Lockman claimed that "the field was unplayable" while rader scored.

Giant manager Charlie Fox contended his players weren't on the diamond itself, only on the fringes. Dave Rader reached the plate crawling after being tripped by an unidentified cub.

Since the Giants went on to win the contest 11-0 in 12 innings, the incident was a key one.

BOWLING GOLD TO NOVATAN

SAN JOSE — Sixty-six-year-old Josephine Hendricks of Novato, a paraplegic won a gold medal for bowling at the California Wheel Chair Games Association's meet Saturday here.

Mrs. Hendricks, district president of the Indoor Sports Club in San Rafael for the physically handicapped, said winners qualified for the "Parapolympics," but she didn't expect to continue in competition.

She declined to give her winning score, but said "My average is 108." She lives at 55 Sierra Vista.

BRINK'S STROKE OF GENIUS

Switch From Football To Crew

I-J Special Report

HANOVER, N.H. — It was the first week of pre-season football practice at Dartmouth College early last September but for Jan Brink of Mill Valley it seemed like the end of the world.

A sophomore who showed promise of breaking into Dartmouth's starting lineup at defensive end, Brink's athletic career appeared to be ended before it had really begun. He lay in a hospital bed with a leg encased in a cast that protected the repair work to badly torn ligaments in his knee.

Athletically, the 6-foot-4, 210-pound Brink appeared to be up a creek without a paddle. That is, until he picked up an oar and made the comeback that finds him rowing with Dartmouth's heavyweight crew this spring.

"Jan has really made phenomenal progress," said Peter Gardner, Dartmouth's crew coach. "He trained through the winter, started rowing in March and was in the varsity boat within a month. It's almost unbelievable."

Gardner, dean of the nation's collegiate rowing coaches, points to Brink's natural athletic ability as the key to his rapid development.

"He's a tremendously fast learner and seems to be a natural oarsman," said Gardner.

"Crew is one of the predominantly Eastern sports, like squash and lacrosse, that you hear about but never picture yourself doing," said Brink. "I was sitting around after the football injury and was itching for some strenuous physical activity."

JAN BRINK
Crew star

He considered tennis — "You feel more secure trying a sport you've at least seen before" — but began thinking seriously about rowing after a conversation with Charlie Arnold, Dartmouth's heavyweight crew captain this spring.

"We discussed rowing for awhile but I still didn't really know what I wanted to do," said Brink. "I stood between the doors of the tennis and crew offices (they're about 30 feet apart inside Dartmouth's Alumni Gymnasium) for a long time but didn't know which one to enter.

"Some friends counseled me and suggested the tennis route," he said. "They felt crew was too strenuous. But the challenge sort of called to me," and he turned toward Gardner's office.

"Charlie (Arnold) had told me about a football player who had been injured and was thinking about rowing," said Gardner. "I said, 'Great,' because some of our best oarsmen have been football players.

Brink has no complaints, either. Calling crew "totally different from football," the blond English major pointed out, "You've got to coordinate your performance with seven other men. It's the ultimate team sport but it's also something you must perfect on your own, too."

Knicks In Rush To NBA Crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks rediscovered gold in their ranks and the rush is on for a second National Basketball Association championship in four years.

Willis Reed and Earl Monroe were not standouts in the first two games of the title series with the Lakers as the teams split a pair in Los Angeles.

There was a complete reversal in form on Sunday, however, as the two Knicks turned resourceful and helped beat Los Angeles 87-83. Reed scored his 1973 playoff high of 22 points and held Wilt Chamberlain on almost equal terms under the boards.

Monroe tallied 21 points and jammed Gail Goodrich's scoring radar with a brilliant second half defensive job that held the Lakers guard to two points after intermission. Goodrich netted 12 in the first half.

"Earl hurt us," admitted an injured Jerry West, who may see only limited action in tonight's fourth game because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg. "Monroe is a different player now. He's quicker and we've got to do a job on him."

Monroe scored from all angles, hitting from outside, going around Chamberlain for reverse layups and contributing a game-high six assists.

Reed collected 10 rebounds to 13 for Chamberlain, but his main asset was in making Wilt leave his post to stop the Knick captain's outside shooting. This left the lane open for Monroe's drives.

The player who appeared most apprehensive of Chamberlain was Walt Frazier, usually the Knicks' strongest offensive weapon. Frazier does very little driving against big Wilt, contenting himself with trying for high arching shots that Chamberlain can't block for fear of a goaltending call.

Los Angeles, seeking to reverse the losing trend, must depend on the presence of West to engineer ehtusiasm, just as Boston did with injured John Havlicek. The Celtics forced the Knicks into seven games before bowing to New York.

"I've never missed a playoff game," said West, who pulled a hamstring in his left leg during the second game of the current series. "There's pain in both legs now, but I can't let it stop me."

West has scored 72 points in the three games against New York. He was en route to another fine scoring effort when he was hurt in the third quarter Sunday. "Mr. Clutch" scored 16 points in the first half, but only one point after intermission as he sat out most of the second half because coach Bill Sharman refused to risk further injury for the veteran guard.

A Knicks victory in tonight's nationally-televised game (ABC, 8:30 PM EST, on channel 7 in the Bay Area) could leave the Lakers with a "must win" situation in Los Angeles Thursday night. If additional games are necessary, they will be played here Sunday afternoon and on the West Coast next Tuesday night.

A Hollow Golf Win For Marin

SONOMA — College of Marin yesterday won the Camino Norte Conference golf tournament, but the honor turned out to be a hollow one, except for Jim Brown and Jim Fitzpatrick.

The Tars shot a six-man, 36-hole score of 978, 12 strokes ahead of Solano College of Suisun City in the nine-team field over the par-72 layout at Sonoma National Golf Course.

Ordinarily, the tournament winner and the regular-season champion advance to the Northern California qualifying for the state tournament, but this year Santa Rosa Junior College and West Valley College of Campbell tied for the regular-season title and won the nod to advance, Tar coach Ed Grimm said.

The irony was more bitter because the tie resulted from the Tars' upset victory over Santa Rosa last week.

The low four individuals also qualify for the Nor Cal tournament, and Brown finished second in the field with 77-76—163 and Fitzpatrick third at 77-79—156, so they will play at Rancho Canada Golf Club in Carmel Valley Monday.

Team Totals — Marin 978, Solano 990, De Anza 992, West Valley 996, Skyline 1,004, Santa Rosa 1,017, Alameda 1,042, Canada 1,096, Contra Costa disqualified (only five players).

Meeting Wednesday For Soccer League

A formation meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for parents of boys, 6-18 years old, interesting in forming a Rohnert Park soccer league.

At this meeting in the Rohnert Park Community Center club room, a board of directors will be elected. The prospective league has teams but needs more coaches and officials, according to Richard Markovich of Rohnert Park, coach of the under 14 Raiders team.

CO-PREPS OF THE WEEK

Redwood's Strasser, Grinnell Served Up Regional Honors

By LEW CODDINGTON

The tennis program at Redwood High School has reached the point where the local honors are taken almost for granted, and the regional honors are the ones that are most eagerly sought. Considerable satisfaction can be derived, then, from the recent exploits of Mark Strasser and Grant Grinnell.

Strasser, a junior, and Grinnell, a sophomore, teamed up to win the North Coast Section doubles championship Saturday, knocking off the defending champion, top-seeded team of Brad Riezer and John Bussington of Miramonte High of Orinda, 6-1, 6-3, in matches at Montgomery High in Santa Rosa.

Their victory is the first by a Marin doubles team representing either the Marin County Athletic League or the old North Bay League in at least two decades, and perhaps the first ever, and has earned the tall, outgoing Strasser and the smaller, quiet Grinnell recognition as Independent-Journal co-Preps of the Week.

Both live in Tiburon, which produces tennis stars with the same regularity (and greater civic pride) than Los Angeles produces smog. Both have been playing for three years, and drifted into tennis at the nearby Tiburon Peninsula Club.

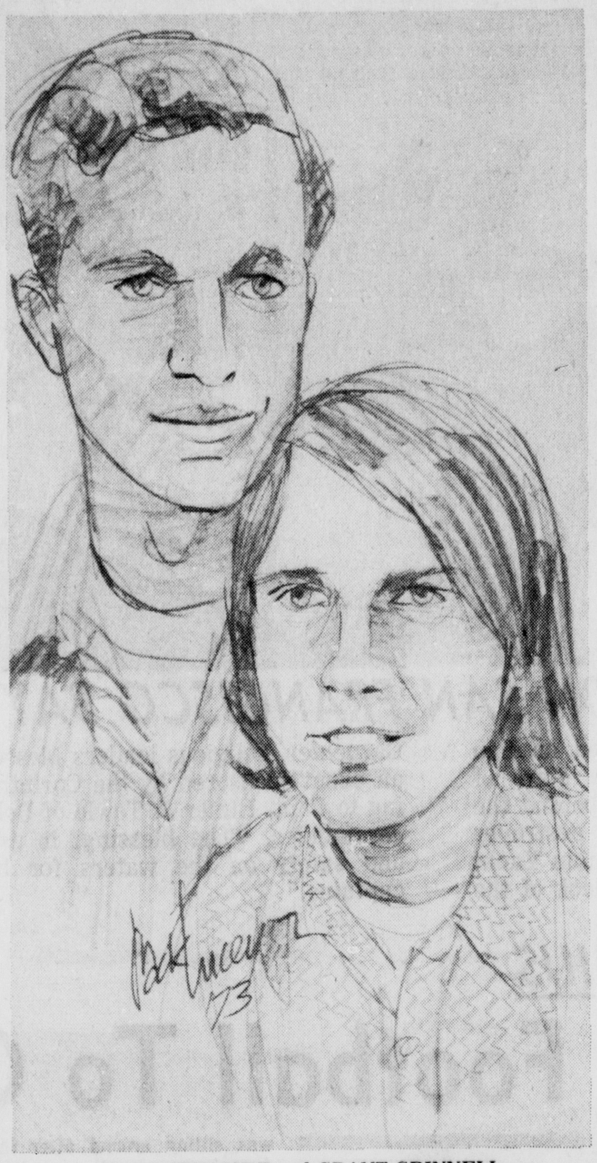
"My mom was taking lessons, and I was picking the balls up," says Mark, "so I just started playing."

"My family moved, and I was about 10 feet from the courts," says Grant.

Three years later, Mark was ranked 29th in boys 16 singles in Northern California and Grant 24th in the 16s and ninth with Brandon Persinger of Tiburon in boys 18 doubles.

They do not play doubles together on the circuit, but "we play together a lot at the club," Mark says, so they were well suited to the league and NCS competition, where most of the other top teams also had experience playing together.

The two spend a great deal of their spare time at the club, and both have part-time jobs hitting balls to students under the supervision of professionals.



MARK STRASSER and GRANT GRINNELL

"Tennis is going to be with me for the rest of my life," says Strasser, half of the North Coast's best doubles team.
(Independent-Journal sketch by Jack Lucey)

Both intend to continue playing the game competitively in college, but beyond that, plans are uncertain.

"It's possible I may stay in tennis full time for a living, teaching or something, but even if I don't, it's going to be with me for the rest of my life," Mark says.

Strasser is hoping to go "to the Naval Academy or a UC campus somewhere," with an eye toward pre-med or pre-law. Grinnell, a sophomore, is undecided.

Strasser's attraction for the sea is shown in other ways, as well. He is a certified scuba diver, and "I go diving all the time. I've been to French Polynesia, Yucatan and Honduras with my dad."

He's also been to Santa Rosa with Grant Grinnell, which may not seem quite as exotic, but which matters quite a bit in prep tennis circles.

Redwood Golf Team Defeats Tam

Jeff Bordalampe shot an even-par 35 to offset the 35 by Tamalpais' Steve Gaddis and help propel Redwood High School to a 194-218 victory over the Indians yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League golf match at Meadow Club near Fairfax.

In yesterday's other match, also at Meadow, Drake took a 224-236 victory over Marin Catholic as Mark Lavin was medalist for the Pirates with a four-over-par 40.

cision of football with the pace and movement in rowing, Brink said, "It's such a precise sport. Just turning a wrist at the wrong instant can lose a race. If you stumble in football, you can get up and try again."

"But crew is like football in that momentum is so important. The secret in a crew race is to find the swing, the perfect coordination of all eight, and once you find it you've got to push it to the utmost."

Trying to the utmost is a tradition in Jan Brink's family. His older brother, Barry, was an All-East and All-Ivy defensive tackle on Dartmouth's undefeated football team in 1970 and now is a member of the Columbia football coaching staff.

His father, Larry Brink, played defensive end for the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Rams, and his younger brother, Kevin, is a pitcher who will enter Walt Whitman College next fall.

For Jan Brink, football is history. His knee is solid and he's pulling the number seven oar for Dartmouth's heavies. He's hardly up a creek without a paddle.

Canadiens Seek Cup Vs. Chicago Tonight

MONTREAL (UPI) — The swift-skating Montreal Canadiens are looking for their 16th Stanley Cup tonight when they host the Chicago Black Hawks for the fifth game of their best-of-seven series. The game will be televised on Channel 4 at 5 p.m. (PDT).

Montreal blanked the Hawks 4-0 in Chicago Sunday to take a 3-1 lead in games. A win tonight would give Montreal their 16th trophy and mark the fifth time Montreal has defeated Chicago in the finals.

The Habs are heavily-favored to take the Cup on home ice tonight, but the ever-cautious Montreal coach Scotty Bowman has swept aside the odds and statistics of past meetings with Chicago and warned his players the Hawks are down but far from out.

Veteran Chicago coach Bill Reay also feels Chicago is still very much in contention, despite the one-sided affair Sunday. "I think my team can play better than that...I know we can," he said.

Bowman said also that while he would like to win his first Stanley cup as a coach, he would like to see one of the Canadiens pick up the Conn Smythe Trophy as the best performer in the playoffs.

"You've got to consider our defenseman, Guy Lapointe, and forward Yvon Cournoyer," Bowman said.

"Lapointe has done everything for us. He scored six important goals and has set up other important ones for us. He's been tremendous on the power play and in killing penalties. He gave our team a real lift when we were having problems in the quarterfinals."

Bowman said Cournoyer is another likely candidate for the trophy, noting he needs only one more goal to tie Frank Mahovlich's record of 14 goals in one playoff season.

If Chicago should win tonight in Montreal, where they have not won a play-off contest in 11 years covering 13 games, a sixth game will be played in the windy city Thursday night.

Stanford To Play

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Stanford will join Ohio State, Dartmouth and defending champion and host Kentucky at the University of Kentucky invitational basketball championship next Dec. 21-22.

Astros See 'Real' Roberts

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Acting manager Preston Gomez thinks the Houston Astros may be seeing the real Dave Roberts for the first time.

"Remember I had him with me at San Diego," said Gomez after Roberts shut out the Montreal Expos, 6-0, Monday night for the Astros' ninth straight victory. "I know how good a pitcher he is."

The Astros expected the 28-year old lefthander to be one of the league's top stars when they acquired him following the 1971 season during which he had a 2.10 earned run average and a 14-17 record for San Diego. He proved to be something of a disappointment in 1972, however, when he had a 12-7 record but an undistinguished 4.50 ERA.

Roberts walked seven batters but allowed only six hits and had an easy time Monday night as the Astros staked him to a 3-0 lead in the second inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, the Padres defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-1, the New York Mets topped the Atlanta Braves, 7-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in other NL games. San Francisco and St. Louis were not scheduled.

Boston defeated Chicago, 4-1, and Baltimore downed Oakland, 8-2, in the only American League games.

Cesar Cedeno hit his fifth homer of the season, Jim Wynn had a run-scoring triple and Bob Watson and Tommy Helms had two hits each to lead the Astros' 10-hit attack.

Solo homers by Willie Stargell, Dave Cash, Rich Hebner, Manny Sanguillen and Al Oliver led the Pirates to their victory at Los Angeles.

Bill Greif, who leads the majors with an 0.97 earned run average, pitched a two-hitter and Fred Kendall and Dave Campbell drove in two runs each for the Padres.

The Mets scored six runs in the eighth inning to snap a five-game losing streak at the expense of the Braves and give Tom Seaver his third win and first since April 12.

Mr Don Knotts

Get a health checkup.
Find out the lump in your throat is only emotion.

It's generally agreed that one of the best things you can do to keep yourself in good health is to have a regular health checkup.

The reason's simple. Cancer—if detected early enough—can often be cured. So even if your regular checkup does reveal a problem, in a way it's a good thing. You've probably caught it early enough to do something about it.

But the fact is, your checkup probably won't reveal anything serious. Most people who have regular checkups discover they're in pretty good health.

So have a checkup. Now. And regularly. Find out you're in better shape than you think you are.

It's a nice feeling.

American Cancer Society
We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

April 27th through Monday the 30th, Marin County Volunteers will be calling on you to ask for your contribution to the American Cancer Society. Give generously because it will be the only time you'll be asked to help. If you are not at home when they call put your contribution in the mail to: American Cancer Society, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael, Ca. 94901

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

A Slow Start In Fish Derby

I called Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle and he wouldn't talk fishing with me! He asked about my wife's health, and mentioned everything under the sun except his striped bass derby. Finally, I got the word from him. None of the 43 entrants who had signed up for the bass derby had caught a fish!

Then Keith, being the world's best promoter, saw an angle. He said, "Isn't that great; now everyone will be out with this lack of competition going on!" You can't beat that Keith.

BILL YEAGER TOOK Dick Kennedy out, hoping to get that first firsh for the derby. After some fishing, Kennedy started yelling, "I've got a big one on, everyone reel in your lines!" Naturally everyone complied and Kennedy played on with his monster. Finally, to the side of the boat appeared a big flounder snagged amidship which, of course, made it feel big.

Three people brought in bass — nothing over 10 pounds — but they weren't registered, so no dice.

Most of the wardens, including yours truly, worked the abalone beds over the weekend. Most people checked had limits. We checked about 150 people at Pierce Point over the two days.

THREE DIVERS and two other pickers took 40 — an over-limit of 15 for the five participants. They were in a boat at Bird Rock and I saw all with binoculars. One diver dropped off the four others on the beach, telling them to hike over the ridge. He planned to pick them up on the bayside. He took the abalones with him. I hiked over the top of the ridge, along with the four pickers, planning to intercept the skipper with the 40 abalone at the planned meeting place. We hiked to the area, but no boat showed. After two hours of waiting, I figured something had happened. The sea was really rough, and he was in a 12-foot skiff. It wasn't long before the Dillon's Beach rescue boat was seen going out through the breaking bar. In about a half hour, they returned, towing the skiff. The diver's boat had turned over outside the bar, losing abalones, gear and all. They did save the man and the boat; he was in a skin diving suit. (It could be that some troller will hook into three sacks of 40 abalones, but I suppose with the windy weather and rough seas, that would be a miracle.) Of course for me it was no evidence, no case. I couldn't really swear he had the 40, though the participants admitted as much. What a workout! Thank goodness he didn't drown.

Some other cases were made on other divers who took over-limits for distribution to friends on the beach. This is illegal. One diver taking 10 limits for nine other people just isn't kosher.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled for this week at Rodeo Lagoon, Stafford, Bon Tempe, Phoenix and Lagunitas reservoirs.

The San Francisco Tyee Club is proceeding with plans for the preparation of the rearing ponds at the Evergreen Trout Farm near Point Reyes Station to receive 5,000 juvenile silver salmon from the Mad River Hatchery for future planting.

TROPHY TOMS were taken in open areas throughout the state during the opening weekend of that third spring turkey hunting season, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Hunting was fair to good in the 15 counties included in the hunt that got under way April 21, said Department of Fish and Game upland game coordinator Harold Harper, and there were more hunters in the field after the increasingly wily toms.

"The interest in the spring hunt is rising every year," Harper said, "but the big thing is the quality of the hunt we can offer."

According to Harper, more and more spring turkey season hunters are using calls effectively, and a call is considered necessary to bag a tom.

Gail Roper Stars In Meet

Petaluma's Gail Roper set three national records in the Masters Swim Meet at the Petaluma Swim Center Saturday and Sunday, while three Marin Aquatic Club members took two events each.

Competing in the 40-44 age bracket, Mrs. Roper smashed marks in the 200 freestyle with a 2:29.6 clocking; 100 fly, 1:17.7; and 200 individual medley, 2:48.7.

Two-time MAC winners were: Dore Schwab (50-55) 100 free, 1:01.8, and 100 I.M., 1:16.1; Nancy Ridout (30-34) 100 free, 1:03 and 100 fly, 1:19.1; and Denis Rice (40-44) 500 free, 6:14, and 100 free, 59.5.

Assembly Honors UCLA's Wooden

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — UCLA basketball coach John Wooden, whose teams have won seven consecutive national chahmpionships, was honored Monday by the California state Assembly.

The legislators gave the coach a standing ovation while Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, read a resolution commending him for "all his years of service."

Hunter Vs. Orioles In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Oakland A's could use one more starter, but Rollie Fingers doesn't seem to be the man for the job.

The star reliever of 1972 was bombed in the second inning Tuesday night as the Baltimore Orioles pounded Oakland, 8-2.

The Orioles scored six times in the first three stanzas although a muffed play by Fingers on a potential double play ball in the second was what opened the floodgates.

Paul Lindblad, who has an 18.57 earned run average, took over for Fingers and yielded a two-run single to .193 hitting Boog Powell as the O's went up 4-0 in the second. Linblad gave up two more in the third and Horacio Pina finished up.

Pop Warner Grid Signups

Signups begin Saturday, 10 a.m. to noon, for the two Pop Warner football teams covering the north San Rafael, Terra Linda and Marinwood area. Boys 10 to 14 years old weighing 70 to 125 pounds in grades five to eight can sign up for the Junior Trojans (varsity) or the Trobabes (junior varsity) in the Terra Linda High School gymnasium.

Signups conclude June 16 for joining either the Junior Trojans coached by Jim Finnegan or the Trobabes coached by Bob Loberg.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Finnegan at 201 Oleander Drive, San Rafael, or Loberg at 5 Coast Oak Way, San Rafael.

Softball Results

George Hermina pitched Thirty-Nine Main to a 7-1 victory over Jolly Roger and Rich Thompson hurled Red Hill Shell to a 12-1 triumph over Independent Electric last night in San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league games at Albert Field.

Colts Sign First Choice; Two Trades Made In NFL

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Colts are hopeful today that they have solved their quarterback problems.

Bert Jones, the first quarterback selected by the Colts in the opening round of the draft since George Shaw in 1955, has signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League club.

More Football

NEW YORK — Offensive tackle Vernon Emerson, a three-year veteran with the St. Louis Cardinals who sat out last season, has been obtained by the New York Jets of the National Football League in a trade for guard Roger Finnie.

HOUSTON — The Houston Oilers need all the help they can get, so yesterday, they dealt away some future for some present. Giving away a high draft pick to the Buffalo Bills, the Oilers aquired defensive end Al Cowlings, a starter the last three years for the Bills. The 6-5, 258-pounder from USC was the Bills top draft choice in 1970.

TRENTON, N.J. — The New York football Giants, soon to be vagabonds during the renovation of Yankee Stadium, heard some good news from here today. The State Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the Hackensack Meadowlands Regional Development Act. The court dismissed allegations by several communities that the Meadowland Sport Complex, which will include the Giants new stadium, deprived the communities of tax powers rightfully theirs.

Basketball

BEAVER, Pa. — Norm Van Lier, a guard with the Chicago Bulls, went on trial yesterday with three of his brothers and four other men on charges resulting from a disturbance last July at the police station in his nearby hometown of Midland.

Van Lier is accused of beating a police officer, who supposedly accused him of dealing in drugs, with resisting arrest, obstructing an officer and riot. Van Lier and the other defendants all pleaded innocent.

Hockey

CINCINNATI — Gary Davidson, president of the World Hockey Association, has announced the awarding of a league franchise to the Cincinnati Hockey Club Corp. for the 1974-75 season.

Davidson said the new club, not immediatey named, will participate in the WHA professional and amateur draft later this year, and also will be able to take up to 20 players from current league teams in a special expansion draft in June 1974.

ST. LOUIS — Chuck Catto, assistant manager of the Cleveland Crusaders, has been named general manager of the St. Louis Blues.

Catto replaces Sid Abel, who resigned last month to accept the position as general manager of the new Kansas City team in the National Hockey League.

Golf

NEW YORK — Bruce Crampton's $41,000 paycheck for winning the Houston Open lifted the Australian-born golfer to the top of the Professional Golfers Association money standings on earnings of $152,866 in 1973.

Jack Nicklaus, absent from the Houston Tournament, lost the money lead he had held since the Masters as he dropped to second place with $146,064. Lee Trevino is third with $125,881, Lanny Wadkins fourth at $90,333 and Juan Rodriguez fifth at $72,024.

ATLANTA — Kathy Whitworth, the only double winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit this year, continues to lead the women golfers in 1973 earnings with a total of $40,489 following her third place tie in the Raleigh Classic.

Mickey Wright is second with $35,509 while Judy Rankin, who won the $4,500 top money at Raleigh Sunday, climbed from 15th place to eighth with $16,336.

Take Advantage Of Offer To Trade Mutual Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1969 I invested in Comstock Mutual Fund and it has gone down in price ever since. What would you advise? — B.R.

A. Since you have owned this fund its performance has failed to measure up to that of an average of all funds. For this reason I would take advantage of the privilege offered by Shareholders Management Group to exchange Comstock at net asset value (plus $5) for another of its funds. Growth-oriented Pace Fund would be my choice. Performance was excellent in 1971 and has been above average since. A second more conservative selection, Legal List Investments has also done well.

Q. I have 24 shares of Clevepak (OTC) purchased at $30. I am only interested in getting back my initial investment. Should I hold for recovery? — L.S.

A. For Clevepak the probability of recovery is good. Shares, which reacted sharply downward when the merger with Norton Co. aborted in January, have moved sideways since. However, as continued earnings progress is reported market response should be favorable. For the first quarter of 1973, net rose 20 per cent on a 13 per cent gain in sales, an improvement on the 1972 operating pace. The establishment of a dividend in February, at 60 cents annually, underscores the favorable outlook for this paper-based products manufacturer.

Q. There has been a drop in the price of Clorox Co. (NYSE) recently. Should I continue to hold 200 shares costing $10? — G.L.

A. The 30-month, 400 per cent rise in share price pushed this stock's price-earnings ratio to high and vulnerable ground not fully justified on the basis of projected earnings growth. The recent backoff prices the shares at a more realistic 29 times estimated 1973 earnings. The phenomenal performance reflects the company's aggressive acquisition program which has expanded and diversified its product line. Kingsford Co., acquired in March, derives about two-thirds of sales from charcoal products and 30 per cent from operation of 10 nursing homes. While slower progress is likely from here on, shares may be held for long term.

Stocks Stage Late Rally To End Slightly Higher

Winners outnumbered losers about a 7-to-5 margin among the more 1,736 issues crossing the tape.

In economic news, Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, said he didn't foresee any sweeping changes in the current Phase III system of economic controls. He said corporate profits remain high, with no sign of a prolonged letup in the economy.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly lower in slow trading.

Group Of Arts, Antique Shops Aim For Opening About June 1

A group of arts and antique shops will open at 1701 Fourth Street in the West End area of San Rafael where Charlie's Market was located until last year.

The new store, called San Rafael Antique and Art Faire, will be operated by Mrs. Joan Coughlin of Peacock Gap, a long-time antique collector who worked at The Collective in San Anselmo for about three months last year. Her husband, James Coughlin, is employed by National Cash Register.

In addition to space formerly occupied by Charlie's Market, Mrs. Coughlin has added a mezzanine floor to bring total space to about 4,000 square feet. "I'm leasing space to other dealers in arts and antiques," said Mrs. Coughlin. "We hope to have about 20 different displays." A display area in the back will be set aside for sale of greenery-plants and shrubs.

Target date for opening is June 1.

Mrs. Coughlin has been collecting antiques for about 20 years. Originally from Buffalo, N.Y., the Coughlins came to San Francisco nine years ago via Ohio and Texas.

REZAIAN PERSIAN Rug Co. at Tamalpais Junction in Mill Valley (256) Shoreline Highway) will almost quadruple in size this summer and become what the owner describes as "the largest Persian rug dealer in Northern California and probably in California."

Taghi Rezaian announced plans for a big expansion of his rug company, along with a reshuffle and remodeling of the entire Tamalpais Junction where he also owns the Ali Baba Cafe, the Resh House and a small pizza place.

Here are the improvements planned by Rezaian:

Ali Baba Cafe will move across the street to 267 Shoreline Highway, replacing Resh House and the pizza place. After extensive remodeling, the Ali Baba will reopen in June.

Rezaian Persian Rug will take over the present Ali Baba building, expanding the rug display area to 7,000 square feet.

"I plan to put in new Oriental fronts and use redwood on the sides to improve the appearance," said Rezaian. He hopes to complete the entire remodeling and expansion in July. "I have 2,500 Persian rugs now and will have more after the expansion." Rezaian makes about three trips a year to Iran, where his parents help him locate and purchase a wide selection of rugs.

JILL ANGEL of Fremont is the new personnel manager at Northgate Sears in Terra Linda. She took over last week as successor to Jay Luppino, who was promoted to assistant manager at the new Sears store in Antioch.

Miss Angel has been with Sears, Roebuck & Co. for eight years, the last two years in Cupertino, where she was a department manager.

The personnel changes were announced by Will H. Sanders, manager of Northgate Sears.

Angel Smith

DUANE P. SMITH of Greenbrae was named manager of pipeline projects in the Western Hemisphere for Bechtel Incorporated's pipeline and production service division.

An 18-year veteran of the Bechtel group of companies, Smith has served as project manager for oil and gas pipeline projects in the U.S., Canada, Europe and North Africa.

ARTISTS AND CRAFTSMEN will take over The Mall at Northgate in Terra Linda this week when The Mall merchants host the California Artists, a group of artists and artisans from Marin, Bay Area and Southern California. The show will open Thursday and continue through the weekend.

The sponsors promise the most varied view of the art world ever presented at The Mall.

Painters will display abstracts, watercolors, traditional landscapes and seascapes. Unique crafts will range from wind chimes made of glass bottles to flowers made of sea shells and pictures made of silk string. Weavers will be working on hand fashioned looms producing multi-colored belts, and potters will be throwing pots. Tables made from reduced burl, sanded and waxed by hand, and glass blown into different abstracts will be shown.

The various arts and crafts will be judged on Friday afternoon.

FRANK A. TALLARIDA of San Rafael, a representative of State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America, is back from a five-day conference in Coronado held last week. He was picked to attend the leaders' conference in recognition of his "outstanding professional counseling" of clients in life and health insurance.

JIM CORBET'S Home Craftsman's Shop at 1155 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, has been named an authorized dealer for the new Shopsmith Mark V complete basic home workshop, and complete line of Shopsmith and Sawsmith accessories.

The Shopsmith Mark V is five interchangeable power tools, all operating from a common base.

JON R. FOWLER of San Rafael is partner in a new firm called Altura Investment Co. which just opened in Walnut Creek. His partner is Martin K. Stillman of Danville. They cooperate on real estate development and other investments.

San Rafael Abandons Idea For New Courthouse Study

Council Is Told Plan Would Cost $250,000

By NELS JOHNSON

The San Rafael City Council last night abandoned plans for a new look at development of Courthouse Square when told it would cost the city $250,000. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 5.)

Startled city fathers unanimously agreed that alteration of dual office buildings and a parking garage approved for the downtown site would be economically infeasible after learning from a representative of McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, developer of the square, that tampering with the design could lead to a prohibitive tab.

McKeon attorney Albert Bianchi, noting that proposed construction of the square cleared city agencies months ago, said the city would have to bear the burden of the cost generated by additional review of plans for an eight-story structure, a two-story office building and a multilevel parking garage.

Redesigning the project might cost up to $250,000 alone due to escalating prices of labor and materials sparked by construction delays, additional interest and taxes, and architectural fees, he said.

The city's request for further review of courthouse plans was prompted by freshman Councilman Jack G. Nixon, who told colleagues two weeks ago that he had become concerned after hearing repeated criticism of the development at campaign appearances.

Nixon had suggested relocation of the garage to another downtown site, using redevelopment funds, as well as possibly altering the building configuration to preserve the view of nearby Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

Bianchi, although saying the call for further review was a "positive suggestion," expressed McKeon Construction Co.'s icy reaction to the proposal.

The attorney told councilmen that the city couldn't rely on redevelopment funds to finance redesign of development plans since "you don't know for sure you have a settlement on redevelopment." He noted that the Marin Community College District, which has a suit pending against the city's redevelopment plans, has yet to sign an agreement with the city.

And concern over preserving the view of Mission San Rafael Arcangel is "questionable," Bianchi said, because the church is merely a replica built in 1949.

Further, McKeon "doesn't want to open up this whole question of design again" since such matters are subjective anyway, he said.

Bianchi said that bids for the courthouse project will go out next week, and that a building permit will be issued within two weeks.

"Of course the parking can be removed to another location, but to do so would require a major redesign of the entire structure," he declared. "When, how much and where" should the parking be relocated, he asked.

He also warned the council that publicity surrounding the city's "new interest" in the development had been viewed with concern by major tenants slated to move into the complex.

A grim-faced city council agreed to scuttle any attempt for a new look at the courthouse plans. "I'm satisfied we can't do it," said Nixon. "The answer is no.

"A great many people raised the courthouse issue during the council campaign. Now we can tell them there's no way to change it," he said.

BULLETIN

Two men driving a gold Cadillac were arrested today in San Anselmo following a two-mile chase from Fairfax, where a teller at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association was held up at gunpoint.

No identity of the arrested men was available.

Fairfax Police Chief Charles Grasso said that two men came into the savings and loan association at 1 Bolinas Road about 12:45 p.m. and one pulled a gun on a teller.

Grasso said the men escaped with as much as $3,000 in cash, but one of the association's employees, told to lie on the floor by the robbers, managed to trip a silent alarm.

He said roadblocks were put up in Fairfax and San Anselmo and police stopped the fleeing Cadillac at Broadmoor Avenue and Meadowcroft Drive.

A gun was found in the car, police said, as well as an undetermined amount of money. Additional cash was found in the pockets of the two men, according to police.

They were to be booked into jail later today.

Townhouses Win Planner Approval

A modified master plan for 260 townhouse dwellings in Kentfield was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission over the objections of nearby residents seeking to block the project. (Another planning commission story, page 9.)

Attorney Neil M. Park of Kentfield Gardens, president of the Greenbrae-Kentfield Citizens for a Neighborhood Park, said after the meeting he was "disappointed with the commission's action" and plans to appeal to county supervisors.

"We hope as elected representatives they will be more responsive to the wishes of the community," he said, adding the commission's 6-to-1 vote "was not in the best interest of the citizens of the Lower Ross Valley or Marin." Chairman John F. West cast the lone dissenting vote.

Park's group, besides opposing the project on a variety of grounds, is working to form a community services area to purchase the 27-acre site planned for development behind Marin Catholic High School.

The partially filled marsh is owned by the San Francisco Archdiocese but is under option to San Jose architect Goodwin B. Steinberg, who originally proposed 312 townhouse units and a medical center.

The architect, whose first plan received a cool response from commissioners, produced a modified version yesterday proposing 260 units, about six acres of open space marsh and no medical center.

He said he was agreeable to selling 15 per cent of the units to moderate and middle-income families but made a mild pro-

Subpoena Issued For Dean's Story

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A subpoena was issued today for John W. Dean, ousted White House counsel, to undergo questioning under oath this week by investigators of the Senate's special Watergate committee.

The question of immunity for Dean for public testimony remained undecided.

The committee voted to ask a federal judge formally to issue an order to exempt Dean from further prosecution in exchange for testimony, but made clear that whether he actually is given immunity would depend on the value of his information.

The Washington Star-News said today Dean's efforts apparently had fallen through to get immunity from federal attorneys in exchange for testimony before a grand jury investigating Watergate, and that his lawyers now were concentrating on getting an exemption from the Senate committee.

The immunity requested by the committee for Dean presumably will be issued promptly. Neither the Justice Department, which transmits the request, nor the federal court which handles it has any grounds for refusing it, Senate sources said.

The Senate committee plans public, televised hearings on the Watergate and similar incidents of political espionage and sabotage. Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said today plans now call for the first hearings to begin May 17 —about two days later than previously planned.

Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said the first round of hearings would be significant. There have been reports that the initial hearings will not deal specifically with Watergate —the burglary and bugging of Democratic headquarters.

Ervin said the first phase of hearings would be on May 17-18, May 22-24, and June 12-14.

Ervin told reporters in response to a question, "I have no information that President Nixon was personally involved in this (Watergate) matter."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he felt Nixon still needed to reassure the American people that a "truly independent" investigation would be made of the scope of the scandal.

A new Louis Harris public opinion poll published today showed that by a margin of 77 per cent to 13 per cent, those questioned did not "think President Nixon should resign."

But 54 per cent said Yes —

Free Hand Is Given In Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today that Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson has a "totally free hand" to conduct the Watergate investigation.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said this includes granting of immunity from prosecution to some people in the case if Richardson believed it was necessary to encourage testimony.

Ziegler's response came in answer to a question on whether a statement by President Nixon on April 17 —that any individuals holding "a position of major importance" in the administration should not be given immunity —might inhibit testimony from them.

Prosecutors frequently grant immunity from prosecution to suspects in order to get evidence on others.

"The whole question of immunity is a decision that must be made by the Justice Department," Ziegler said.

He said the President had given Richardson "a totally free hand" to proceed in any way he thought necessary to fully determine the facts in the case, without White House interference.

Nixon has asked his former Treasury secretary, Democrat-turned-Republican John B. Con-

New Mayor Is Elected In Belvedere

Each had previously served a term in the other man's new office.

Steinau, 46, is an architect. He was elected to the council three years ago.

Previously, he had served on the Belvedere Parks and Recreation Commission. This is his first term as mayor.

Price, 46, owner of a building products firm, is in his third term on the council. He has served four of those years as mayor. Previously, he was a member of the Reed School District board.

Ban On Shelter Ridge Building Is Approved

By REBECCA LARSEN

The Mill Valley City Council last night imposed a moratorium on development of about 700 acres in the vicinity of Shelter Ridge after two councilmen changed their stand on the matter. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 12)

The final vote was 4-1 for the ban, which affects development of moderate-cost housing, known as the Shelter Hill project, as well as the remaining undeveloped land in the controversial Shelter Ridge project.

The city council also extended until July 1974 a ban on building in the eastern section of the city around Richardson Bay.

The moratorium — designed to give the city time to revise its general plan, a job estimated to need 18 months — applies only to projects of five or more units, planned unit developments and planned residential developments. But it provides a use permit procedure through which developers may apply for exemption from the ban.

Mansfield Suggests A Delay In Richardson Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Tuesday he may delay confirmation of Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general until Richardson carries out his promise to name a special prosecutor to investigate the Watergate scandal.

But Mansfield's counterpart, GOP Leader Hugh Scott, insisted that "this country trust Elliot Richardson and after full hearings the Senate will trust him too."

Mansfield, talking to reporters, said a delay in the Senate confirmation was "a proposal worth very serious consideration." He said such action would not be a reflection of Richardson's ability to name a qualified prosecutor, but would serve to speed up the appointment.

Richardson, under pressure from Congress and acting under authority given him by President Nixon, said Monday he would indeed name an independent prosecutor to serve within the Justice Department and who would report only to him.

Mansfield, as Senate Majority Leader, could withhold a confirmation vote by simply not calling up the nomination for a vote on the Senate floor.

He told reporters he expected the nomination to win unanimous approval in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which must deal with the matter before it is called before the entire Senate.

Mansfield said he did not want committee hearings on the nomination delayed until Richardson designates his choice as special prosecutor.

Chemical Charge

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong charged today that Saigon troops fighting in a Communist-held area sprayed toxic chemicals that "ruined" more than 1,300 acres of land and caused serious illness to "large numbers of persons."

The area involved is within five miles of the site where an International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS) helicopter was fired on Sunday.

Landing Site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An enormous, 20,000-foot deep canyon has been chosen as the landing site for the first of two unmanned space missions to Mars, according to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The first landing possibly will occur on July 4, 1976 — the United States' 200th birthday.

NASA officials said yesterday that the Viking spacecraft will be launched from Cape Kennedy in August and September 1975. They will land on Mars after a year-long, 440-million-mile trip.

Flood Damage

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UPI) — The Mississippi River Commission yesterday estimated flood damage in a seven-state area at $409 million and said the figure would have been even higher if it were not for federal flood control projects.

The commission said the greatest amount of damage was in Mississippi, where the estimate was $128.6 million.

The agency estimated damage at $89.4 million in Missouri, $53.4 in Illinois, $1.2 million in Kentucky, $16.8 million in Tennessee, $37.8 million in Arkansas and $81.4 million in Louisiana.

Lebanese Strikes

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese air force warplanes using rockets struck Palestinian guerrilla strongholds on the western outskirts of Beirut today, the army said. The announcement came several hours after the military had assumed control of the country.

Nationwide bans on printing, writing, publishing, pamphlet and leaflet distribution and meetings, as well as a temporary closure of all cinemas, theaters, night clubs and meeting halls, were ordered by army commander-in-chief Gen. Iskander Ghanem.

The bans followed a state of emergency proclaimed last night by Premier Amin Hafez after the army and Palestinian guerrillas resumed fighting, breaking an uneasy four-day truce.

Fish Monopoly

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — The military government of Gen. Juan Velasco said yesterday it is expropriating the country's entire fishing industry, once the biggest in the world, because of an economic crisis confronting it for two years.

Fisheries Minister Javier Tantalean Vanini did not mention compensation for several American companies with holdings valued at $40 million, about one-third the total value of the industry.

The decision, he said, was taken last Friday when the cabinet created a state monopoly for the industry.

Ring Smashed

BELFAST (UPI) — A police spokesman said today that security forces smashed a branch of the Irish Republican Army's extremist Provisional wing, detaining 12 key members and seizing a cache of weapons.

In violence late yesterday, police said, bomb blasts wrecked a country newspaper office in Cookstown, 40 miles west of Belfast, and a north Belfast warehouse belonging to the Nestle Co.

Pills Attacked

DENVER (UPI) A medical researcher says insomniacs who take drugstore sleeping pills would be better off counting sheep. The more pills they take, he says, the less they sleep.

Recapture Town

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian forces recaptured two towns near Phnom Penh today and linked up with other government units to consolidate the positions, field reports said.

In the air war, U.S. fighter-bombers stayed away from the Phnom Penh area again today, but U.S. spotter pilots directed heavy raids elsewhere in Cambodia.

Ellsberg Probe On Nixon Order

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Nixon personally ordered the "greatest urgency" in investigating Daniel Ellsberg, and John Ehrlichman gave the investigators "authorization to engage in covert activity" that led to a burglary, according to a former White House aide's affidavit.

The statement by Egil 'Bud' Krogh, described in other statements as one of the key figures in the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist, was revealed yesterday at the Pentagon Papers trial.

Krogh's affidavit gave no indication that the President knew about specific operations of the White House team investigating Ellsberg, such as the burglary. Krogh said Ehrlichman learned of the break-in only after it had occurred and censured the team, saying it "far exceeded the scope of any covert activity which had been approved in general in advance."

Krogh said the President was concerned over whether the Pentagon Papers leak was the act of an individual or "the result of a wider conspiracy to engage in espionage." There was evidence to show Ellsberg was not acting alone, and reports from the FBI that the Russian embassy in Washington received the papers before American newsmen, he said.

EGIL (BUD) KROGH
Orders from Nixon

The affidavit said Krogh "was personally instructed by President Nixon in the presence of John D. Ehrlichman that the continuing leaks of vital information were compromising the national security of the United States, and the President instructed the affiant (Krogh) to move ahead with the greatest urgency to determine the source of the leaks."

Proxmire Hits Press For Nixon Attacks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The press is practicing "McCarthyism at its worst" by printing "sensational" stories linking President Nixon to the Watergate scandal without proof, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged today.

In a rare defense of Nixon, Proxmire complained the news media is being "grossly unfair" to the President in its hot pursuit of the story.

"When former White House Counsel John Dean is reported throughout this country to have privately told grand jury investigators that the President was directly involved in a Watergate cover-up, President Nixon is being tried, sentenced and executed by rumor and allegation," Proxmire said in a Senate speech.

"As the senator who succeeded Joe McCarthy in the United States Senate I find this kind of persecution and condemnation without trial McCarthyism at its worst...

"Doesn't the President have the same simple right that every other American has to be innocent until proven guilty?

"Doesn't a man who has spent more than 20 years in the pitiless glare at the summit of national political life deserve to be believed when he directly tells the nation that he had no knowledge of these matters until there is proof that he lied?

"Doesn't he deserve at least this measure of faith until proven a liar?"

Twister Death

GERALDINE, Ala. (UPI) — At least one person was killed and eight others injured early today when a tornado ripped through the Sand Mountain area of northeast Alabama.

Diplomat Freed By Guerrillas

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — U.S. Consul General Terrence G. Leonhardy walked into his home late yesterday in borrowed clothing and a three-day beard, freed by leftwing guerrillas who held him nearly 100 hours as a political hostage.

Diplomatic colleagues said he was weak and tired, but "okay."

The release of Leonhardy, the first U.S. diplomat abducted in Mexico in modern times, was expected late Sunday after 30 so-called "political prisoners"—most of them accused terrorists and bank robbers—were freed and flown to Havana in exchange for Leonhardy.

Leonhardy said in a statement that his ordeal again emphasized the need for all governments to cooperate in stamping out international terrorism.

He did not mention details of his kidnaping—carried out last Friday by four armed men who later described themselves as members of the leftwing People's Revolutionary Armed Forces.

But he did express thanks to Mexican authorities who complied with demands by the guerrillas to free the 30 prisoners, among them four women. The kidnapers threatened to kill Leonhardy if the 30 were not freed and flown to Cuba.

Authorities bowed to the demands Sunday, then started a long wait to see if the kidnapers would free Leonhardy.

He appeared at 10:45 p.m., walking into his suburban home through a back door past two newsmen who recognized him.

Pilot Points Out Watergate Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As United Air Lines Flight 642 from Cleveland descended toward Washington's National Airport Monday, passengers heard the voice of Second Officer Richard Martineau pointing out the White House, Washington Monument and the Capitol, then:

"Now those of you on the left side of the aircraft may see some odd-shaped buildings next to the Kennedy Center. Those are the famous—or infamous—Watergate apartments."

The passengers were still laughing as the plane touched down.

Richardson Makes New Pitch For Cambodian Bombing Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Elliot Richardson says the Nixon administration will continue bombing in Cambodia whether or not Congress approves a $500 million transfer of funds to cover shortages created by the Indochina war.

Richardson told the Senate Appropriations Comittee yesterday that President Nixon feels that the Cambodia air raids have such high priority he is willing to sacrifice other military needs if faced with a congressional refusal to approve the transfer.

The defense secretary, already in the thick of his new duties supervising the Watergate investigation, spent four hours with the committee yesterday trying to head off another crisis.

The Pentagon wants congressional authority to transfer $500 million from unused accounts to pay for increased costs of the war, and other operations.

Democrats in both houses of Congress are fighting the transfer, saying it would put Congress on record as endorsing the bombing of Cambodia.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., charged yesterday that the Pentagon has already illegally transferred $149 million of the money without congressional consent.

"Someone, or several someones, could go to jail over this," Aspin said.

Pentagon officials say the money was not transferred, but only placed in escrow pending congressional approval, and that no law was violated.

Richardson warned the committee that if transfer authority is denied, this would only serve to disrupt U.S. military operations around the globe, while failing to stop the Cambodia bombing.

He said U.S. forces in Europe, the Mediterranean and elsewhere around the world would have to be reduced to a "dangerously low level during the next two months," and a freeze would have to be initiated on promotions and enlistments so the books could be balanced.

Some members of the committee were planning to offer an amendment to bar the use of any of the transfer authority for bombing.

But Richardson said that if such an amendment were offered and defeated, "We would then be justified in viewing that rejection ... as a vote at least to acquiesce in" the administration's policies.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., predicted "a helluva fight" on the issue and said the committee was 2 to 1 in favor of barring any of the transfer authority for Cambodia.

Nixon Succeeds In Payroll Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has succeeded in cutting the size of the federal civilian payroll — chiefly by trimming the Pentagon's staff, the House-Senate Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures reported today.

The total federal payroll in March numbered 2,757,836, the committee reported. This was a decline of 179,394 since March, 1968.

But a 231,019 cut in defense agencies' civilian payrolls was partially offset by a 51,625 increase in the payrolls of nondefense agencies.

Northridge Development Switch By Planners Upheld By Council

The Corte Madera Town Council last night upheld a planning commission decision to rescind approval of a tentative map for a housing development on Northridge.

The council told the developers, Roemer and Estes of Mill Valley, that Unit 5 of its Hidden Valley development doesn't conform to the town's slope or zoning policies, and that an environmental impact report showed significant adverse impacts.

The council was encouraged in its decision by a standing-room-only crowd of residents who pleaded for preservation of the ridgeline between Corte Madera and Mill Valley.

One woman showed a home-made movie of the wildflower-rich hilltops, another brought along two stuffed quail that are native to the area, and a new resident, James Crampton of 22 Fairview Avenue said the hills there are so steep the school bus cannot serve local children.

Town zoning administrator William G. McBride told the council Unit 5 consists of 21 lots, 14 of which lie directly on the Northridge.

The 14 ridgetop lots are about 10,000 square feet, while the town's zoning and slope policies would require up to 40,000 square feet each, said McBride.

Upholding the commission's decision, the council told Roemer and Estes its denial of the appeal doesn't "preclude reevaluation of the problem through an aesthetically oriented project."

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

SEWERS — Sitting as the Sanitary District Board deferred action on the proposed $20-a-year sewer service charge to each home until budget hearings in June; Councilman Edward W. Colthurst said it needed looking at in depth in the context of all the town's expenditures and programs.

SURVEY — Congratulated the Corte Madera Town Meeting on the hard work put into a community survey and promised to study its results.

CHURCH COURT — Abandoned a 1,900-square-foot section of Church Court surrounded on three sides by the Holy Innocents Church; and in recognition of the service given the town by Father Ewald and the church — such as renting apartments to senior citizens at a loss — withdrew a proposed $3,000 charge to pave and gutter the rest of Church Court.

TRIPLEX — Set a public hearing for June 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the town hall on the Marin Estates Homeowners Association's appeal of the planning commission's approval of a triplex to be built at 5499 Paradise Drive.

KOCH — Instructed Town Atty. Albert Bianchi to initiate legal procedures to force the Koch Luggage Company to clean up discarded fiberglass luggage shells littering the plant; warning letters and requests have produced no action.

RECREATION — Approved the summer recreation program at a cost of $7,640, subject to budget approval.

PARK — Agreed to lobby at Marin County budget hearings for allocation of $100,000 for a Corte Madera Bay Front Park.

TAXICABS — Referred to its finance committee conflicting applications by Bel-Aire Cab Co. of Mill Valley and San Rafael Taxi Cabs Inc., for permits to operate taxicabs within Corte Madera; Town staff recommended giving both companies permits, but Robert J. Jennings of the San Rafael Company warned it would trigger a "cab war" because Bud Hinkel of the Mill Valley company "is operating lower fares than any other cab in California,"; Hinkel in turn criticized Jennings' operations.

FENCE — Told Jacob J. Moberg of 327 Golden Hind Passage it disagreed with his erection of fences on a 10-foot public right-of-way next to his house and instructed staff to investigate similar blockage of rights of way; councilman Herber C. Leney said the passage to San Clemente Creek is used by children from San Clemente School belongs to the people Moberg contended the passage way was dangerous to children.

CONFERENCE — Authorized town finance director Frank Bigley attending the International Conference on Public Finance in Kansas City, Mo., June 3 to 7, with expenses of $500.

FIREPIT — Approved three Boy Scouts constructing a fire pit in Town Park as their Eagle Project, with funds coming from IBM Corp., but warned the design must meet high town standards — and suggested IBM might be persuaded to pay for proper architectural design as well as materials.

DRIVEWAY — Approved a driveway being located in the center of a wheel alignment business to be built at 13 San Clemente Drive, just north of Denny's Plumbing, for Gerhard and Hanni Butter; 'town staff and the planning commission disagreed, saying the driveway should be shared with a neighboring lot to cut down on left turns from San Clemente Drive.

FOURTH OF JULY — Approved the Chamber of Commerce's plans for the Fourth of July celebrations, but ruled that there can be no amplified sound of rock bands, and all amplified sound must end by 10 a.m.

PARKING — Approved a two-hour parking limit zone between 502 and 506 Tamalpais Drive after occupants complained that commuters are leaving their cars parked in the street all day while they catch transit buses.

TREES — Agreed to replace street trees that have overgrown and torn up sidewalks at 3 Council Crest and 6 Chicasaw Court; the new trees will be fruitless plums.

TAMAL VISTA — Agreed to widen Tamal Vista Boulevard as far as Madera Boulevard; the town will pay $4,615 from gas tax funds while Wards Auto Store and the Edgewater Inn will contribute $6,151.

MADERA DEL PRESIDIO — Rescinded its approval of a planned unit development and a tentative subdivision map for Madera del Presidio, effective May 16.

COMMISSIONER — Adopted a resolution commending sanitary commissioner Lawrence T. Elleson on his long service to the town; he is resigning to move to Santa Rosa next month.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned just before midnight to its next regular meeting on May 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Five Killed In Japanese Storm

TOKYO (UPI) — At least five persons died and hundreds of persons were driven from their homes today by torrential rains and landslides on Japan's southern island of Kyushu.

At least five other persons were reported missing, police said.

Lucky Drive Fill Permit Is Delayed

The Corte Madera Town Council last night delayed granting a fill permit to cover up a ponding lagoon and substitute a pumping station on Lucky Drive after a nearby resident disagreed with engineering studies on the $115,800 project.

Later in the meeting councilmen were told by Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels that a 14-unit condominium destined to be served by the new storm drainage system has sunk so far it's had to be jacked up twice in recent weeks.

Developed by the Western Real Estate Development Corporation of San Francisco, and built by Horst Hanf, the peak-roofed condominiums at 62 Lucky Drive have been the target of much criticism locally on design suspects alone. They face a branch of Corte Madera Creek.

"They've been jacked up twice, the builder has fired his soils engineers and is going to sue him, and the town's filed a stop work order," said Bartels.

The Fifer Assessment District has been formed by the town to sell bonds to finance a storm drain system, a pumping station, and undergrounding of utilities to serve Western Real Estate Land, with the company paying the entire cost.

The council approved agreements with Pacific Gas and Electric Co., and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the undergrounding, but refused to act on a request by Western Real Estate's engineer Arthur T. Knutson for a fill permit to place 10,000 cubic yards of fill in a 33,000-square-foot ponding lagoon.

David H. Jordan of 22 Lucky Drive told the council he considers himself an expert on flooding — "I've watched it for 17 years," he said, "and if your engineering is as bad as it's been in the past, it won't work."

Jordan said the perennial floods on Lucky Drive in Corte Madera and Greenbrae near 101 and the Corte Madera Creek are caused by poor drainage.

Jordan said he'd watched the condominiums being built and knew from the start they'd sink — "the only way to build a house there is like a boat and float it. My house is constructed on a redwood mat, and the weight is distributed evenly."

Acting Mayor Harold B. Wagstaff said he had a "gut feeling" about the concerned neighbor and the council decided to hear more from soils engineers on the entire fill permit application at its June 4 meeting.

To Honors List

James Roemmer of Corte Madera and Karen L. Lutz of Lucas Valley are among the University of Colorado students who were named to the president's honors list for the fall semester for a 3.5 grade average or better.

New Pay Less Stores Slated

OAKLAND (UPI) — Pay Less drug stores plans to open six new stores.

They will be in Concord, Lodi, Alameda, Visalia, Stockton and Honolulu, a spokesman said Monday.

The stores in California will be under the Pay Less name while the one in Hawaii will be under the Wigwam name.

Antique Chinese Vases Stolen

Two antique Chinese vases were stolen from Roger's Barber Shop, 242 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur between Thursday and Saturday, reported Larkspur police.

Owner Hilary Stock of Fairfax told police the vases, about 130 years old, were white porcelain with multicolored paintings on the sides.

Maddox Offers To Investigate Watergate Case

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox nominated himself Monday to be the special investigator in the Watergate case, promising to remove all the "wraps and shrouds" from the bugging attempt at the Democratic National Headquarters.

"The Watergate affair ... is a situation calling for complete and impartial investigation," Maddox said in a telegram to President Nixon.

"Any hint of only a token investigation, or any semblance of a coverup, will not be tolerated by the American people. Therefore, I respectfully urge that you consider appointing myself as chief investigator."

Honda Stolen

Invitations Out For A POW Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon have mailed 587 invitations to all POWs released by Hanoi and the Viet Cong to attend a White House party.

Helen McCain Smith, Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, said the invitations were sent for the May 24 party with no screening of the former prisoners of those who might have collaborated while in captivity.

If you don't show your kids where America began, who will?

You get air fare, a car and motel accommodations, all for less than you would imagine, on an American Airlines Fly/Drive Vacation.

Take your kids across the country and back a few hundred years.
Names like Jamestown, Williamsburg, and Plymouth may never really mean anything to them unless they get to see them in person.
Our roots are here.
See it with your family.
This summer, American has put together Fly/Drive Vacations at prices that dollar for dollar are probably the best any airline has ever offered.
For $187 to $193 for a week, you get an Avis or Hertz car with unlimited mileage. (You pay for gas.) Plus 6 nights at selected Holiday Inns (for up to 4 people) or Sheraton Hotels. Air fare is $235* roundtrip for adults, with special fares for children.
The best part is you can fly into New York, and drive from there to wherever you want.
You can even visit a different place each day and stay at a different place each night.
So talk to your Travel Agent about American's Fly/Drive Vacations.
Then talk to your family.
Tell them about the terrific summer vacation they're going to have.

Husband Can't Give It Away

"It's not enough," hissed Helena, "that you've been running around with that dizzy blonde model — but you've spent all our savings on her, too! When I get my hands on you —!"

"I remind you," said Hector, strategically retreating behind a sturdy table, "that our savings are community property. California law says that the husband is the manager and has control over community property. So if I choose to bestow a few trinkets on a friend, you can't do anything about it."

It's true the husband has control and management of community property. And it's also true the wife can't complain if he's a bad manager. Or if he makes poor investments. Or overbuys. But Hector has gone a bit too far. A husband cannot give away community property. If he does, his wife, when she finds out, may have the entire gift set aside and returned.

The wife, says the law, has a "present, existing and equal interest" in all the community property. Everything acquired after marriage is community property unless one spouse inherited property separately or received a gift separately. This includes cars, real estate, bank accounts, stocks and bonds, and often rights in pension and retirement funds.

Many women's groups are starting to question this control. They say when a marriage starts to go sour, the husband may spend, spend, spend. What is left of the community property is then divided in half when there is a dissolution. If there is a proceeding filed, there may be court orders preventing transfers and waste. Until the wife can get such an order, the husband is in control.

After the dissolved marriage the wife sometimes finds her credit bad because of her ex-husband's past mismanagement. She may have trouble getting credit.

It used to be that a husband controlled his wife's wages, too. But since 1951 she's in charge of her earnings, if she keeps them in her own separate account. She can spend it on anything she pleases. But she can't give it away.

Even though the husband is the manager there are limitations on his powers. He can't assign his wages to a creditor without his wife's consent. He can't sell or transfer the furniture, furnishings or wearing apparel without his wife's consent.

PLAN

test over a planning department recommendation that the project be built in stages over 10 years.

Steinberg said he would prefer to build the project in stages over five years but was overruled by the planning commission, which said 10 years would better fit the growth rate proposed in the countywide general plan.

Park, meanwhile, urged the commission to reject the master plan and leave the single-family residential zoning unchanged in order to give Greenbrae-Kentfield residents a chance to purchase the land.

Purchase, he said, will require the formation of a community service area and successful passage of a bond measure.

Commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo said the 27-acre site had been spoiled years ago with spoils from the Corte Madera Creek flood control project. Moreover, she said, due to the land's location near shopping, transit and other facilities, it is ideal for higher density use than that permitted under the current single-family residential designation.

West, meanwhile, said he agreed some development of the site was appropriate but urged it be limited to less than a third of the site, which had been filled beyond feasible restoration as a marsh.

He was outvoted, however, on a motion by Mrs. Azevedo recommending approval of the master plan and related rezoning to county supervisors. Supervisors are expected to consider the project late this month or early June.

BUGGING

compared to 37 per cent who said No —when asked if they felt Nixon's credibility has declined so much because of Watergate that "it will be hard for him to be an effective President again."

Muskie, who dropped out of the Democratic race after poor early showings in 1972 primaries that were marked by later-reported incidents of secret sabotage by operatives of the Nixon campaign organization, said the President should "take whatever steps that can be devised that the investigation of the whole matter is truly independent —independent of him, of those close to him."

In an interview on the NBC-TV Today Show, Muskie said the public needs to be assured "that the full story is told, that there is no coverup and that ... we will have all the facts."

He added: "I think that he needs to do that in terms of the credibility of the presidency and his own ability to govern the country."

The New York Bar Association was one of the most influential legal groups originally to urge the President to name a special prosecutor, and its president, Orville H. Schell Jr., said Richardson's plan "does not meet the crisis."

"Whether we like it or not," Schell said in an article for the New York Times, "the President himself may be involved ... If, then, the President and his administration must be investigated, it cannot be done by his own lawyers. No matter how well known, competent and honest the attorney general may be, when everything is said and done, the conflict of interest in this situation will leave a suspicion of their inegrity in the minds of many people."

SB 90 Will Force Use Of Reserve

Senate Bill 90 will force the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District to dip into into its reserves to reduce the hours of its firemen and stil maintain the present property tax rate, according to Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr.

The measure requires taxing agencies to keep their tax rates at or below this year's or last year's level, whichever is higher, or go to the voters for an increase.

Heynen said the tax rate, pegged at 73.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, will bring in about $185,000 next year but a proposed budget submitted to the board totals $230,000, thus necessitating spending $45,000 in reserves.

Most of the budget increase is due to hiring three men to shorten working hours in the district, he said. The Alto Firemen's Association recently affiliated with a union, the International Association of Fire Fighters, and is pressing for a reduction in the 76-hour work week.

Major categories in the budget are $199,000 for salaries, $29,000 for maintenance and $2,000 for capital outlay, Heynen said. The board will hold a hearing on the budget June 8 at 8 p.m. at the firehouse, he said.

Heynen said the board at that time also will vote on someone to fill the unexpired term of director John A. Walters, who has resigned to move out of the district.

Lucas Valley Owners Elect

The Lucas Valley Homeowners Association last night elected Milly McEnhill and Joy Dahgren to serve on the association board for two years.

Other members of the board, elected last year to serve two year terms, are Calvin B. Colt, president; Martin Schainbaum, vice president and Joan Fernandez, according to board secretary Wilma Ahrens.

The association next meets at 8 p.m. June 4 in the community center, she said.

Atlanta To Host Meeting Of OAS

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Organization of American States will hold its meeting here in 1974, the first time the organization has met in this country outside of Washington, D.C.

Mayor Sam Massell announced that Atlanta was selected as the site over San Francisco and New Orleans.

Auto Stolen

His 1969 blue Ford Mustang, license WWU-582, was stolen between 8:20 a.m. and 5:35 p.m. yesterday from the city parking lot at Third Street and Lootens Place, San Rafael, Paul R. Thompson of 14 Scenic Drive, Novato, reported to San Rafael police.

NIXON

nally, to help reorganize the White House staff.

White House sources said the job would be of a part-time nature. They left open the possibility that Nixon had requested his political confidante to take on a full-time job but had been turned down.

The President summoned the recent Republican convert to the Florida White House at Key Biscayne yesterday for a two-and-a-half hour conference shortly before returning here for more planning on restructuring his staff in the wake of the Watergate scandal.

Sources in a position to know at first indicated that Connally would come back into the Nixon administration in a high-level position and that announcement of the new job would be made today.

The sources ruled out the defense secretary job for Connally. It has already been offered to David Packard, the former deputy secretary of defense. Since Connally shares Nixon's views on most domestic politices, speculation centered on him assuming the job of domestic counselor vacated by John D. Ehrlichman.

But later, the sources said whatever job Connally took would be only part-time and its announcement would not be made for several days.

Nixon spent much of the weekend in Florida planning the restructuring of his White House apparatus needed in the wake of the departure of Ehrlichman, Chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and counsel John W. Dean III.

He conferred twice yesterday with Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., the Army vice chief of staff he pulled out of the Pentagon to take over Haldeman's job on an interim basis.

Meantime, the White House Monday issued another denial that the President was in anyway personally involved in the Watergate break-in or attempts to cover it up.

The denial was prompted by published reports saying Dean was ready to testify before a grand jury that Nixon had congratulated him last fall on doing a "good job" of keeping the lid on the Watergate scandal.

The reports also quoted Dean as saying Ehrlichman had promised executive clemency to one of the convicted Watergate conspirators, E. Howard Hunt, after emerging from a conference with the President.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, departing from the usual White House practice of not commenting on developments in the case, told newsmen that "any suggestion that the President was aware of the Watergate operation" or had participated in any coverup or offered clemency to anyone was untrue.

Teachers' Fate Will Be Decided

The San Rafael Board of Education will formally decide the fate of 16 teachers issued tentative layoff notices when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the district office.

In making its decision, the board will review a recommendation from a state hearing officer that the 16 be dismised due to sagging enrollment and a financial squeeze.

The board will also consider a preliminary budget for 1973-74 and hear a report on the "turned off child" from its citizen advisory committee.

Marin Projects Receive A Setback

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Department of Education has recommended against funding two proposed federal aid projects in Marin schools.

In a long list of proposals "not recommended for funding," to be presented to the state Board of Education at its meeting Thursday and Friday, are: "Early success in school," Fairfax School District, $48,602, and Redwood Child Development Center, Tamalpais High School District, $85,350.

Rancher's Truck Totally Vandalized

Vandals have damaged a Nicasio rancher's dump truck, valued at $1,500, beyond repair, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The vandalism to the truck belonging to George Rogers was discovered Saturday. All windows in the truck, its radiator and its motor block were smashed with rocks and the gas tank was filled with sand, deputies said. The damage was believed done by juveniles holding a beer bust in the remote area sometime between Friday and Sunday, deputies said.

Easement Deeds Are Accepted

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night accepted four deeds of easement from property owners along the route of the planned sewer trunkline through Ross.

The deeds allow the district to go onto the property to construct and maintain the new trunkline, according to Ned J. Ongaro, district manager. The deeds were for property on Locust Avenue and Shady Lane.

To protect some property, which is heavily wooded, the district plans to bore under the lot, minimizing damage, Ongaro said.

The board also agreed to lease a tractor with a digging implement at a cost of $750 per month with an option to buy the machine, Ongaro said.

Greenbrae Man Is Sentenced In Three Cases

Edward John Bonodeo II of Greenbrae yesterday was placed on two years probation, ordered to spend six months in county jail and ordered to submit to a county drug rehabilitation program, thus settling three felony cases in Marin Superior Court.

Judge David Menary Jr. sentenced Bonodeo in accord with a plea bargain last month that resulted in the youth admitting stealing $201 from a parked car in San Rafael March 15 and burglary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club last Dec. 23.

The third case, involving concealing stolen property, was dismissed.

The probation is providing Bonodeo can receive drug rehabilitation in the county.

Concert Will Dedicate Piano

Dedication of a new piano at the Stinson Beach Community Center will be at 3 p.m., May 20, with an all Haydn concert.

Donald Pippin, pianist will perform the Haydn "Piano Concerto." Sharon Daniels, soprano will be the soloist in Haydn's opera, "La Canterina". The concert will conclude with one of Haydn's string quartets.

Delegates Rap Chair Overlap

LONDON (UPI) — Delegates attending an annual conference of civil servants had a complaint about overlapping.

Chairs provided for them, one delegate said Monday, caused a painful condition known as the "overlapping bottom." He said the chairs were "absolutely agony" for heavier persons.

And another delegate, Mrs. Margaret Richardson, said they are a health hazard for persons with back trouble.

Dictating Machine Taken From School

Someone took a dictating recorder valued at $350 and $40 in cash between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning from Don Timoteo School at 39 Trellis Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

The burglary was found by custodian William B. Van Winkle when he opened the school. The entire school had been ransacked, but nothing else was reported missing, police reported.

Two Typewriters Reported Stolen

Two electric typewriters, valued at $1,400, were stolen from the Title Insurance Co. office at 104 Tiburon Boulevard late Friday or early Saturday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

The theft was discovered when a patroling deputy found the building's rear door open at 2:22 a.m. Saturday.

Store Robbed

A burglar who broke into Sullivan's Home Wares store on the Ross Commons some time during the weekend took $5 in change and a pocket knife, Ross police said today. The thief broke a window to get into the closed store.

Toyota Stolen

Dennis Slaydon, 701 Carling Court, Petaluma, told police his 1972 green Toyota Corona was stolen Saturday from the parking lot of Denny's restaurant, 4986 Petaluma Boulevard North. It bore license 413 FHK.

the moratorium, reversed himself and voted "no." He said he was now opposing the measure because it would force Shelter Ridge to sit "as a raw piece of dusty, eroding land" and would put the Shelter Hill complex into jeopardy.

After Burton announced his stand, Councilman Robert E. Capron said he was going to participate in the vote. He had abstained from discussion of the ban for several months because his law partner represents Shelter Hill.

Capron said he and special city attorney Richard Breiner had decided that the councilman's interests in the project are negligible. (Breiner substituted for Leland H. Jordan, regular city attorney, whose firm has represented Shelter Ridge developers.)

Had Capron not voted, the ban would have failed, since it needed four votes for approval.

"This town needs a moratorium, and it needs it now for its full and total area," argued Capron.

He contended that if the moratorium exempted Shelter Hill and Shelter Ridge it would make the city liable to lawsuits from other frustrated builders.

After the vote, Councilman Burton commented "that various people" were voting according to whatever legal opinion suited their fancy.

Most other argument centered on whether or not Shelter Ridge should be included in the ban. Tom W. Newton, director of community development, told the council that the ban would not give the city any greater power over the development than the city had already. He also said that because of the grading done at the site, the project should be completed.

"We cannot leave this place as it is," said Stanley M. Bala, city engineer. He called the graded area "an exposed quarry-like area."

Shelter Ridge developer Warner Odenthal said he is "not trying to run roughshod over anyone" and is planning to reduce density at the project.

The remaining units planned for Shelter Ridge and Shelter Hill include 156 apartments, 80 moderate income units and 23 single-family homes and duplexes. Already built are 104 condominiums, and valid permits exist for 83 more.

Conviction Of Skyjacker Upheld

DENVER (UPI) — The conviction and 45-year prison sentence handed skyjacker Richard Floyd McCoy Jr. was upheld Monday by a three-judge panel of the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Attorneys for McCoy had questioned the validity of a search warrant authorizing a search of McCoy's home in Provo, Utah. A lower federal court in Salt Lake City previously had upheld the warrant.

McCoy hijacked a United Airlines plane enroute from Denver to Los Angeles, forcing the pilot to change his course and land in San Francisco.

Nuclear Energy Displays In Van

A van containing displays and exhibits on nuclear energy will be at the Northgate Shopping Center in San Rafael tomorrow and Thursday and at the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center Friday through Sunday.

The 40-by-8-foot mobile unit sponsored by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. includes a video tape playback explaining nuclear energy from the operating characteristics of a nuclear plant to environmental considerations of nuclear power, according to Nicholas C. Stathis, director of the unit.

Teacher Layoffs To Be Considered

The Marin County Board of Education will consider laying off up to ten permit teachers at its children's centers at its meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at the county schools office.

Also scheduled for reduction in force are between four and ten instructional aides at the centers, several of which are scheduled for closing because federal funding has been withdrawn.

Talks Continue

MOSCOW (UPI) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger met for eight hours Monday with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and is continuing talks today that the two men started on Friday at Brezhnev's hunting lodge, the U.S. Embassy said.

Behr Attacks The Deposits For Utilities

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Most of the deposits currently demanded by utility companies would be prohibited under legislation proposed Monday by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Under his bill, Behr said, deposits for gas, water, power or telephone utilities would only be permitted when the utility had terminated the customer's service for non-payment during previous two years. The proposal also would force utilities to pay 5 per cent interest per year on any deposits.

Behr said utilities presently "guess whether the customer is a questionable or unknown credit risk. The end result is that everybody is a bad credit risk unless they can prove they're not."

Subdivisions Before Panel

The San Rafael Planning Commission will consider a two-lot subdivision proposed for a parcel on Jacoby Street when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.

Owner Barney Norwitt is seeking to subdivide his property into parcels of 15 and 6.4 acres so that the Golden Gate Bridge District may buy the land to expand its adjacent bus base.

The commission will also consider a proposal for four duplex structures at 1701-1729 Grand Avenue.

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "It's heartbreaking," said Dr. Willem Kolff.

Kolff, who has been working more than 15 years on development of an artificial heart, lamented the destruction of his collection of 70 heart models by a fire at the University of Utah's Artificial Organ Division.

He said Monday that the blaze interrupted several research projects and caused more than $250,000 damage.

$200 Taken

Two money bags containing $200 were stolen Sunday from the Foley and Burk Carnival at the Petaluma Plaza, police reported. Adoor was pried open on the office trailer.

OBITUARIES

Rev. Walsh Dies At 59; Rites Set

Rev. Richard Hanna Walsh, district superintendent for the Methodist Board of Missions, died today at a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 59.

Walsh had served as district superintendent on the board of missions for the Methodist Church in the California-Nevada Conference since 1966. From 1962 to 1966 he had served as district superintendent of United Methodist Church of the Redwood Empire.

Walsh was a native of Connecticut and was a graduate of Dakota Wesleyan University, S.D. and University of the Pacific at Stockton. He had also studied at Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley.

Walsh had been a resident of Petaluma since 1962 and lived at 12 Cader Court. He was a member of the United Methodist Church of Petaluma, Odd Fellows Lodge and Masonic Lodge of Linden, Tulare County, and the Elks Club of Redding.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Walsh; three sons, David Walsh of Ridgecrest, Kern County, John Walsh of Hawaii and Paul Walsh of California; two brothers, William Walsh of New York and Jack Walsh of Connecticut; two sisters, Virginia McDonald and Betty Woodward, both of Connecticut, and 12 grandchildren.

Graveside service will be Friday at 2 p.m. at the Academy Cemetery near Clovis, Fresno County. A memorial service will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Trinity Methodist Church, Berkeley.

Friends may call at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, until Thursday evening.

Traffic Flows To Be Affected

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. Northbound, paving operations on both approaches to the Richardson Bay Bridge during noncommute hours, 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. At least two lanes will be kept open at all times.

2. Southbound overpass work from Ignacio to Lamont boulevards, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., only one lane will be closed at a time.

RUTH MARCUS

Ruth Finn Marcus, long-time Marin resident and wife of William Arthur Marcus, a former director of the Marin Municipal Water District, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was 75.

She was born in Berkeley and moved to Mill Valley as a child with her parents. She graduated from Tamalpais High School. She and her husband, who survives her, lived in Mill Valley until five years ago when they moved to 101 Crown Road, Kentfield.

Her husband retired as vice president of American Trust Co. (now Wells Fargo American Trust Co.) in 1958. He was a water district board member for 27 years.

She was a charter member and past president of the Outdoor Art Club of Mill Valley and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Phillips Barker of Mill Valley and Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. of San Francisco; a son, William J. Marcus of Mexico; two brothers, Charles C. Finn of Seattle, Wash., and John Finn Jr. of San Francisco; two sisters, Mrs. T. C. Wellman of Kentfield and Mrs. John Heins of Monterey and eight grandchildren.

Private funeral was today. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Colma.

BIRTHS

LEWIS — A son to the wife (Doris Clifford) of Michael Lewis of Novato, May 5 at Novato General Hospital.

FIELD — A son to the wife (Susan McFadden) of David Field of Novato, May 4 at Novato General Hospital.

AUSTIN — A daughter to the wife (Jill McAfee) of Michael Austin of Novato, May 6 at Novato General Hospital.

MARCUS — In San Francisco, May 7, 1973, Ruth Finn Marcus; beloved wife of William Arthur Marcus; mother of Mrs. R. Phillips Barker, Mrs. Paul B. Fay Jr. and William John Marcus; sister of Charles C. and John Finn Jr., Mrs. T. C. Wellman and Mrs. John Heins; a long-time resident of Mill Valley; age 75 years.

Project Stalled In Peacock Gap

In a surprise show of unanimity on a controversial proposal that has sparked deadlocked voting in the past, the San Rafael City Council last night denied a use permit for a 154-unit subdivision on a bowl-shaped parcel in Peacock Gap.

American Savings and Loan Association's proposal to develop the 72-acre parcel, dubbed Peacock Gap Unit Five, was rejected pending completion of the city's new general plan.

City fathers upheld a 3-to-3 planning commission decision denying the firm's application to proceed with plans under the city's building moratorium, despite a declaration by Norman Higby, president of the Peacock Gap Homeowners Association, that the group endorsed the plans.

The action was loudly applauded by about 50 local residents who claimed the association does not represent all of the Peacock Gap community.

Howard Lawson, vice president of American Savings and Loan, told councilmen that development of the parcel is inevitable since ridge and slope portions of the hollowed area has already been capped and graded. Development proposed for the land, he said, is substantially the same as a plan presented 15 years ago, although lots have been widened and density cut from 170 to 154 units.

He was backed by Higby, who said that the homeowners Association had reached agreement on development plans with the firm last Friday after months of negotiations.

Higby said the development proposal includes a two-acre park on the flatlands since ridge areas present difficult and dangerous access for children.

Another man said the area in its undeveloped state is unsightly, is a police and fire hazard, and attracts "undesirables" and motorcyclists.

Councilman Jack G. Nixon appeared to express the views of all councilmen, saying the new general plan might present new densities, growth rates, park and slope criteria for development in the area.

Although Councilman Fred E. Jensen and Mayor C. Paul Bettini voted approval of the project in a fruitless voting shuffle last August, both voted to deny the permit last night.

Lawson said he would resubmit an application to proceed with development plans after revising them in light of the general plan, expected to be completed this summer.

COUNCILMAN NOT READY FOR 'HONOR'

San Rafael City Councilman Fred E. Jensen, usually not one to reject accolades by colleagues, did just that last night.

The 70-year-old veteran councilman cast the sole dissenting vote in a motion naming him as the city council's nomination for Senior Citizen of the Year.

"Aw, I don't want to be with all the old people," he declared. "I'm not that old."

Action On Project Near Civic Center Postponed

The San Rafael City Council last night postponed consideration of a controversial proposal to develop a 54-acre site near the Civic Center after one city councilman described the project's environmental impact report as inadequate.

McCarthy Co. of Northern California's proposal to develop the site off San Pablo Avenue near Highway 101 with a 292-unit apartment and townhouse complex split the council in a 2-to-2 deadlock last November, a situation colleagues of freshman Councilman Jack G. Nixon may have been mindful of last night when they agreed to his request for additional environmental data.

An environmental impact report on the proposal claims the development will have little major detrimental impact on the environment, but Nixon said he wanted a more detailed traffic analysis, city services cost projection, and geology report.

In deadlock voting last November, Councilman Fred E. Jensen and Mayor C. Paul Bettini voiced support of the project, with Councilmen Lawrence E. Mulryan and John A. Miskimen opposed. Although the stalemate allowed the project to proceed under the city's building moratorium, final approval of plans could be scuttled if the council majority declines to rezone the land from unclassified to residential district.

The council said it will again consider the project's impact report, and companion rezoning action, at 8 p.m. May 21.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

ELECT — Witnessed the swearing in of councilmen-elect Lawrence E. Mulryan and Nixon, and San Rafael Board of Education victors Paul K. McMullen and Suzanne L. Beittel.

ANNEXATION — Approved annexation of a 2.34-acre parcel off Fifth Avenue, a move requested by applicant Harold Wagner and approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission.

DOLLAR ESTATE — Referred to staff for study and recommendation a feasibility study that shows the Robert Dollar estate may be used as a self-sustaining community center.

APPEALS — Referred to the planning commission for review an ordinance allowing the council to postpone appeals for more than 60 days. The council is now required by the Municipal Code to act on appeals within a 60-day period.

FIRE — Approved a reciprocal fire aid agreement between the city and Hamilton Air Force Base.

EMERGENCY — Adopted a city emergency plan, outlining procedures in the event of a catastrophe, and heard Fire Chief Robert E. Marcucci report that San Rafael High School will "collapse" at 2 p.m. Friday in connection witn a county emergency preparedness drill.

PARK — Said the county should give high priority to a proposal for a North Bay Front Park, including tennis and swimming facilities, on former Smith Ranch land adjacent to city limits.

CLOSING — Said the west lane of Civic Center Drive will be closed from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. June 3 for a bicycle race sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Marin Cyclists bicycle club.

ONE-WAY — Referred to the traffic committee a proposal that the recent change to a one-way street pattern at First and D streets be reversed because traffic is "jamming up" in the area.

BIDS — Called for bids on lighting of tennis courts in Freitas Park.

PARKING LOT — Approved plans and earmarked $28,000 for a parking lot across from city hall at Fifth Avenue and D Street.

AGREEMENT — Approved an agreement with the federal government making San Rafael eligible for a federal aid urban project aimed at upgrading the Miracle Mile.

CHANGE ORDER — Approved two change orders for work on South San Pedro Road amounting to $5,500 in connection with slide repair work and correction of a wet subgrade area near Glenwood. The county will pay a similar amount in accordance with a joint-funding areement.

GREEN OAKS — Referred to staff a request by Terra Linda Development Co. for a time extension to complete subdivision improvements in the Green Oaks project near Freitas Parkway.

CONTRACT — Approved a $10,331 contract with the West Coast Spray Booth Inc., low bidder, for construction of a paint booth at the city corporation yards.

APPOINTMENTS — Said the terms of planning commission Thomas R. O'Toole and Albert J. Boro expire in June, and called for applicants to the seats. The council also called for applications to a seat on the Board of Examiners and Appeal vacated by William Scoville, who moved. City fathers said they will announce two appointments to the library board at 8 p.m. May 8. The terms of board members Richard H. Bradshaw and Ella Mae Minneman expired April 30, and both, along with Freeland E. Romans, have applied for the seats.

CLAIM — Denied claims of $506,000 by Russell Kern Jr. of 10 Lindenwood Court for damage done to his property and the Lindenwood neighborhood by a massive slide last January.

MORATORIUM — Said the city will request special exemptions for redevelopment projects if the Marin Municipal Water District slaps a permanent ban on new water connections.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. May 21.

Ruling Due On Lower Slay Charge

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA —Sonoma County Superior Court Judge John Moskowitz will rule Friday on a request to reduce the first degree murder charges against Eloy Farias, a Sonoma State College student.

Attorney Robert Y. Bell, representing Farias, asked in a hearing Friday that the murder charges be reduced to voluntary manslaughter.

Farias, 21, has been held without bail since his arrest March 30 on suspicion of killing Debra Lee Henthorn, 19, and her mother, Nancy Lee Henthorn, 42, at their Geyeserville home. Police said Farias was upset when the girl mocked him and rejected his proposal of marriage.

Bell argued that the preliminary hearing showed the slayings were not planned in advance. He said Farias was carrying a gun that day for self-protection.

Depty Dist. Atty. Gary Antolini argued there are no legal precedents to permit a superior court judge to reduce a murder charge after a defendant has been bound over for trial on that charge.

Moskowitz said he would also consider a request for bail for Farias at the Friday hearing.

Road Project Bidder Is Told

The California Division of Highways has announced the low bidder for a half-mile construction project to improve Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Larkspur.

Low bid of $181,953 was submitted by Freeman-Sondgroth Construction Co. of Mountain View to realign and widen a portion of the road near the west gate of San Quentin Prison. A section of the project is located along the bank of Corte Madera Creek.

Contract will be awarded after verification of bids by the department of public works, the department said.

San Rafael Council Approves Pay Hikes — 5 Per Cent Range

San Rafael city fathers last night unanimously approved salary increases of about 5 per cent for most city employees — including themselves. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The salary package, approved as proposed by City Mgr. William J. Bielser, provides salary increases for city police personnel, miscellaneous personnel and unclassified employees. It does not provide increases for city firemen, with whom negotiations are continuing, or for Bielser.

The package also empowers Bielser to reward or penalize unclassified employees, or city department heads, on the basis of their performance.

Total cost of the increase over the cost of salaries paid now is about $142,000, Bielser said.

Included in the pay hikes approved last night is a 5 per cent increase in salaries paid city councilmen, retroactive to 1970 when councilmen last increased their own pay. The action hikes from $200 to $230 per month the pay received by each councilman, and from $300 to $345 per month the pay received by Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

The proposal to hike council salaries was promptly endorsed by city fathers and passed without comment except for a remark by Councilman Fred E. Jensen that he was the only councilman unemployed.

Salary and benefit increases approved for policemen are a 5.5 per cent increase for all patrolmen; a 5 per cent increase for other police personnel except "Y" or secretarial personnel, and cadets, who will receive a 2.5 per cent increase; a special 5 per cent "one time" adjustment for sergeants and lieutenants aimed at reflecting responsibilities; a $50 increase in the $150 uniform allowance, and a $7.53 monthly increase in health benefits for police personnel.

The police pay hikes came after the city administration reached a settlement with the San Rafael Police Officer's Association.

Salary and benefit increases approved for miscellaneous employees are a 5 per cent increase for all full-time personnel, except "Y" rated employees, who will receive a 2.5 per cent increase; a $10 monthly increase in health benefits, and an increase in allowable accumulation of sick leave from 120 to 150 days. The council also approved "special inequity adjustments" for the positions of parks supervisor (10 per cent); shop and equipment supervisor (10 per cent); recreation supervisor, (2.5 per cent) and assistant parks supervisor (5 per cent).

The miscellaneous employees' pay hikes came after the city administration reached a settlement with the Marin County Employees Association, which represents the group.

Salary and benefits ranges approved for unclassified employees will be set on a scale ranging from a 5 per cent decrease to a 12.5 increase in existing salaries. Under the range, Bielser is empowered to set department head salaries.

Bielser said later that most cities give similar power to the city manager. The salary increases and salary ranges approved last night will become effective July 1, he said.

A Protest Over Firings

SAN CARLOS (UPI) — Some 100 black students picketed at San Carlos High School Monday to protest plans to fire two Negro teachers.

The protesters returned to class after Principal William Walti explained to them that the dismissals were the result of legislation which forced the school district to reduce the number of teachers.

The two to be fired were Mike Phelan, a student teacher, and Kenneth Melton, assistant to the vice principal.

Returned POW Seeks Divorce

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Navy Cmdr. Raymond Vohden, accusing his wife of seeing other men during his nearly eight years as a prisoner of war, filed for divorce Monday on the couple's 13th wedding anniversary.

The four-page bill filed in Circuit Court by Vohden's attorney said the couple separated on Feb. 14, 1973—two days after the Navy pilot returned home from North Vietnam.

Filed under a new Tennessee law that requires specific charges only if a divorce is contested, Vohden's brief petition contained only the required statistical data and the assertion that Mrs. Bonnye Jean Vohden was guilty of "cruel and inhuman treatment." But Vohden earlier had accused his wife of dating other men when he was a POW.

Gas Supplies Being Limited

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Standard Oil Co. of California is limiting gasoline supplies to service stations because of "exceedingly high demands."

The firm said Monday that the effect on motorists is expected to be "minimal."

Standard Oil said it is striving to make petroleum products available to meet its customers' essential requirements and urged motorists to conserve gas supplies by reducing speed, avoiding fast starts and eliminating "unnecessary" short trips.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

1. WHO was "Tarzan" in the movies? This tall, muscular New Yorker played a lot of outdoor roles, from an early American frontiersman, western cowboy, African explorer to that of a big city cop and undercover man. But in five films he was the ape man, created by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Greetings on his 54th birthday go to (A) Richard Arlen, (C) Burt Lancaster, (C) Lex Barker.

2. WHO led a band called "The Five Pennies"? This cornet player from Odgen, Utah, began in 1926, recording early white jazz and introducing Jimmy Dorsey, Joe Venuti, Benny Goodman, and Lennie Hayton. They were his early sidemen with Glenn Miller sometimes arraging and playing trombone. Greetings on his 68th birthday to (A) Red Nichols, (B) Red Norvo, (C) Red Buttons.

3. WHO did a television show called "Life is Worth Living"? This great religious leader was born in El Paso, Illinois and educated in the United States and Europe. It was radio, then television, which make his name a household word. Greetings on his 78th birthday to (A) Oral Roberts, (C) Billy Graham, (D) Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

4. WHO was the 33rd United States President? This American grew up on a farm, and in his youth loved to read military history. During World War I he was an Army officer in France and was instrumental in arranging peace in Europe after World War II. Winston Churchill credited him with making "great and valiant decisions." Today is the birthday of (A) Franklin D. Roosevelt, (B) Dwight Eisenhower, (C) Harry Truman.

ANSWERS: 1 - Lex Barker; 2 - Red Nichols; 3 - Fulton J. Sheen; 4 - Harry Truman.

HOW TO PLAY

Get The Sure-Fire Trick And Forget About The Speculation

There is some risk in taking finesses since even the surest finesses sometimes go wrong. When your choice is between a finesse and a sure-fire play, therefore, take the sure thing and let the speculation go.

SPADE ACTION

West opened the five of spades, and East won with the ace. East returned the nine of spades, and South took the king and ran three rounds of clubs at once to get rid of his last spade.

South next led a low diamond from dummy. West captured the king of diamonds with the ace and hopefully led the queen of spades.

South ruffed the spade, cashed the queen of diamonds and ruffed a low diamond with dummy's small trump. He next led the queen of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse.

DECEPTIVE AIR

West played a low trump with a very casual air, just as though he didn't hold the king. Declarer next led the jack of hearts from dummy and East played a low trump.

Since the first trump finesse had worked, South took it for granted that the second finesse would work also. He played a low trump from his hand and the ceiling fell in!

RETURNS TRUMP

West won with the king of hearts and returned a trump. This cleared out dummy's trumps and left South with a losing diamond still in his hand. Down one.

The correct play is to take the ace of trumps the second time instead of finessing. South can then ruff his last diamond with dummy's last trump. The opponents will get one trick with the king of trumps, but South will surely make the contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you have opened the bidding with one no-trump, and partner has responded two clubs. The opponents remain silent, and it is up to you again, with:

♠ - A 9 6 3
♥ - K 7 2
♦ - K Q 5 3
♣ - A J.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Partner's response asks you to name a major suit if you can, and you must therefore show the four-card spade suit.

Six Musicians In Two Recitals

The Marin Music Chest will present six young musicians in two recitals this week.

Last year's Music Chest scholarship winner, Jerry LeClerc, and Wendy Tomlinson, will play two cello duets at 10:15 a.m., Thursday at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Four flutists will play "Symphonico" by Reicha and "Flute Quartette" by Dubois in a public recital at 1 p.m. Sunday in the lounge of the Peacock Gap Country Club. The flutists are Nancy Hall, Lynn Becker, Louise Horen and Mary Setrakian.

Fuchsias, ferns, geraniums, African violets, terrariums and dish gardens will be sold all day Saturday in front of the Crocker-Citizens Bank in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, by the Marin County Branch of the American Fuchsia Society.

Townhouse Project Wins County Planner Approval

The commission's action with new Commissioner Marie J. Sessi abstaining, came over the protests of Nancy L. Bennett of the Sorich Park Area Residents which in March persuaded county supervisors to reject a 44-unit master plan for the 15-acre site

Supervisors, in turning down the master plan, referred it back to the planning commission, saying they would look more favorably on a plan for 20 units for the Sacramento Avenue site

San Rafael attorney Albert Bianchi, representing property owner Max D. Schenk, yesterday outlined the latest plan, noting it limits development to about two acres of the picturesque site, the rest to be dedicated as open space.

Referring to the San Anselmo City Council's call for no more than 16 units on the site, Bianchi charged that "since the city can't buy it (because of the open space bond defeat), they want to acquire it through zoning."

The commission, which approved plans in February for 44 units on the site, wasted little time in approving the 20-unit plan.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

STRAWBERRY — Approved architectural modifications to the once controversial Strawberry Cove Apartments off Seminary Drive. The 72-unit apartment complex has changed hands from Paul J. Broman to Peter Heywood of Mill Valley.

APPEAL — Upheld the decision of the deputy zoning administrator who turned down a variance request from John E. Vilicich for a mobile home on property at 19175 Shoreline Highway, Marshall. Vilicich had appealed the decision.

LAND DIVISION — Upheld the decision of the planning director who turned down a land division request from Thomas B. Deffebach Jr. to divide part of the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way at Blackfield Drive for a home site.

USE PERMIT — Rejected the request of Arthur H. Meyer for a new use permit to operate a nursery on the two-acre Richardson Bay site once used by Whole Systems recycling. Meyer has failed to comply with conditions of his original use permit to upgrade the property.

REBELO — Postponed to May 21 a decision on how the Frank Rebelo ranch on Vineyard Road near Novato should be rezoned. Nearby residents want it classified to the A-60 designation (one dwelling per 60 acres) while Rebelo wants a higher density permitting up to 450 homes. The commission asked its staff to return with recommendations on a compromise permitting some higher density use if clustered.

FLOOD ZONING — Recommended county supervisors approve new flood plain zoning for lands around Bel Marin Keys near Novato. The flood plain zoning would require developers to leave some lands along Novato Creek for ponding and flood control.

CHAIRMAN — Formally elected John F. West chairman, replacing Jack G. Nixon who was elected to the San Rafael City Council. West said he plans to keep the commission on its agenda schedule. The commission meeting ended two hours late, West having departed earlier

Woodacre will have a new post office in time for Christmas, the Army Corps of Engineers has announced.

The corps presently is soliciting bids to build a new main post office for the San Geronimo Valley community. Bidding will close May 30.

The present post office, considered too small for the growth of the area, was occupied in 1960, according to Sam Fraser, realty specialist for the corps.

The new building will be a 2,320-square-foot structure on a 25,000 square foot lot, which will provide off-street parking for office patrons and employees, Fraser said.

Construction is expected to begin in 90 days. The building should be completed within six months of the award date of the contract, about mid December, Fraser said.

Registration Set For Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration for all three of the Kentfield School District's elementary schools will be tomorrow and Thursday between 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Parents registering their children at Kent, Greenbrae and Wolfe Grade schools should bring legal verification of birth (children must be five years old by Dec. 1 to enter kindergarten in September) and immunization records.

Bank Is Formed To Help Women

NEW YORK (UPI) — The formation of a new bank specializing in helping women financially was announced Monday by a group that included feminist Betty Friedan.

"We promise special services to women in banking, including opportunities in employment and management," Eileen Preiss, vice chairwoman of the State Democratic Committee and coordinator of the banking group, told a news conference.

Most of the bank's income will come from commercial services to corporations and conventional bank customers. Miss Preiss said, but the main purpose in organizing a women's bank is to give priority to women's needs in credit, business loans and mortgages.

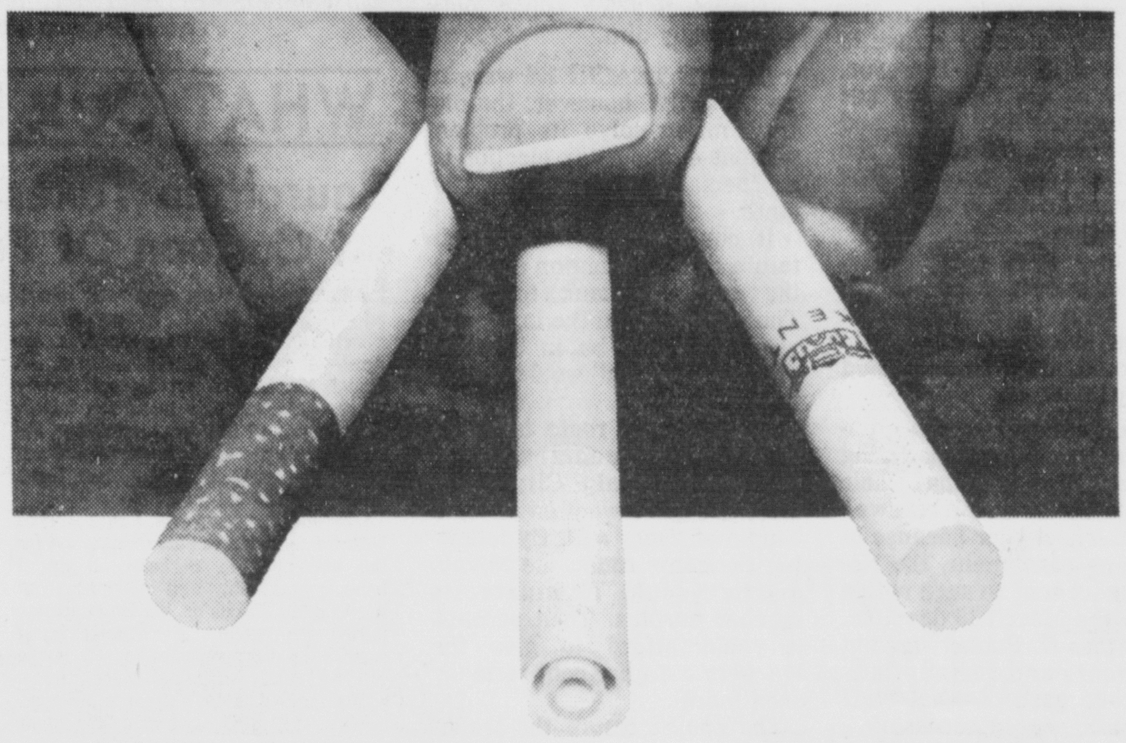
Harsh, blah or smooth taste.



What makes the difference?

Generally, two things make your cigarette taste the way it does.

The tobacco and the filter.

The tobacco gives it taste. The filter smooths it out.

And often, the difference between harsh, blah and smooth tasting cigarettes can be traced to their filters.

The beauty of the Kent Micronite filter is the way it smooths the quality tobaccos we use in Kent. Not too much, so that the taste turns blah. Or too little, so that the taste turns harsh.

It's done with a special process (so special it's patented) by which the Micronite filter actually chooses which tastes to hold back and which to let pass.

What it lets pass is the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

Novato Teachers' Timing Very Poor

The Novato Teachers Association was well advised to delay its proposed strike vote, even though the pay raise offered by the school board apparently is far below that demanded by teacher groups.

The NTA and Novato Federation of Teachers were ill advised to propose a strike in the first place.

WE THINK there is no doubt that Novato teachers have a legitimate grievance. They have gone for two years without an increase in their salary scale, while inflation has continued and escalated.

True, most of the teachers have received actual pay increases by advancing to the next higher step of the salary ladder — an automatic increase that teachers refuse to recognize as a raise. However, for those at the top there has been no salary hike at all, and for those down the ladder, the automatic step increase has been unsufficent to keep up with inflation.

Yes, they have a grievance. But we do not believe the strike should be a weapon to settle teachers' grievances. And even if it should, their timing could scarcely be worse.

WHILE MOST school districts in Marin were notifying first-year teachers that their contracts might not be renewed for next school year because of decreasing enrollment, the Novato district sent no such notice prior to the March 15 deadline. Supt. James G. Bunker thought retirements and resignations would take care of what staff reduction appeared necessary.

Then — after the March 15 deadline — the Defense Department announced it is closing Hamilton Air Force Base except for a housekeeping force. That meant a further drop in enrollment — one which will find Novato Unified School District with perhaps 40 teachers more than it needs, but forbidden by law from dismissing them.

In such a situation, the teachers are lucky they all have jobs, even at pay that is lower than in most neighboring districts.

Even to give the teachers the 6.1 per cent across-the-board raise that its offer reportedly entails, the Novato board may have to either (1) pass a tax election to increase the amount per pupil that it can spend on its schools, or (2) get extra money from some place else — presumably the state.

The chance for either looks exceedingly dim.

IF THE TEACHERS were to go on strike, however, the district might solve its problem without either a tax election or a special handout from the state.

It could, under the law, obtain a court injunction ordering the teachers back to work. Those who defied the injunction would thereby be in contract violation — and would forfeit their jobs.

This was the route taken by Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City when teachers there went on strike a couple of years ago. By following the same route, the Novato district could eliminate its teacher surplus. Then perhaps it could afford to give the teachers a 6.1 per cent raise (or even more).

The choice before the teachers, then, may be this: accept a lower raise (or even none at all), or reduce the staff by their own strike action.

It's not an inviting choice.

Things That Go Bump

Night in Marin magnifies noises. Things that go bump in the night can lead to unease and ghosts and prowlers in the imagination. Raccoons are the prime culprit at our house, but it took years of bumpings to find it out. They rattle and pound on doors, tip things over, rattle the windows, make all kinds of noise. Imagine being awakened by the sound of fingernails clawing at glass! Not Dracula. Just Miss Raccoon wanting in the kitchen.

Moretti Believes He Has Way To Thwart Public

By EARL G. WATERS

Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti has taken the position that a legislator should be a leader of public opinion rather than represent the wishes of those who elected him.

He made this clear in explaining his opposition to any death penalty legislation. He said he is individually opposed to it.

Well, don't look now, Bobby, but the people you think you are leading all went the other way last November.

By more than two-to-one. 5.5 million Californians voted to restore the death penalty after it had been struck down by the state Supreme Court.

To carry out their wishes, Sen. George Deukmejian drafted a bill (SB 450) listing those crimes for which the death penalty shall be mandatory. It has passed the Senate 27 to 12.

ALTHOUGH MORETTI has stated he thinks such a bill would pass the Assembly, he has predicted no death penalty will clear the Legislature this year.

He would like the public to believe that the decision is beyond his control. He thinks that the bill will die in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee and those members will get the blame.

But the truth is that he alone appointed all of the members of that committee. And he did so with the full knowledge of how those members stood on the issue. He knew any capital punishment bill would go to that committee, for he alone is the one who assigns the bills to committee. It was premeditated murder.

And it is difficult to understand how Moretti, who aspires to be governor, belives he can escape responsibility for legislative failure to carry out the will of the people in this matter. It is even more difficult to understand how he figures the voters will elect him governor when he thwarts their wishes in so serious a matter. Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, although he personally opposed capital punishment, did not refuse to impose the penalty. Still he was defeated by more than a million votes by Ronald Reagan who strongly supported the death penalty.

DESPITE MORETTI'S position and his apparent belief that he can control the committee, it may be that the members will decide they had better follow the mandates of the people who elected them.

For, excepting Assemblyman John Miller, D-Oakland, they were all elected by districts which voted overwhelmingly to restore the death penalty.

Observers, however, note that legislators sometimes develop lapses of memory between elections. It is for that reason that supporters of the Deukmejian bill are urging the voters to forcefully refresh their memories by bombarding them with mail.

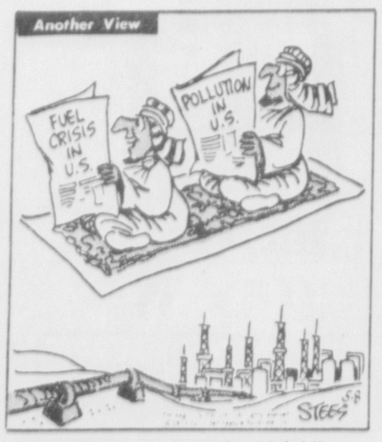
The memory of the voter is sometimes more durable than that of some of those they elect.



"We've got it made, Abdul."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

An editorial cartoon apparently intended to illustrate Earl C. Waters' column, "Sacramento Scene" appeared in the April 24 issue of your newspaper. Although Mr. Waters' article could hardly be characterized as a moderate, impartial analysis of the compensation of the University's president, it was factual and adult. The cartoon, on the other hand, was scurrilous and juvenile.

Over the past few years, I have worked both for the state in Sacramento and for the university in Berkeley. I am, I believe, reasonably well informed about most major issues in higher education during that period. Fortunately, most such issues were resolved quietly in the give and take of informal negotiation or before the legislature's appropriate committees. In some instances, important policy differences did, of course, require either the governor, the president of the university, or both, to seek a public forum.

Unfortunately, however, there were a few instances in which misunderstandings — possibly mistrust — caused voices to become shrill over trivial issues. Molehills are easily seen as mountains when vision is dimmed in almost mindless clashes between political demagoguery on one hand and academic arrogance on the other. The relative compensation of Governor Reagan and President Hitch is a candidate for this molehill-mountain category, and I am distressed to see your newspaper pressing its candidacy.

The issues of executive compensation are extremely complex, but three or four factors should be considered in partial answer to Mr. Waters' article.

First, whatever disagreements may exist between the state and the university, I seriously doubt if the governor, his advisors, or anyone else believe that substantially more able leadership for higher education could be obtained for substantially less money.

Second, the salary of the governor is not a primary attraction of the office. The governor, like all elected officials, is compensated by political power . . . In contrast, university presidents rarely seek their positions because they seek or expect political power. Academic administrators are recruited by being paid competitive salaries to perform onerous if honorable tasks.

Third, the size of the governor's salary is important, nevertheless. It sets a ceiling on the pay of other state employees . . . For the most part, however, they are recruited and paid on a competitive basis just like senior academic administrators . . . The real issue raised by Mr. Waters is not whether President Hitch and Chancellor Dumke are paid too much but whether Governor Reagan is paid too little.

Finally, California has been extraordinarily remiss in failing to provide an adequate permanent residence for its governors . . . Again, the issue should not be the residences of the chief academic administrators, for these residences serve highly legitimate purposes. The real issue is whether or not to move as quickly as possible to provide a fitting residence for the governor of the nation's largest state.

In closing, I repeat my opinion that the cartoon is scurrilous and juvenile and that its publication is irresponsible journalism. The cartoon detracts from the arguments of Mr. Waters, insults the intelligence of your readers, and lowers the quality of your newspaper. Although Mr. Waters and I disagree on the salary issues he raises, I suggest that he would agree that your newspaper should apologize to President Hitch for printing the cartoon.

FRANK M. BOWEN

(Columnist Waters' comment was: "I would think your editorial cartoon of April 24 hilarious if it didn't so accurately depict the arrogance of the Hitch contract . . . I think drawing him as a fat potentate not unfair at all." — Editor)

ERWIN D. CANHAM

Events Vindicate Free Press; Now It Must Exercise Care

In the perennial exercise of their adversary role with government, they feel they have been vindicated.

For some three years, they have been under sharp attack from the Nixon administration. Vice President Agnew went at them with bitter alliterative phrases, and threats against the regulated media. The government, for the first time in modern history, attempted prior restraint to prevent publication of news material. The White House press spokesman sharply condemned certain newspapers. Judges all over the land threw newsmen in jail for refusing to disclose confidential sources. It was the most serious governmental challenge the newspapers have faced since the beginning of the 19th Century.

NOW MUCH has changed. The President has extended the olive branch and his secretary has apologized. The case brought against Daniel Ellsberg — regarding whose materials prior restraint was attempted and failed because the courts acted —may well soon itself be thrown out of court. The vice president has said many conciliatory things.

But, much more important, efforts led by a few news media and then joined by many have resulted in uncovering abuses in American government on an unprecedented scale. The press has done its duty, and the air is much clearer.

There is no cause for exultation. The administration of President Nixon is grievously wounded. Many facts have to be brought out and sifted before we know where guilt lies. The President's staff is in shambles. His personal prestige and honor are gravely jeopardized. How the mess will be cleaned up, and what the rest of his term will be like, are mysteries.

Meantime, responsible editors are reminding themselves of the awesome issues at stake, and of the need for caution. It has to be remembered, of course, that anybody is presumed innocent until proved guilty.

MANY PEOPLE have been accused, but little guilt has actually been proved. And this is a time still when rumors are flying through the air like confetti at a wedding. They can't all be true. Too many get into print.

Wise newspeople remind themselves that their profession is as subject to error as any other. A great many people in the nation, despite current vindications, have lost confidence in the news media. Sometimes this is caused by sloppy reporting or bias. The press needs to be careful that it never falls itself into the pit into which its critics have tumbled. Its duty is not to itself as a business enterprise, but to the people it must inform as accurately as is humanly possible.

So a rather sobering attitude is emerging. It is especially conditioned by the terrible gravity of the present situation. American executive government must not be weakened into impotence. Nobody questions the seriousness of problems around the world, or at home. Nobody doubts the necessity of a strong presidency, working beside strong legislative and judicial branches.

But this effective government, like the press, must exist within an effective exercise of decency and balance. Open government, countervailing power, respect for and listening to the views of others — all these are essential to protect and restore the institutions which have been so endangered.

WHILE SENSATIONS continue to burst forth in the news, few of them are yet conclusive. It will take a lot of time to get the facts really nailed down. We will have to be patient. And in this interlude we would do well to pass few conclusive judgments. Most of us are terribly saddened and indignant at what seems to have been going on. But it all has to be clarified and proved out.

Government must go on. A considerable start at clean-up has been made. The press, its first elation worn off, needs to be as fair as it is vigilant. And it should seek healing for the nation's leadership, for that is what is most needed.

Absence Of Promised U.S. Aid May Bring New Vietnam War

All the noise is about alleged violations of the cease-fire in Vietnam. But the real danger to a stable peace out there comes not from what may or may not be an unfavorable balance on violations of the old agreement but from the present inability of the Nixon White House to carry out the economic terms of the agreement which Henry Kissinger worked out some five months ago with the men from Hanoi.

Article 21 of the agreement says that "the United States will contribute to healing the wounds of war and to postwar reconstruction of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and throughout Indochina."

A North Vietnam army of somewhere over 100,000 men is deployed in or near South Vietnam. As a bargaining weapon it is in impressive shape. It has over the last four months been resupplied, reequipped and its casualties replaced. It is an entirely credible military force in strategic location. It could take the offensive at any moment. It has not been involved in heavy fighting for a year. The village-grabbing attempted just before the cease-fire went into effect was done by Viet Cong units, not by the regular North Vietnam units. They, the NVN regulars, have had no heavy fighting since the Easter offensive of a year ago.

So Hanoi's main bargaining weapon is in credible shape for the next round of talks in Paris.

BUT DR. KISSINGER'S counterweapon is in damaged shape.

When he worked out the cease-fire agreement things were very different. There had been no POWs coming home with atrocity stories. And Watergate was still only a wistful hope among discouraged Democrats. 'Way back last October Dr. Kissinger could promise American reconstruction aid to Hanoi with every expectation of being able to deliver. He could promise it "in pursuance of traditional policy." It is "traditional" for Americans to help out their enemies after a war. It was done, to excellent advantage, after World War II for both Japan and Germany.

But the POW stories make a big difference. So long as the memory is vivid, Congress is bound to be reluctant to give Mr. Nixon any money for rebuilding Hanoi and Haiphong. And Mr. Nixon's ability to influence the Congress has been eroded deeply by Watergate.

The result is that, certainly as of this moment, Dr. Kissinger is unable to carry out the American side of the essential bargain in the cease-fire agreements.

HANOI, OBVIOUSLY, is going to move toward a stable peace only if it gets a better deal that way than by war. Its chances in war are good, now that American forces have been withdrawn. An aid program must be available, and good, to be worth more than the war chances. Countries act on a basis of self-interest. Hanoi is going to elect war or peace on the basis of which is more promising.

Right now Dr. Kissinger has too little to offer in fulfillment of the American part of the agreement. This, of course, is why President Nixon is again rattling his bombs.

'Public' Discussion Of Public Business At Breakfast Meetings

The Novato City Council, judging by its early season form, is going to set a new world record for meetings in a calendar year.

Along with regular meetings, joint meetings general plan meetings and budget meetings, the council has embarked on a series of breakfast meetings with boards of other agencies in the Novato area.

ONE MORNING last week several members of the council had a "public" meeting with the Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory Board at the Alvarado Inn.

The public consisted of two waitresses, a reporter, and a young couple staying at the inn, who arrived for breakfast and sat in a far nook.

Technically, the meetings are legal if announced in advance and open to the public, as are the dinner meetings of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen, which aren't attended by the public either.

However, the hour and the inconvience of attending virtually excludes the public from breakfast sessions.

The council has had such sessions since January with boards of Novato Unified School District, Novato Sanitary District, Novato Fire Protection District and Novato Flood Control Zone Advisory and North Marin County Water District.

When the council decided in January to seek meetings with other boards to discuss mutual problems and coordinate activities, it suggested breakfast meetings. There wasn't a word about public inconvenience.

The council, with a heavy schedule of night meetings, favored a morning session, but agreed that the invited board could pick another time if it wished.

Councilmen aimed for meetings with ther boards on a rotating basis, with provision that if there wasn't anything to discuss sessions would be cancelled.

ABOUT HALF the scheduled breakfast meetings have been cancelled for lack of an agenda, and there were none last month.

The attitude has prevailed that they consist of short talks, more or less exploratory and informal, and don't result in immediate action, so the public isn't missing out on anything momentous.

Apparently the public agrees, for there has been virtually no comment except protest by Betty J. Machaco, who recently was elected to the Novato Unified School District board.

True, there hasn't been any action, but during breakfast discussions the selling of the Marion School site, the water delivery problem, and the sanitary district's long-range capabilities have been talked about.

Bedayan Enters Pleas To Shallock Deaths

Brent W. Bedayan, indicted on murder charges in the slaying of three members of a Mill Valley family, yesterday entered dual pleas of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Superior Court Judge David Menary Jr. appointed two psychiatrists to examine Bedayan and submit reports to the court by May 21.

He also set July 9 for the beginning of what is expected to be a three-week jury trial of Bedayan's case, and set a pretrial hearing for July 3.

The 22-year-odl Bedayan has been held in Marin County Jail since April 17, the day after Mill Valley police and firemen found the bodies of Melvin Schallock, 61; his wife, ruth, 56, and their son Daniel, 19, killed by shotgun blasts outside the Schallock home.

Action Wanted On Seat Belts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked Monday by Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar to pass a resolution calling on the states to make automobile seat belts mandatory.

"Twenty-four out of every 25 persons in cars equipped with lap and shoulder safety belts fail to wear them," Brinegar said. "Further, three out of every four persons fail to wear avaiable lap safety belts."

Twenty-three states are reported considering mandatory seat belt legislation.

While the proposed Congressional resolution carries no legal weight, an aide indicated that federal funds could be withheld from states that did not adopt such legislation.

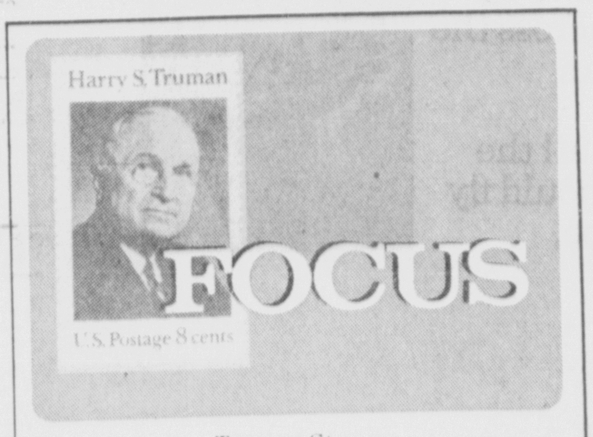
Wireless Phone Prototype Stolen

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Patrick K. Bault was charged Monday with stealing a prototype of a wireless telephone from a parked car and taking sales orders for duplicates from the Mexican government.

Bault, 51, of Las Vegas, Nev., tried to obtain a patent on the phone in Mexico City and agreed to sell Mexico 250,000 of them for use in police cars, police said.

He was arrested Friday at the Long Beach airport, allegedly en route to San Diego to meet with another prospective buyer for his purported invention.

Bault stole the prototype, now reported to be in Mexico City, from a car belonging to Mobile Systems Inc., of El Cajon, Calif., police said.



Truman Stamp

Born on this day in 1884 in Missouri, Harry S. Truman was a World War I captain in artillery, a businessman, a judge, a Senator, and a Vice President. As our 33rd President, his desk plaque read, "The Buck Stops Here," and he was called upon to make some of history's most momentous Hot and Cold War decisions — one notable example being the dropping of the atomic bomb. Mr. Truman also was President when 25 years ago the United States formally recognized the newly-formed nation of Israel. A commemorative Truman Stamp will be issued today in Independence, Mo.

DO YOU KNOW — What does the "S" in Harry S. Truman stand for?

MONDAY'S ANSWER — Jerusalem is Israel's capital.

How The New New Nixon Came To Be President

WASHINGTON — We've had an Old Nixon and a New Nixon, and last week on nationwide television we saw a New New Nixon. How the New New Nixon came to be President is a very interesting story.

Back in January, 1972, the New Nixon was engaged in working out the details of the Vietnam cease-fire and solving difficult problems with Red China and the Soviet Union. Because the duties of the presidency consumed so much of his time, he turned over his re-election campaign to the Old Nixon, who at the time was unemployed and needed the work.

On June 17, while the New Nixon was in Florida resting up from his trip to Moscow, he received word of the Watergate break-in. He was appalled at this senseless, illegal action, and was shocked to learn that employees of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President were involved.

THE FIRST THING he did was to call the Old Nixon and order an immediate investigation to find out who was responsible.

The Old Nixon promised the President that he would leave no stone unturned in rooting out the people who were involved in this sordid affair.

As the weeks went by, the Washington Post and other newspapers started writing that people in the White House were involved in the Watergate. The President called in the Old Nixon and asked him what he knew about it.

The Old Nixon replied: "It is rotten journalism, hearsay and mudslinging at its worst. I have talked to John Dean III, Charles Colson, John Mitchell, Jeb Magruder, H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman, and they have assured me that no one in a position of any responsibility had anything to do with the Watergate. I also have seen Pat Gray's FBI files and everyone is clean."

The New Nixon breathed a sigh of relief, but he gave further instructions to the Old Nixon. "I don't want a whitewash. The chips must fall where they may."

"Yessir."

ON MARCH 21, the President received new information implicating members of his own White House family. This information shocked and appalled the New Nixon because the White House was a sacred trust.

He called in the Old Nixon and demanded his resignation.

"I'm not going to be the scapegoat," the Old Nixon shouted. "If I go, I'm going to involve a lot of other people. This whole Watergate mess wasn't my idea, and I'm going to name names."

THE NEW NIXON told the Old Nixon he could stay on. Then the New Nixon went to Camp David to think about what he should do. He knew he had to get rid of the Old Nixon.

However, he was hoping to save Ehrlichman and Haldeman.

But the pressure was too great, and a group of highly influential Republicans flew in secretly to see him. They told him he would not only have to get rid of the Old Nixon, Kleindienst, John Dean III, Ehrlichman and Haldeman, but he would also have to go himself.

The New Nixon couldn't believe it. "I haven't been accused of anything."

One of the Republican leaders said, "In matters as sensitive as guarding the integrity of our democratic process, it is essential that the public have total confidence in the President of the United States. While you are probably innocent, you were in the White House when all this took place."

"But who will replace me?"

THE DOOR OPENED and in walked the New New Nixon. "I'm sorry about this, Dick," the New New Nixon said, "but the country comes first."

The New New Nixon sat down in the President's Chair and started dictating the speech he gave April 30.

A Solution To Billboards

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Removing large billboards from the nation's highways by 1976 would be a good way to celebrate the country's 200th anniversary, two leading architects suggested Monday.

S. Scott Ferebee Jr., president of the American Institute of Architects, and Archibald Rogers, president-elect of the organization, made the suggestion at a news conference at the AIA convention.

"It would be a nice birthday present for the bicentennial," Rogers said.

The AIA "has urged amendments to the Highway Beautification Act of 1965," Rogers said.

Second Low Sewer Plant Bid Accepted

Failure to fill in a blank space in a bid application may cost a low bidder the job and may cost the taxpayers $18,000 more than need be to build Mill Valley's new sewage treatment plant. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 1.)

City Mgr. William H. Cunningham told the city council last night that the city has to accept the second lowest bid of C and C Bohrer Inc. of Palo Alto even though it is about $18,000 higher than one from Albay Construction of Concord because Albay forgot to fill in one blank. The city must come up with $2,000 and the federal government with $16,000 to meet the difference, he said.

Cunningham said the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, which is funding 80 per cent of the $300,000 project, refuses to consider Albay because of the empty blank, and "there's no way the EPA will change its mind."

The blank was on a sheet where the bidder was to list the trades that would work on the job and then was asked to relist the same trades in a space asking if the bidder would follow fair hiring practices.

H. Richard Soennichsen, of the Walnut Creek consulting firm of Yoder-Trotter-Orlob and Associates, which is handling the project, told the city council that Albay simply forgot to repeat the list of trades.

He said he did not notice the mistake when he opened the bids but, if he had, he would have been legally powerless to do anything.

"Doesn't the law allow for corrections of bids?" asked Councilman Robert E. Capron. "Can't we make it crystal clear to all staff and consultants that they have our authority to correct any errors like this?"

Soennichsen said the EPA is adamant because of previous lawsuits from disappointed second lowest bidders in similar cases.

The council voted to continue the matter until May 21 when the city attorney and staff was to report back on efforts to get the EPA to change its mind.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

CLOSED SESSION — Held a closed meeting to discuss appointment of a negotiating team to consult with employees on salaries.

YOUTH — Resolved to appoint a youth representative as a non-voting member of each city adult commission or board.

DEVELOPMENT TAX — Voted to have the city attorney draw up an ordinance waiving development or "bedroom" taxes for nonprofit corporations building low and moderate income housing.

NORTH RIDGE — Asked Councilman Capron to report to the North Ridge Committee that the council favors setting up a county service area which would raise local funds by taxes or bond issues to buy the North Ridge Area.

FIREHOUSE — Set June 6 as the date to discuss final costs of the firehouse and other budget priorities.

STREETS — Continued until June 4 a proposal to require property owners abutting major arterial streets to pay for improvements done from their property up to the center line of the street.

BUS DEPOT — Continued until May 21 a proposed lease with Richard Magnani who plans to turn the city bus depot into a restaurant.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Announced an opening on the Human Rights Mini-Board.

METERS — Appropriated $3,900 for new 10-hour parking meters at Brown's Store and Mayer Building parking lots.

STRAWBERRY — Asked for city staff to investigate the possibility of the city holding an annexation election in Strawberry.

Senate Bill, Budget Discussion Is Set

Harlan Barry, assistant city manager of Larkspur, will discuss the effects of Senate Bill 90 on the city's 1973-74 budget at a meeting of the Larkspur Town Meeting tomorrow at 8 o'clock in city hall.

Warren H. Patton, chairman of the Town Meeting, said the public is invited to the meeting. The city's 1973-74 estimated budget totals haven't been prepared yet, but the provisions of SB90 will limit revenues to the amount raised by a tax rate no higher than this year's rate of $1.98 per $100 assessed valuation.

TWA's Ambassador Service.*

It's what that long trip to Europe should be.

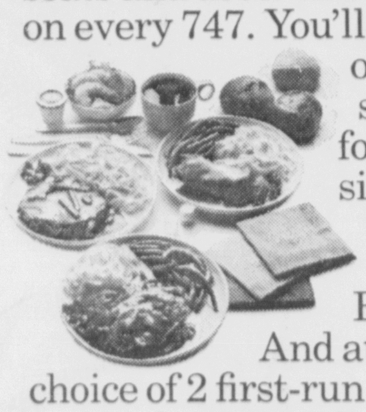
TWA has more 747 and 707 non-stop and direct flights to more European cities than ever before.

We've got a daily 747 direct polar flight at 10:45 AM to London and Paris. The only direct 707 flights to Rome, Athens, Milan and Tel Aviv. And connecting service to Frankfurt.

So whether you're going on a business trip, or just taking a vacation, our schedule can fit your schedule.

Only TWA gives you Ambassador Service.

That means you get completely refurnished seats and decor in both First Class and Economy on every 747. You'll get Twin Seats in Economy on every 707, so if nobody's sitting next to you, you can fold down the middle seat and sit 2 across instead of 3 across.



You'll have a choice of 5 international meals in First Class and 3 in Economy. And at an additional charge, a choice of 2 first-run movies†.

And on every 747 there'll be a First-Class lounge, where you can relax and have a drink.

And an Inflight Ambassador who can help you rent a car or book connecting flights. Right on the plane.

This is what has made TWA the most popular airline to Europe (in fact we carried more people across the Atlantic last year than anybody).

So if you're flying all the way to Europe, you should fly the best way to Europe.

TWA is what travel should be to London, Paris, Rome, Milan and Frankfurt.

By KAREN PETERSON

"Russians do not believe in art that doesn't have political impact," explained Dr. Mary Arnold, a Russian language and literature professor at Sonoma State College. "The new society of communism is predicated on new consciousness and new art."

Dr. Arnold, a Tiburon resident, speaks of the trends in Russian literature and the people of Russia with a knowledge gained both from years of study and her experiences in the country during the turbulent 1940's and early '30s.

The 10 years Dr. Anold spent in Russia with her parents were plagued first, she said, by the first Five Year Plan and economic troubles and later by the first purges of Stalin.

Sitting in her office at the college, Dr. Arnold said in all the arts the role of the artist is to help cultivate the new Soviet man. And the basis of the new Soviet man, she said, is primarily identified as working for the good of the collective.

ALL THE ARTS, including literature, must follow the guidelines of Socialist realism, a style espousing the goals of Soviet society, said Dr. Arnold, who has also been a linguist, translator and interpreter.

Calling this style a detriment to Soviet literature, especially during the Stalin era, she said she recognizes a relative rebirth in liberalism today. Yet, she claims, the Khrushchev era was even more liberal for writers than it is today.

Many authors purged by Stalin have now been rehabilitated, but others, including Nobel Prize winner Alexander Solzhenitsyn, have fallen out of favor and become "unpersons," she said.

Solzhenitsyn attacks values, she said, moral values. And because of this, she pointed out that he has not been mentioned in the new Soviet Literary Encylopedia.

The result of authors falling out of this prescribed pattern is a massive network of self-publishing, the Soviet equivalent to the underground press.

Copying machines are literally under strict guard, said Dr. Arnold, who received her doctorate at the University of California at Berkeley. Authors such as Solzhenitsyn type out whole books outside official channels. These books, she continued, are widely read in limited circles of intellectuals in big cities.

"RUSSIAN LITERATURE has always offered insight into

DR. MARY ARNOLD

society. We're getting a lot of unofficial, underground literature which provides us with an insight behind the facade," she said.

When it comes to Western authors, the Russian people still admire Jack London, said Mrs. Arnold, also a member of the International Hospitality Center in San Francisco, a semi-official arm of the U.S. State Department.

And very often, she said, a favorite form of entertainment to Soviet visitors is a trip to Glen Ellen, the home of Jack London.

But the Russian people are beginning to move into more contemporary, sophisticated American literature, she said, including the works of J. D. Salinger, William Faulkner, John Updike and Truman Capote.

"There's also a Hemingway cult in Russia that goes back to the 1950s," she added.

Russian literature is social problem oriented, she said, and earlier Russian literature was most often strong in religious beliefs.

While the practice of religion is legal in the Soviet Union, the constitution forbids religious teaching. Nevertheless, said Dr. Arnold, a great many people still attend church, including many young people.

SURPRISED AT the crowds of people in churches on her last visit, Dr. Arnold believes it is an indication of a religious revival. And the number of young people in attendance also indicates people are taking the risks to give their children a religious upbringing, she said.

Besides increased religious activity, Dr. Arnold also sees a great deal of restoration of prerevolutionary art, and she calls this a reaffirmation of the past culture.

Icons, for example, are on display and rooms of museums are dedicated to them, a practice not true at one time, she said.

The visitor to the Soviet Union has the opportunity to see Old Russia, she said, including the churches, palaces and crown jewels of the Czars.

But the tourist cannot just wander around the country, she said. He must have a set itinerary approved by the Soviet tourist agency.

This restriction is largely a way of controlling contacts between the people and foreigners, said Dr. Arnold. People in contact with tourists, tour guides for instance, are screened and cleared by the government first, she said.

"People always want contacts," Dr. Arnold said about the Russian people. "They have a desire to meet and understand foreigners and the foreigner's world. But they are cautious — it depends on where they are and what they are doing.

"They're curious. Coverage of the West is limited and selective," she said.

At the same time, it is difficult to take a measurement of the discontent or contentment of the people, she said. It is even more difficult because of the language and the general caution the Russians have in dealing with foreigners.

And yet, she added, there are ways of getting feelings from the people by listening to the type of questions they ask. Russians are very frank, she said, if you know where their minds are and if you are able to communicate with them, you can get below the surface.

Party Is Held For Architects

By MOLLY MARIN

Parties, reunions and tours are being held in conjunction with the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco this week.

Architects and their wives who traveled together on a special trip to Japan in 1968, were honored today at a reunion luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bernardi in Sausalito.

Co-hosts for the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Cabell Gwathmey of Belvedere, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill of Los Altos Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Worley Wong of Oakland. The 60 guests are attending the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco.

A chartered bus brought the visitors to Sausalito from their hotels in San Francisco. To emphasize the Oriental reunion theme, a Japanese menu is planned.

Included in the exhibit will be Mrs. Bernardi's tapestries and line drawings, Maggie Merriman's paintings, Rosalie Hackeny's stained glass, Rex Gros' sculptures, and Douglas Herr's sculpture. Sheri Williams, Mrs. Bernardi's niece, will act as hostess to the architects and their wives at the gallery. The Bernardi home will be open to their professional friends during the convention.

HOUSEGUESTS OF Mr. and Mrs. George Monardo of Mill Valley will be Mr. and Mrs. William Klene who will arrive from their home in Hearndon, Va., Sunday (May 6). Klene, the brother of Marilyn Monardo, will be attending sessions of the American Institute of Architects convention in San Francisco.

Hildegarde Klene will have an exhibit of her original wall hangings at the Imprint Shop on Jackson Place, San Francisco through this month. Mrs. Klene uses a hand-hooking method and wool yarn to carry out her designs.

The visitors will spend some time at the Monardo's summer home at Lake Tahoe before returning to the East.

TWO SURPRISES occurred Friday evening at the Martin E. Barretts' home in Larkspur. Barrett was surprised at the party arranged by his wife for his 40th birthday, and Mrs. Barrett was surprised that her husband arrived in time.

The day before the party Barrett told her he would be late due to an appointment in Sacramento, so not wanting to spoil the surprise, Mrs. Barrett kept quiet and hoped, she said.

Barrett was greeted with a poster sized baby picture of himself, a cake inscribed, "You've Come A Long Way Baby," and more than 40 guests, including the man who introduced him to his wife 18 years ago in New York, Erskine Buffano of Mill Valley.

Other guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Vincent Keyes, Gene Wilson, George Burton and the Rev. Albert J. Smith and Jerry Peterson.

MRS. LEONARD James of Sausalito will leave May 25 for her native Denmark, where she and her small son, David Alden James, will visit her parents and friends in Copenhagen.

MRS. HERBERT ROSS has recently returned to Belvedere after visiting her son, daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Russell and Jennifer Russell in Surrey, England. On Jennifer's birthday, the family visited "Stonehenge," the stone-age circle of rocks used, it is thought, for astonomical calculations and religious purposes.

COL. (RET.) and Mrs. A. Deane Gough of Kentfield have returned from a vacation trip to the resort retirement community of Sun City, Ariz.

Three Will Receive Scholarship Awards

Members of the Marin Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association are awarding three $500 shcolarships to Marin County high school graduates at a dinner tomorrow night at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant.

May has been designated American Business Women's Scholarship Month by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Chairman of the scholarship committee for the Marin chapter is Christie Heller, and serving on the committee are Mrs. William J. Frye, Karen Rich and Elvira Munoz.

Recipients of the scholarships are Sara Underwood, a gradu tae of Tomales High School and Sandra Wegner and Wendy Luiz, both gruduates of Terra Linda High School.

Sara, who received the ABWA scholarship last year, is a student at California State Polytechnic University in San Luis Obispo where she is studying animal science.

Sandra will attend the University of California at Davis and major in political science

Wendy will major in either biology or anthropology at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Marietta Mangini To Wed Sostenes F. Rodregues Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Mangini of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Marietta Louise to Sostenes F. Rodregues Jr. of Campbell.

Marietta was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the College of Marin. She also attended Baptist Oklahoma University and was graduated from Sonoma State College.

She is currently employed at James Marshall Elementary School in Modesto.

Marietta is the sister of Ann Marie Mangini of Davis and Michael D. Mangini Jr. of San Rafael.

Sostenes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sostenes F. Rodregues of Campbell. He was graduated from high school in Campbell and attended Oklahoma Baptist University. He is currently attending California State University at Hayward and will begin student teaching this month.

He is the brother of Lupe, Robert, Richard, Mary Jane, Olivia Amanda and Bernice Rodregues and Mrs. Mike Fortwangler. He is the grandson of Mrs. Luisa Acosta of San Jose.

The couple plan a July 28 wedding at St. Isabella Church and will live in Modesto.

Equal Time

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Michigan Legislature is considering proposals which would give the Creator equal time with Darwin in all public school classrooms where evolution is taught.

ON THE AGENDA

Day Care Center Will Sponsor Fund-Raising Events In Cotati

Myschool, a day care center in Cotati serving student parents from Sonoma State College, will sponsor both a spaghetti dinner and Mother's Day fair this month as fund-raising events.

The spaghetti dinner will be held tonight at 7 p.m. at the Inn of the Beginning in Cotati. Featured performers will be Elizabeth Owens from the School of Expressive Arts and other local poets reading their poetry, and the Sonoma Mountain Make-Believe Band playing country and western music.

The "Mother's Day Fun Fair" will be held Sunday at the Cotati Plaza. The event will include a rummage sale, bake sale, crafts fair, bicycle raffle, local bands, puppets and a children's parade.

People interested in spaces for the craft fair may contact Bridget McCoy or Bonita Blomfield at the school.

"I REMEMBER Mama" will be the theme of the Madera-Tiburon Guild of Sunny Hills fashion show and brunch tomorrow at San Geronimo Golf and Country Club.

Brunch will be served at 10:30 a.m. followed at noon by modeling of spring and summer fashions by the Marin Mannequin League.

Mrs. F. O. Foster will play the piano.

Chairman Mrs. James Tonge is assisted by Mmes. Richard Rice, Gary Galloway, William Schwartz and William Wilson Jr.

THE KATHERINE Branson School Parents' Association will present the traditional silent auction tomorrow at the school in Ross.

A spring fair and luncheon is also included. Doors will open at 11 a.m. followed by the luncheon. The hour-long auction will begin at 2 p.m.

Luncheon reservations may be made through the school alumnae office.

A LUNCHEON and fashion show, "Summer Safari," will be presented by the Alumnae Council and the Service League of San Domenico School for Girls at noon tomorrow on the San Anselmo campus.

Following the luncheon, students, alumnae and parents who are members of the service league will model the fashions, including one three-generation group.

Chairman for the alumnae council is Mrs. David Powel of San Rafael, assisted by Mmes. Alan Shattuck of San Rafael, Robert Dougherty of Ross, Dennis Ciocca of Corte Madera and Joseph Hurley of San Francisco.

Chairman for the service league is Mrs. Edgar Lindner of Kentfield, assisted by a committee of Mmes. John Hunter of Kentfield, Kleve Johnson of San Rafael, John Munson of San Rafael, W. Bruce Shafer of Sausalito, Imre Vizkelety of Mill Valley and Leopold Simon of Tiburon.

A FASHION SHOW, presented by members of the Marin Mastectomy Services, will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the home of Mae Steward, 44 Lower North Terrace, Tiburon.

Commentator for the show will be Annette Lerner. Allen Goodrich and Patti Mitchell will provide the music.

OPEN HOUSE for the San Anselmo Co-Operative Nursery School will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

The open house will provide preschool children the opportunity to acquaint themselves to the facilities and programs available to them.

Chairman for the event is Mrs. Gary Tepley.

"RESOURCES IN THE Community" is the theme of tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Marin Chapter, California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children (CANHC), at the Pacific Gas and Electric Auditorium, Third and Brooks Street, San Rafael.

The meeting is open to the public.

A POTTING Party will give members of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Women's Club an opportunity to exchange ideas on gardening, after a luncheon tomorrow in O'Brien Hallat, a church in Mill Valley.

Members and guests are asked to bring containers. Plants will be supplied.

Mrs. Jack Larson is chairman.

INSTALLATION of officers of the Peacock Gap Garden Club will be held tomorrow at Peacock Gap Country Club. No host cocktails will begin at 11:15 a.m. with luncheon following at 11:45.

New officers will include Mmes. Douglas Wray, president; Stanley Leete, first vice president; Jerry Good, second vice president; Mostyn Lloyd, third vice president; Thomas Holmes, fourth vice president; Will Sanders, recording secretary; Seymour Malmuth, corresponding secretary; Robert Schoenlank, treasurer; Douglas Howell, historian and Lawrence Frate, parliamentarian.

SGT. RAY DELEON of the Larkspur Police Department will be the guest speaker at the last in a series of afternoon talks sponsored by Larkspur city councilman Joan Sestak.

Sgt. DeLeon will discuss burglaries and how to prevent them at noon tomorrow in Mrs. Sestak's home, 359 Wilson Way, Larkspur.

Laura Bishop Becomes Bride Of Jack Kegg

Jack William Kegg of Novato claimed Laura Lyn Bishop of San Francisco as his bride at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on April 28.

Laura is the daughter of Glenn Bishop of Petaluma and Mrs. Marilyn Bouhaben of San Francisco, and Jack is the son of Jack B. Kegg of Arizona and Mrs. Eleanor Kegg of Novato.

The bride chose her sister Julie Bishop of San Francisco as her maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Glen Eddings of Vacaville, the bridegroom's sister; Mrs. Ronald Darrington of Kentfield, Alvina Butti and Mrs. Ron Lerch of Novato.

Dave Field of Novato was best man, and ushers were Glen Eddings, Charles Maynard of Santa Rosa, Gene Syrup and Ron Lerch of Novato.

Following a reception at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, the couple went on a wedding trip to Southern California. On their return they will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is attending California State University, San Francisco. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Bishop of Rohnert Park and Mrs. E. K. Budkovsky of San Francisco.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed at Roger Wilco store in Novato. Mrs. and Mrs. Eddie Strockbine of Novato are his grandparents.

Bad Check Writers Use Family

NEW YORK (UPI) — Family relationships, good or bad, are like money in the bank for worthless check passers.

In either case, the American public picks up a tab in phony checks variously estimated at between $100 million and $1 billion annually.

John J. Janssen, who operates the nation's only clearing house for bad checks, says nobody knows for sure their real cost, but unit volume has been mounting by 10 per cent each year over the past five years.

As director of bank and hotel security for Burns International Security Services, Inc., Janssen circulates monthly warning bulletins to police, hotels, motels, banks and merchants on the latest wrinkles in check passing and featuring "mug shots" of the perpetrators. He has files on about 50,000 known forgers and other phony check writers.

The bulletins reveal many of the old-time passers use togetherness — children, husbands, wives-to soften up check-cashing victims usually for $100 to $500 amounts.

On the other hand, young people who have "split" from their families are accounting for a large part of the upsurge in worthless paper—and pass checks usually in $10 to $15 amounts.

The professional swindler, however, usually is on the move to another community before his checks bounce and he can be nabbed, Janssen says.

One woman swindler opens a small checking account and then papers a community—making her rounds in a chauffered limousine with two children to convince merchants she's a rich matron who can write checks for any amount.

A "devoted" mother and son team write checks made out to each other and have little trouble cashing them.

Professor Agrees That Student Evaluations Are Worthwhile

DEAR BOTTELS:

I am the retired college professor whose "loaded" questions on hand-holding in school halls received equally loaded answers from you two. You ended, "No offense, sir, we'd really love to hold your hand."

I am disappointed that you did not follow up with a date for this hand-holding, and hope one is forthcoming. If there is a choice, I prefer Helen. . .no offense, Sue; she's nearer my age.

But to get on: This time I am in accord with you and "Humanities Major" that student evaluations of their teachers are valuable. Several research studies agree. One study (University of Michigan) indicates that even the evaluations of fifth-grade pupils are sound and helpful.

I always used them in my college classes, and credit them for worthwhile changes in content, methods —even modification of personal faulty mannerisms and dress.

Evaluations should be voluntary, unsigned and unstructured. I simply asked four questions: 1. Strong points? 2. Weak points? 3. Suggestions on teaching methods, etc? 4. Remarks? I urged students to "let themselves go," and often received two-page critiques.

It is surprising that your mail went four to one against evaluation of instructors by students. Constructive criticism (and most students aren't vindictive) should be welcomed. — DR. A. D. (HOPEFUL HAND HOLDER)

DEAR DR. D.:

You get A+ for good sportsmanship on our evaluation sheet, Professor, Sir: Those sassy answers to your first letter weren't exactly hand-holder stuff. We appreciate your sense of humor, and we'd love to shake your hand. — HELEN

DEAR DR. D.:

It's weird about advice column mail: The minute we say "Correspondents are four to one against," those in favor start writing. Since our last column on student evaluation of teachers, five-sixths of the letters have been "pro." — SUE

Examples:

RAP:

Teachers who ridicule or veto student evaluations are those who need them most. Why shouldn't the persons who stand to benefit or lose most have a say? — JULIAN

HELEN AND SUE:

Students are the logical choice to conduct evaluation of instructors whose professional success depends upon the ability to communicate. Only students can tell us whether the instructor knows his material, presents it clearly, is fair, tolerant, understanding, etc. Perhaps, more importantly, these evaluations tell us how young people feel about a teacher. The most learned man in the world can't impart knowledge unless he makes contact, and how will he know he is failing here unless his students can tell him? — EDUCATOR

RAP:

When I got pregnant, my fiance said he'd marry me only if I had an abortion. He dropped me off a block away from the clinic, gave me the money and told me to call him when it was over. He picked me up on the corner — and I've never seen him again.

Last week, in desperation, I called, and he said he just couldn't help feeling that a girl who has had an abortion is "kind of damaged goods," and "Sorry, Deanna, but it would never work for us now."

What can I do now? — LEFT WITH NOTHING

DEAR LWN:

You can thank fate for showing you what kind of chauvinist stinker this man is — before you married him. We're sorry the lesson was so hard. — HELEN AND SUE

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

THE FLOOR covering sets the tone for this playroom. It's Jorges' "Games People Play" carpet made of nylon and static-control yarn.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

Fun Floor Covering Puts Games On A New Level

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY
(Distributed by General Features)

Join the floor-sitting set and get involved. i'm not talking about group-encounter sessions —merely gamesmanship at a new level. And it all starts with a new, fun floor covering called "Games People Play."

This carpet allows anyone in the family to become chairman of the board. Chessboard, checkerboard, tick-tack-toe boards are all incorporated into the design. Then there's parchisi, spin-out, cribbage and Chinese checkers. And, if anyone wants to circulate the blood, the hopscotch squares can always be acted out.

The manufacturer, Jorges Carpet Co. of Rossville, Ga., has worked with Rhodes Associates of Dalton for more than three years to make the concept work. And the copyright was established early this year. Nine lively primary colors have been incorporated into the carpet design, and accessory items are available containing game kits. The game accessories have been beautifully engineered for good looks, safety and adequate heft so that playing on the textured carpet is enjoyable. The accessories work for more than one game.

Another unique feature of the carpet is that it incorporates Brunslon nylon fiber, the static-control yarn that offers cleanability, soil and stain resistance and a static-free surface.

The manufacturers believe this is the first of a new kind of floor covering. Until now, carpeting has not become involved in the overall purpose of a room. It has been a decoration used for comfort, color and acoustical value. They see the beginning of a new use and new integration of carpet into the total meaning of an interior. How this idea will be developed is not yet known, however, learning carpets would be a natural step for a child's room. Some craftsmen have already designed "alphabet" rugs and custom vinyl floors have utilized the idea.

Perhaps we are about to experience an explosion of new ideas for the floor. It will be fun to watch — just as we've enjoyed the enormous change in the bed linen field. Just five years ago the average family used all-white bedding. Now color has become an important part of our sleep life. Who knows where carpeting is going? There's a new dimension just over the horizon.

AAUW President Is Mrs. Epstein

MRS. WILLIAM D. EPSTEIN
AAUW branch president

A longtime member of the Marin Branch, American Association of University Women, Mrs. William D. Epstein of San Rafael, has been elected president.

During 13 years of membership Helga Epstein has served as publicity chairman, fellowship chairman, editor of the bulletin and recording secretary.

AAUW awards fellowships to college women and each year honors a member by naming a grant in her honor. Mrs. Epstein was honored by the Marin branch in 1967. A variety of social and study groups are offered to members, who attend a general meeting each month with a guest speaker and program. Fund raising events are held to finance the fellowships.

According to Mrs. Epstein, the purpose of AAUW is to cooperate with other educated women to attain fulfillment as individuals, to enrich family life, to support the goals of continuing education and to serve as an effective force in the community and in local, state and national government.

Membership is open to women who have received degrees from college or university approved by AAUW. Mrs. Epstein, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and received a master's degree in English literature from Dominican College. She is a member of Junior Theater, Youth-In-Arts Auxiliary and former director of the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

A 15-year-resident of Marin, Mrs. Epstein and her husband, an insurance and investment salesman, are parents of David, 16, Andrea, 14, and Robert, 11. Her hobbies are tennis, swimming, the theater, reading, cooking "for an appreciative family," politics and traveling. The Epsteins returned recently from a trip to the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico.

Other AAUW officers are Mmes. Edward Meyers, first vice president and program development chairman; John Donovan, second vice president and membership chairman; Oscar Fenton, recording secretary; Robert Kenney, administrative secretary; Howard Rice, membership treasurer; and John Braman and Terrence Valeski, directors at large.

Kathleen Gage Bell To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keith Bell of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Kathleen Gage to Larry Wiley Garst of Falls Church, Va.

Kathleen was graduated from San Rafael High School, the College of Marin and Sacramento State College. She is now employed at the school of Contemporary Education in McLean, Va.

She is the sister of Steven R. Bell of San Rafael and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Gage of Marysville.

Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Garst of Roanoke, Va. He was graduated from high school in Roanoke and is currently working on his doctorate at George Mason University in Arlington.

He is the brother of Wallace B. Garst Jr. of San Diego and Mrs. Marvin Hevener of Richmond, Va. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Garst and Mrs. Nonie Meador, all of Roanoke.

The couple plans an Aug. 11 wedding at the Pathfinder Tea Garden at the Marin Art and Garden Center. They will live in Falls Church, Va.

St. Raphael Court Wins State Honor

Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, was honored at the 24th biennial state conference, which was held Thursday through Sunday in Monterey.

Mrs. William Webb of San Rafael, regent of Court St. Raphael, accepted the first place award for "work done during the past year on behalf of those less fortunate than ourselves."

The court also received a certificate of appreciation from Shirley Godfrey of Sacramanto president of the board of Madonna Manor Home in Salinas. The home is for retired Catholic Daughters.

Andrea L. Black Weds William Langenderfer

St. Patrick's Church in Grand Rapids, Ohio, was the setting for the wedding of Andrea L. Black to William Robert Langenderfer of Bowling Green, Ohio.

For the April 27 evening rite Andrea, who formerly lived in Corte Madera, chose Jeanne Langenderfer as maid of honor and Mary Jo Langenderfer and Mrs. Steve Hildebrand as her attendants.

Norman Langenderfer of Bowling Green was his brother's best man. The ushers were the bridegroom's brother Edward Langenderfer of Bowling Green and Frank Baker of Lambertsville, Mich.

A reception was given for the couple at the Riveryby Country Club in Bowling Green. After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will live in Detroit, Mich. Andrea is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia K. Black of Corte Madera and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. M. Komora of Corte Madera. She lived with Mr. and Mrs. Komora in India for eight years and is a graduate of Redwood High School and attended the College of Marin. Andrea has been a stewardess with Delta Air Lines in Chicago.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Langenderfer of Bowling Green. He was graduated from Bowling Green State University and is attending the University of Detroit Dental School.

Ambassador To Nepal Wins Service Award

I-J Special Report

CAROL LAISE
Ambassador honored

Carol Laise, United States Ambassador to Nepal, received the National Civil Service League 1973 career service award for sustained excellence at a ceremony Friday in Washington, D.C.

Ambassador Laise is one of two women among the 10 award winners honored this year. The other is Charlotte Tuttle Lloyd, assistant general counsel for the U.S. Treasury Department.

In submitting Ambassador Laise's nomination for the award, Secretary of State William P. Rogers noted her "superior talent and professional competence in a series of demanding and important posts" in the state department. Serving in Nepal for the past six years, she is dean of diplomatic corps there and often represents all foreign diplomats at official Nepalese functions.

Ambassador Laise is married to Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to Saigon, and they usually manage to meet once a month in Kathmandu or Saigon, and on one reunion her plane landed in Saigon at the height of the 1968 Tet offensive.

Carol Laise served with the Department of Agriculture, the Civil Service Commission and the United Nations Refugee Relief Administration before she joined the state department in 1948.

Blood Bank Service Will Be Honored

Mrs. T. A. Ronnenberg of Corte Madera will be honored at a luncheon Thursday for volunteering 1,000 hours of service to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. The luncheon will be held in the auditorium of the San Francisco Medical Society.

During 1972 volunteers contributed more than 22,400 service hours to the blood bank, according to the executive director Mrs. Bernice M. Hemphill.

Bible Vetoes Plan For Wolfback Ridge

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — The chairman of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee has vetoed a plan to include Wolfback Ridge lands in the Golden Gate Recreation Area as an administrative revision of park boundaries.

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nevada, said special legislation will be needed to do the job.

The Department of Interior proposed in March to expand the proposed 34,000-acre recreation area by 323 acres, including a 214-acre parcel on Wolfback Ridge and 145 acres in Tennessee Valley.

Much of the Wolfback Ridge land is owned by Oakland attorney Edward R. Fitzsimmons and partners, who have been battling with the City of Sausalito for almost three years to develop the property with 200 single-family homes.

The bill creating the recreation area allowed the Department of Interior to make boundary changes administratively with the approval of the chairmen of the House and Senate interior and insular affairs committees.

In a letter to the department, Bible has balked. A member of his staff said today that Bible considers the Wolfback Ridge lands too large for administrative inclusions, and seeks special legislation.

He took a similar position on the Tennessee Valley property, owned by Allan Olds of Laguna Hills. That acreage is located on the west side of Tennessee Valley Road just before it reaches the old Marincello gate.

However, Bible said he opposed that land being included as an administrative action for different reasons. It's not faced with imminent development, he said.

If no one in the Senate takes action, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, said today, he will introduce the needed legislation. But he said the burden seemed to be on the upper house, particularly its California representatives, Democrats Alan Cranston and John Tunney, since the snag is in the Senate.

A spokesman for Cranston's office said today the senator is awaiting a conference with Bible before acting.

Fitzsimmons, meanwhile, has told Bible's staff he will accept no less than $25,000 an acre for the property held by him and his partners. That would put the cost of their 160-acre holding at $5.3 million.

The attorney, who has filed multimillion-dollar damage claims against the city in connection with his stalled development plans, told the city council recently he will do "everything I can" to thwart including his property in the recreation area.

Plans For A Taco Bell In Novato Are Advanced

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved precise development plans for a Taco Bell restaurant in Novato Square, east of Highway 101 between Delong and Grant avenues.

The restaurant plans submitted by Ben Ostlind, were approved by a 4 to 3 vote.

Leroy J. Syrop dissented because he opposed the restaurant and commissioners Robert Glasscock and George E. McDaniel dissented because they opposed conditions of approval, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson.

The Novato Planning Commission Also:

COMMERCIAL — Recommended rezoning two acres on the east side of Railroad Avenue between Madrone and Orange avenues from planned residential to planned commercial as requested by Alfred Bellucci and Frank DeMello.

LUMBER SALES — Granted Hubbard and Johnson Lumber Co. a use permit for a retail lumber, building materials, plumbing, electrical, paint and hardware store and outside sales are between Ford Way and Highway 101, south of United Rent-All.

INDUSTRIAL — Recommended rezoning eight acres on the east side of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, north of Los Robles Mobile Park, from residential to industrial as requested by Ronald Antonioli Inc.

TOGNOLI LAND — Denied an application by Alfred Tognoli to reclassify nine acres on the south side of Adrienne Avenue and Hancock Street intersection from half-acre lots to planned residential development. Tognoli planned to put 80 townhouses on the site, a development the staff said would result in "massive grading."

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Thursday for a joint meeting with the city council on the Novato General Plan at the Novato Community House.

Violinist To Give Recital On Friday

College of Marin student Mary Helen Weinstein will give a free public violin recital in the choral hall of the college's Fine Arts Building on Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Weinstein will perform works by Johann Sebastian Bach, Sergei and Cesar Franck, accompanied by Carol Castro Mauia, piano.

Anderson Quints All Gain Weight

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — For the first time since their birth 12 days ago, the Anderson quintuplets have all shown a weight gain during a 24-hour period.

The five infants are "all approaching their birth weights" and doing "quite well," said Dr. Fred Nomura of Bess Kaiser Hospital.

Washington Post's Probe—A Pulitzer

It was one of 11 prizes awarded in journalism, eight in letters and one in music. There was no prize this year for editorial cartoons.

Among the other winners was a second Pulitzer for the Post, to political reporter and columnist David S. Broder in the category of commentary. Max Frankel, Sunday editor of The New York Times, won the Pulitzer for international reporting for his coverage of President Nixon's trip to China.

The drama prize went to Jason Miller for "That Championship Season."

William Andrew Swanberg, who was recommended by the prize committee in 1962 for his biography of publisher William Randolph Hearst only to have it turned down by the trustees of Columbia University who have the final say, was awarded the prize in biography for "Luce and His Empire," a work about Henry R. Luce, the founder of Time, Inc.

Robert Boyd and Clark Hoyt of The Knight Newspapers won a prize for national reporting for their disclosure that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, had a history of psychiatric treatment.

Other awards announced:

The Chicago Tribune for distinguished general or spot news reporting within a newspaper's local area of circulation, for uncovering flagrant violations of voting procedures in the primary election of March 21, 1972.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha for distinguished investigative or other specialized reporting within a newspaper's local area for uncovering the large financial resources of Boys Town, Neb. The stories led to reforms in the organization's solicitation and use of funds contributed by the public.

Roger B. Linscott of the Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass., for distinguished editorial writing, for the body of his editorial writing in 1972.

Huynh Cong Ut of the Associated Press for spot news photography for his photograph "The Terror of War" depicting children in flight from a napalm attack.

Ronald Powers of the Chicago Sun-Times for distinguished criticism for his critical writing about television during 1972.

Eudora Welty, in the fiction category, for her novel "The Optimist's Daughter."

Michael Kammen, 35, a professor at Cornell University, in the history category, for his work "People of Paradox: An Inquiry Concerning the Origins of American Civilization."

A special citation was awarded to James Thomas Flexner for his four-volume biography, "George Washington." He is a former reporter with the New York Herald Tribune.

Two co-equal prizes for general nonfiction were awarded to Frances FitzGerald for "Fire in the Lake: The Vietnamese and the Americans in Vietnam" and to Dr. Robert Coles for "Children of Crisis," volumes two and three.

Maxine Winokur Kumin, 53, was awarded the prize for poetry for her fourth collection of poems entitled, "Up Country."

Mill Valley Parents Get Concession

Mill Valley parents who want to play a greater part in personnel decisions in the Mill Valley School District, have won their first concession from the school district board.

Trustees last night agreed to expand from three to five the number of parents from Marin Terrace School who will sit on a 33-member interviewing committee to talk to nine candidates for the posts of principal at Marin Terrace and Alto-Edna Maguire schools.

The Marin Terrace post is vacant because the board last month removed principal David W. Erskine, a decision strongly opposed by some parents. They have been unsuccessful in their efforts to have the board reverse its decision.

The parents did, however, pledge to work more closely with the board in making future personnel decisions affecting Marin Terrace and it was in response to their request that the board last night expanded the committee to include five parents.

Commenting on the move, Richard K. Swain of the committee for the preservation of alternatives, which fought the Erskine transfer, said: "Perhaps it's a concession but it remains to be seen just how much say in the selection the parents really will have."

The parents committee's goal is to select a principal of the same caliber as Erskine, Swain said.

In addition to the five Marin Terrace parents — the President of the Marin Terrace Parent-Teachers Association plus four others to be named by board chairman John G. Eliot — the interview committee will consist of 28 other persons, according to Patsy White, secretary to Supt. James A. Collins.

The others are the president and president-elect of the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association, five parents from Alto-Edna Maguire, the P-TA presidents of each of the other five district schools, two principals, two members of the non-teaching staff, eight teachers and four students from the Marin Terrace and Alto-Edna Maguire.

Mrs. White said the committee will interview the applicants all day Friday and the board will interview them Saturday.

She said Swain read a letter on behalf of the parents committee asking to make a proposal for an ombudsman committee to the board at its May 21 meeting. The committee would assist the board in making decisions affecting Marin Terrace.

Kissinger Will Stop In London

LONDON (UPI) — U.S. National Security adviser Henry A. Kissinger will stop in London Wednesday on his way back from Moscow to Washington and may confer with Prime Minister Edward Heath.

British and U.S. government sources said Kissinger may meet with Heath in what is believed to be Kissinger's only European stopover on his way home. However, the British Foreign Office would only confirm that Kissinger would meet with Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

Lagunitas Nonteachers Ask 7.5 Pct. Pay Hike

The Lagunitas School District board last night received a request from the district's nonteaching employees for an across-the-board 7.5 per cent salary increase, estimated to cost the district an additional $4,000.

The board took no action on the proposal, according to Anna Mae Kondratieff, district business manager-secretary.

Nor did the board last night attempt to wrestle with a proposed budget for 1973-74. Instead the board set a special workshop on the budget for 7:30 p.m. next Monday. A preliminary budget of $572,000, up $15,000 from the current budget has been proposed.

The board also discussed again a proposal to extend the district's "open program," the least structured of three programs in the elementary grades, to the seventh and eighth grades.

No decision was made on this matter, either, Mrs. Kondratieff said, and it will be discussed again at the May 21 meeting.

The board also learned that two citizens committees have recommended that the district office be moved from San Geronimo School to a portable building on the Lagunitas School grounds.

At the same time, the facility use and citizens advisory committees recommended that room at Lagunitas School burned in a fire last Fall be restored for a teachers' room.

Planners Slate Special Meets

Last night's Tiburon Planning Commission meeting was called off due to lack of a quorum, according to Richard G. Arjo. Director of community development, but two special meetings were set to handle the business.

The commission will meet at 6:30 p.m. today at city hall to consider a tentative subdivision map for seven single-family homes proposed by Marco A. Radomile on Round Hill Road.

The commission also will meet at 8 p.m. May 23 at city hall to consider rezoning much of the city's open space into a special zone, which would require developers of the land to provide for permanent open space as part of their projects.

STUDENTS GIVE BIG HONOR

Bruce Pinegar (left), art director for San Rafael City Schools, reads four-foot letter sent to him by fourth and fifth graders at San Pedro School. The students were thanking him for his work in preparing the annual art exhibit by students which begins Monday and runs through May 25 at the district office, Third and E streets. Delivering the letter yesterday was postman Cecil Simpson and some of the students who created the letter and commemorative stamp attached: Jolene Ansbro, Jeanni Clancy, Lori Grady and Eric Turner.

Pacheco Ranch Site Fire Station Eyed

Novato City Council and Novato Fire Protection District directors this morning probed the potential for a fire station at the Pacheco ranch site where 700 housing units, mostly townhouses, are to be built.

Fire directors said a station will be needed in the south end of the city to serve Pacheco Ranch homes, the expanding Hamilton Industrial Park, mobile homes and other developments planned in the area.

U.S. Development Corp., in its master plan for Pacheco Ranch, has designated a site for community facilities, which might be suitable for a fire station.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain proposed exploring the possibility of a combination community center-fire station, such as the center in Marinwood.

Since details weren't available on the size and character of the proposed community center site, the council and the board referred the matter to staff for further study.

Councilmen adjourned until 8 p.m. today for a regular meeting at the Novato Community House.

Manzanita School Use Decided

Manzanita School in Marin City, vacant since the Sausalito School District shifted all its kindergarten operations to Bayside School in 1971, will again be used by the Marin City community under a lease signed last night by the school board.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said trustees voted 4-0 to approve the lease of the building to the Marin City Community Services District, which will allow Marin City groups to use the structure. Trustee Warren K. Hansen was absent.

Trustees approved spending up to $2,275 to renovate and repair the school building in preparation for its new use. Lindberg said the board wants to retain title to the school in case it ever is needed for educational purposes.

Manzanita School figured in a controversy in 1971 when some Marin City residents made a bid to use it for a private school, the Marin City Learning Center. Their request was rejected by the board.

The board also accepted a $125 gift from the Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association to buy a tuba for the Martin Luther King School Band and adopted guidelines for judging the environmental impact of district projects.

Board Approves An Open Campus

Redwood High School students last night won approval from the Tamalpais High School District board for an "open campus" on trial basis through the fall semester.

Under the new arrangement, students will be free to leave the campus during periods in which they have no classes. Last month students and faculty agreed the present rules are unenforceable, and that other high school students in Marin have open campuses.

The open campus, which several years ago was strongly opposed by Larkspur residents and police, drew no opposition last night, according to Edward J. Neumeier, district information officer.

Redwood High students also won the right to have their junior prom off-campus, at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael, with the board approving an exception to the district policy that all student dances except senior balls be at the schools.

The board also took a look at a list of proposed new courses for Redwood High, according to Neumeier, which included "survival for singles."

According to a prospectus for the course, it would include learning such skills as "broiling, e.g. hamburgers," and other techniques necessary for adult survival.

Although the board asked for and received assurance from Dist. Supt. Robert Torrey that another course, group counseling, did not involve "sensitivity training," no action was taken on the new classes.

In other action, a slight flap arose over a $50 one-day course being offered for school board members by Trustee Frank L. Miller's firm.

Lotte Schiller, newly elected trustee who will not be seated until July, questioned the propriety of a board member giving the course, being offered in Berkeley.

Miller said he was being paid by the University of California to put on the course on "school board effectiveness" but said it was "not relevant" when asked what he was being paid.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

RAISES — Received a request from the Tamalpais Classified Employees Association, which represents most of the district's teachers, for a 5.5 cost of living increase but took no action.

APPOINTMENT — Named Lawrence Moyer of the Tamalpais High School staff as representative to the Adult Continuing Education Council for Marin County.

LEAVES — After much discussion granted leaves of absence for the 1973-74 school year to Mary Donovan, Redwood High teacher to allow her to go to law school, and to Tamalpais High teacher Edward McClellan, to allow him to leave the teaching field for a year.

CLAIM — Settled a claim with Chris Souravlis, former nonteaching employee who claimed he was owed overtime pay, for $1,000.

10 Acres Recommended For Open Space Status

The San Anselmo Planning Commission recommended last night that about 10 acres of the 15-acre Schenck development near the city's Sorich Ranch Park be dedicated as open space.

City officials and neighbors have fought the project's size, wanting a maximum of 16 units.

(Yesterday, Schenk's attorney, Albert Bianchi, informed the county planning commission that Schenck intended to develop only two acres and dedicate 13 for open space. The commission then approved plans for a 20-unit townhouse development.)

City planning technician Daniel W. Thomas said the commission asked the city council to recommend that county officials require dedication by the landowner of the rear portion of the hilly property as open space.

The commission also recommended for open space acquisition the Red Hill property on which a major slide occurred several years ago. Owners have defaulted on payment of taxes, and the property, consisting of 55 parcels, is available at $1.50 per parcel, Thomas said.

Also last night, the commission deferred indefinitely action on use permit requests by Kurt Kissman, who wants to build nine single-family residences on graded lots along the Oak Springs Drive ridgeline.

Thomas said the development may need an environmental impact report because more than one single-family residence is proposed at one time.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

HOUSE — Sent back for redesign plans by John C. Eden for a single family home at 95 Oak Springs Drive. Thomas said 29 persons signed a petition opposing the construction because it would damage area property values and block views. Eden seeks several variances, among which would bring the home close to the front property line.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a two-lot subdivision for Bob Wong and Billie Cotie at 30 Carlson Avenue, but held up granting a use permit for construction of a residence there because of possible general plan conflict.

MEETING — Said it next would meet May 21.

Marinwood CSD Session Tonight

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District have scheduled a special meeting tonight in connection with purchase of open space lands.

The board, meeting at 8 p.m. in the community center, is to consider a sale offer from a representative of landowners whose property is under consideration for purchase.

Mead Film Will Be Shown Friday

A documentary film on man and his environment "Survival of Spaceship Earth" featuring anthropologist Margaret Mead will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall at College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the United Nations Association, and the Leagues of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin, the film will be followed by a discussion, moderated by James F. Reed III.

Correct Club

The North Bay Chapter of the March of Dimes erred in reporting for yesterday's Independent-Journal that the San Rafael Lions Club — rather than the Northgate Lions Club — manned a checkpoint in the March's successful Sunday walk-a-thon, according to Arcima Taylor, secretary of the Northgate club.

Petaluma Receives $4.5 Million Budget

A 1973-74 preliminary budget of $4.5 million — up $300,000 from this year's $4.2 million, but expected to leave the tax rate unchanged because of increased assessed valuation — was presented to the Petaluma City Council last night.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer recommended general fund expenditures be set at $2,544,536.

It includes $61,811 that can be applied to any salary increases for employees agreed on in negotiations still under way, he said.

Meyer also told the council it could consider using revenue sharing funds, a utility tax or water fund reserves if a larger budget is desired.

Meyer said the tax rate would remain at $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation as it has been since 1958. He said debt service would add another $.39 cents for a total tax rate of $1.89 per $100 assessed valuation as it was last year.

The preliminary budget, by department (with last year's expenditures in parenthesis) include:

City clerk, $26,013 ($19,542); finance department, $79,858 ($79,197); city attorney, $32,685 ($27,022); city manager, $49,712 ($40,479); planning department, $69,844 ($69,059); city council, $7,688 ($7,148); retirement and insurance, $368,560, ($357,357); police department, $556,882 ($532,435); fire department, $497,743 ($488,770); ambulance, $25,148 ($24,840); animal control, $25,696 ($25,874); building inspection, $53,607 ($47,002);

Engineering, $109,174 ($108,967); weed abatement, $5,710 ($5,335); street department, $232,894 ($226,455); building maintenance, $48,376 ($50,528); corporation shop, $16,579 ($20,275); recreation department, $41,194 ($43,927); library, $119,951 ($115,304); swimming pool maintenance, $29,356 ($31,709); recreational and instructional swim, $16,730 ($16,375); parks department, $100,127 ($91,673); building abatement, $10,000 ($10,000); general reserves, $20,000 ($41,090).

Allotments for other funds included: park development, $74,164 ($45,000); parking meter fund, $29,203 ($28,713); sewer maintenance and operation, $268,877 ($237,732); and water department, $637,143 ($626,838).

The Petaluma City Council Also:

WIDENING — Awarded contract for widening Washington Street from Keokuk to Kentucky Street to Ghilotti Brothers at the low bid of $107,492. City Engineer David A. Young said the original estimate was only $85,112, but that no purpose would be served by seeking new bids.

MOVIES — Received a petition signed by 800 persons objecting to pornographic movies being shown in downtown theaters and drive-in movies. Councilmen said state law permits X-rated films in theaters, but asked City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to research legislation to control outdoor films.

BUDGET — Received the preliminary 1973-74 budget and set the first study session on it for Monday. No time was set.

RETIREMENT — Accepted the resignation of City Clerk Lillian Nommsen, who will retire Aug. 1 after 20 years as a city employee.

OFFICE — Introduced an ordinance rezoning property at 210 Vallejo Street as requested by Newman Nelson for a future office building for his construction company.

MEETING — Adjourned until 5 p.m. today to hear a report on a computer program system for several city departments.

Fluoride Arguments Are Heard

The issue of whether the Marin Municipal Water District must prepare an environmental impact report before it begins adding fluorides to the district's water was argued yesterday before Jack L. Blaine, sitting as a judge pro tem in Marin Superior Court.

Blaine took the case under submission after nearly two hours of hearing, promising a decision soon after he receives briefs from both sides.

He gave the California Public Interest Law Center — which last month sued to block the fluoridation — until Monday to file its brief, and the water district attorneys until May 18 to file theirs.

Yesterday's hearing was the aftermath of a temporary injunction the law center obtained last month, ordering the district to prepare an environmental impact report or show why it shouldn't have to do so.

In March, water district directors decided no impact report was needed, but the California Board of Health temporarily blocked fluoridation for comment by Marin's medical and dental societies. The state board on April 24 voted 8-0 to approve the district fluoridation plan earlier approved by the district voters.

But attorney Marx Elmer, counsel for the Public Interest Law Center and Marin fluoridation opponents, raised the question yesterday of whether the water district, the state board or some other public agency is the "lead agency" responsible for making an impact report.

Water district attorneys Robert W. Elliott and Peter B. Brekhus argued that the Federal Environmental Agency had written on March 5 that the water district doesn't need an impact report.

Moratorium Variances Are Filed

Marin developers caught by the Marin Municipal Water District's ban on new water connections last Monday have wasted no time applying for variances from the moratorium.

Seven applications for exemptions from the ban will be considered by the water board meeting at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district headquarters in Corte Madera.

Six of the variance requests are for small projects of one or two homes. The seventh is for a 78-unit condominium project to be located on Tamal Vista Boulevard in Corte Madera.

Before the board considers the requests, however, it is slated to review proposed guidelines under which variances may be granted.

The board, citing a threatened water shortage, April 30 adopted a temporary ordinance banning new water connections and promised to replace the measure within a month with a permanent ban.

In other business, related to the water shortage, directors will continue studying possible new sources of water. The conservationist majority on the board appears to favor a new reservoir at Walker Creek in Northwest Marin.

Home Owners Complain Of Sloppy Construction

Disgruntled East Petaluma residents fed up with poorly constructed homes appealed to the city council last night for assistance.

Residents of Foothill Manor and Casa Grande Manor subdivisions complained that developer Arthur Condiotti has not corrected problems in the construction of their homes after several years of badgering.

Lois D. Kana, president of the La Tercera Homeowners Association, showed the council a lengthy list of complaints by neighbors. She said minor repairs have been made by Condiotti, but that major work on foundations, plumbing and heating have not.

Mrs. Kana said she was scheduled to meet today with a representative of Condiotti and said if satisfaction is not received, she will return to the council for help.

Residents complained of leaking plumbing, unusable bathrooms, defective heating units and crumbling foundations.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said the city would not be liable since the builder need only meet minimum building codes. He said city building inspectors could not enforce the quality of construction.

Residents countered that the city has a moral obligation to help because city inspections were not adequate. "We are the victims of fast growth," Lynn Puller said. "The city was growing so fast you didn't have the manpower to inspect and now we're paying the price."

Divorcee, 26, Claims Attack

A 26-year-old divorcee told sheriff's deputies yesterday that she was raped in her Tamalpais Valley apartment late Sunday by a man she had met that evening in a Sausalito bar.

The woman said her attacker, a man in his 30s took her to dinner after they met casually in the Latitude 38 on Bridgeway, gave her what he said was his business card, then asked to come to her apartment to listen to records.

She said when she asked him to leave about midnight he attacked her and implied that he would harm her 8-year-old son if she resisted. He then took back his card and departed, she said.

San Anselman Facing Two Criminal Counts

A 23-year-old San Anselmo man faces two separate felony trials in Marin Superior Court after pleading innocent yesterday to one count of attempting to pass a forged check, and another count of burglary.

Judge David Menary Jr. ordered Flynn William Harris to stand trial the week of July 16 on the check case and the week of July 23 on the burglary.

San Rafael police accused Harris of trying to cash a $62 check belonging to Robert Finn of San Rafael on March 19. He was arrested again April 6 on a charge of trying to break into a building on Lincoln Avenue housing a glass company. He was held to answer after separate preliminary hearings in municipal court.

WHY PAY EXTRA FOR A CAR WHEN YOU GET MORE FOR YOUR MONEY IN MARIN?

If you're tempted to buy a car in the City or East Bay, put on the brakes and consider: Marin dealers, with much lower overhead, pass you the saving. They're local, you're local. They want your business and will prove it to you both in price and service. Lower sales tax, too! More convenience, a better deal. Makes sense?

Hearing Slated For Airman On Pot Charge

Larry Oliver Hardgraves, 22, of Hamilton Air Force Base, will undergo preliminary hearing May 15 in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possessing marijuana for sale.

Hardgraves was arrested Wednesday when Novato police stopped the auto in which he was riding for a traffic violation and reportedly found six bags of marijuana, five marijuana cigarettes and a pipe.

Hardgraves pleaded innocent to the felony charge Friday.

Two companions arrested with Hardgraves and booked on misdemeanor charges of suspicion of having narcotics paraphernalia, Raymond Louis Lockhart and Thayon Fingers, both 22, and both of the base, are to appear in municipal court May 15 to enter pleas.

Talk Is Set On Reptiles

Robert C. Drewes, senior curatorial associate with the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, will talk on reptiles and amphibians of the Tiburon Peninsula at 8 p.m. Friday at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

His talk is the last in a series of illustrated lectures on the natural environment of Tiburon. It is sponsored by the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission.

On Saturday, Drewes will lead a field trip. Details of the trip will be announced at the lecture, which is open to the public.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, May 8, the 128th day of 1973 with 237 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Harry Truman, 33rd president of the United States, was born May 8, 1884.

On this day in history:

In 1879, George Selden of Rochester, N.Y., filed for the first patent for an automobile. It was granted in 1895.

In 1945, President Truman officially declared V-E Day — the end of World War II in Europe.

In 1972, President Nixon ordered the mining of North Vietnam ports as part of an effort to force the Communists to agree to end the Vietnam War.

A thought for the day: Greek scholar Aristotle said, "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always remain unaltered."

Rohnert Park Council Tackles Growth Issue With No Success

The continuing question of how to ease overpopulation in the schools was left unanswered last night as a divided Rohnert Park City Council tackled a demand for action on controlled growth.

Faced with a petition signed by 521 Rohnert Park residents asking for a slowdown on construction of new homes, council members spent nearly two hours debating what should be done and who should be responsible, but defeated one proposal and postponed discussion on another.

Councilman Vernon P. Smith urged without success that all tentative maps be reviewed with the intent of rejecting any development showing signs of adverse effect on education.

Another proposal by Smith to define the city's growth policy was postponed for discussion at the next council meeting on May 21.

Mrs. Ohris Compton, who presented the petition to the council, accused the council and the school board of "buck-passing their problems."

Saying there was minimal opposition to the petition, Mrs. Compton said Rohnert Park residents are alarmed at the number of housing units planned in the city and said uncontrolled growth would have a detrimental effect on the schools.

Councilman Lou Beary, who said he has done an about-face on his views of a year ago, aruged that controlled growth "infringes upon the freedoms everyone of us in our lifetime is fighting to protect." It's damaging to restrict development, he said.

Beary also said that controlling growth raises prices for homes. The responsibility, he added, should be placed at the state level.

Smith countered that the state is being used as a scapegoat. Greeted with loud applause from the more than 100 spectators crowded in the small chambers, Smith also said it is unfortunate that the city is so unresponsive that residents have to come out and place pressure on the council.

By implementing double sessions, he added, the schools will alter the life style of the students and the harmony between students and parents. Both, he said, would have an adverse affect on education.

Mayor Armando Flores and Councilmen Arthur N. Roberts and Warren Hopkins said more discussion is needed before the council can act.

"This is the first year we've really gotten involved in education policy," Roberts said. "It's time to sit down and reach out to solve mutual problems."

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

DEVELOPERS — Heard a complaint by Mrs. Daniel Rishe of 8379 Laurelwood Drive that her year-old home in Country Manor has warped doors, cracked cement and needs waterproofing.

WASTE — Approved paying William Kortum and David Eck $1,500 to study the possible use of waste water for agricultural irrigation on an eight-acre plot by the sewer treatment plant.

MAP — Approved a tentative 290-lot map, 4-1 with Roberts opposed, to Quantas Development on 71 acres south of Southwest Boulevard for low density residential.

RETIREMENT — Defeated unanimously an amendment to permit participation of the city council members in the employees retirement system.

STADIUM — Approved installation of bleachers at Rancho Cotate High School at a cost of $25,000.

MEETING — Postponed the public hearing on the general plan to May 12.

Belvedere To Eliminate House Numbers On Curbs

House numbers which recently began to appear on Belvedere curbs have met with something less than enthusiasm from residents of the island town, and the city council last night ordered their removal. (Another Belvedere City Council story, page 1.)

The number-painting project was a money-making enterprise by a group of College of Marin students, the council learned, but the council was not sympathetic to their industry.

The students had left notices that numbers would be painted unless they were told not to, according to City Mgr. William L. Cavalli.

The council objected to this method of doing business, and the students are to be notified to remove numbers for residents who don't want them.

The Belvedere City Council also:

SURVEYS — Adopted a resolution requiring property surveys less than five years old in connection with applications for variances.

DENIAL — Turned down a request from Richard Smith for a variance to declare a vacant lot on Bella Vista Avenue a building site.

HELICOPTERS — Instructed Cavalli to look into SFO Helicopters' addition of flights, because Belvedere residents have complained of noise.

REPAIRS — Took no action on requests from residents of upper Acacia Avenue for street repairs, but asked further surveys.

EFFICIENCY — Set a meeting for May 22 to interview five applicants who want to make an efficiency study of the city offices.

BUSES — Learned that the Golden Gate Transit District is reducing service to Belvedere, with buses mainly slated to run during commute hours after June 4.

TAXI — Granted Verl H. Hinkle a license to operate a taxicab in Belvedere.

FEES — Decided not to charge filing fees for candidates for city offices.

SEWER — Accepted a low bid by Tam Sewers Inc. of $7,131 for a sewer force main on Lagoon Road.

DUPLICATOR — Authorized purchase of a new duplicator for the city office at a cost of $1,106.

Library Friends Slate Dinner

Friends of the Marin County Free Library will hold its annual dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, according to Jean Schils, dinner chairman.

Following the dinner, which will include a sherry tasting session, Richard Dillon of Mill Valley, a director of the California Historical Society, will discuss "The Lost California Indian War."

The dinner is open to the public, according to reservations chairman Alfred Leckie, 321 Palm Avenue in Kentfield.

Sports
Independent-Journal, 29
Tuesday, May 8, 1973

NEW YORK (UPI) — The gold medal still belongs to Russia, but a certain measure of pride has been restored to the United States.

"I wasn't playing for me, I was playing for my country," was the way Marvin Barnes, a 21-point scorer, described it after the American national basketball team clinched its cross-country series against the Russians with an 89-80 overtime victory Monday night.

"Our people were chanting for us and waving flags," added Barnes, who scored eight of his points in the final minutes of overtime. "We wanted to win it for them. I thought there'd by no place we could hide if we didn't."

The victory, also made possible by the flashy play and 25-point scoring of 6-foot guard Ernie DiGregorio, was the fourth in five games for the Yanks. With only Wednesday night's game in Baltimore remaining in the current series, the U.S. thus accomplished its goal of attaining some measure of revenge for the 51-50 to Russia in the Olympic final at Munich last year.

"The whole two weeks has been a very emotional experience for myself, my two assistants and, for a very obvious reason, to the kids too," said Bob Cousy, head coach of the U.S. team who accepted the non-paying job after first refusing it.

Ron Behagen, who contributed 10 points and seven rebounds, had a more personal reason for wanting to beat the Russians.

"We saw films of the last game (at Munich) and it was upsetting," he said. Then, referring to the disputed final play when the Russians were given three chances before making the winning basket, he added, "the U.S. won that game. You can't start it over three times. I've never seen anything like it. But what hurt me too is what they did to Brewer (Jim Brewer, his University of Minnesota teammate). They just knocked him out. I wanted to do something for Brewer."

Despite the desires, the series clincher in Madison Square Garden didn't come easy. Just as they did in the previous four matches, the Russians played a very physical game and a total of 75 personal fouls were called —38 on the U.S. Five Russian players and three Americans fouled out of the game.

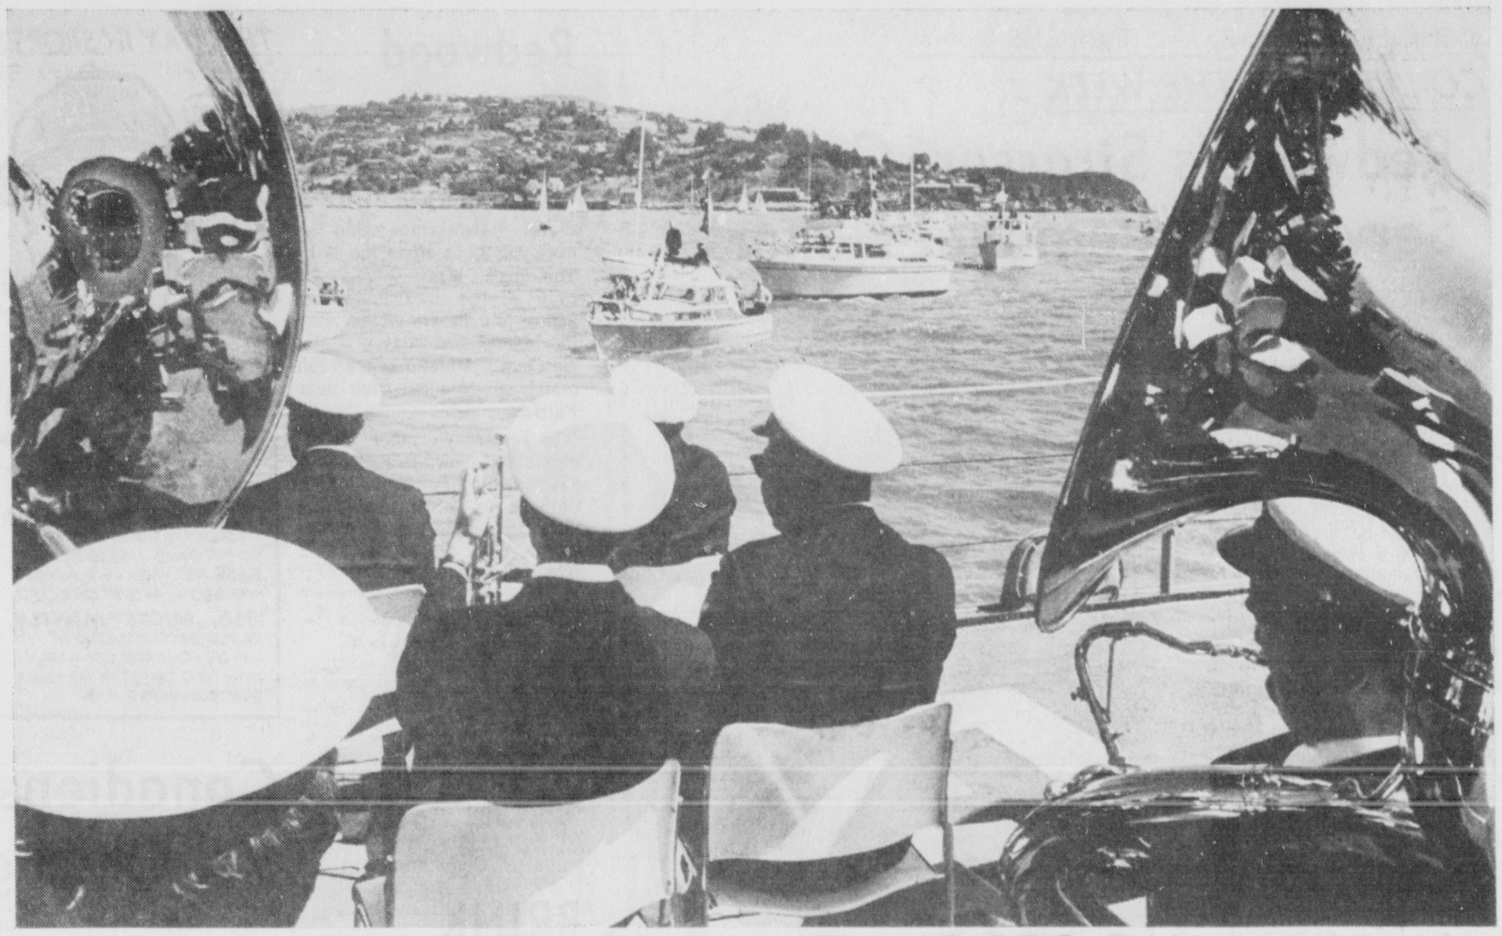
"When these guys go into the NBA," Cousy quipped, "they'll think they're going to the junior prom after this."

The game started out as if it would be a rout with DiGregorio scoring eight points and Tom Henderson seven as the U.S. mounted a 24-15 lead. With just 3:27 left to go in the first half, the Americans still led 35-27 following a basket by DiGregorio and two free throws by Behagen.

But the Russians ran off seven straight points and trailed only 36-35 at intermission.

Once again in the second half it was the U.S. setting the pace, opening a 55-48 advantage at one point. But although the Russians lost four of their players in the second half to fouls, including team star and high-scorer Aleksandr Belov (13 points), they not only fought back but commanded a 73-69 lead with 50 seconds to go.

But DiGregorio fired in two baskets in the space of 14 seconds to force the overtime, and he scored the first two U.S. goals of the extra session. George Karl then followed with his only basket of the game to put the U.S. in front for good, 79-77.



INVASION ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY

An armada of sail and power boats paraded on San Francisco Bay Sunday in celebration of the start of yachting season for 1973. This is a view from behind the Navy band aboard the U.S.S. Carpenter, a destroyer anchored in Raccoon Strait between the Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon and Angel Island. From the deck of the Carpenter, religious leaders blessed the fleet as it passed, an event sponsored by the Corinthian Yacht Club. According to Capt. Elmer J. Towle of Belvedere, originator of the ceremonies, "The blessing, in essence, wishes good will and safety on the waters for both the boats and the captains."

Lee Gets Wish; Boc Is Socking

Bill Lee, Boston Red Sox southpaw who learned his baseball on the sandlots of Terra Linda, has finally gotten his wish and has been put in the starting rotation, at least temporarily, by the Bosox.

In his first start the other day he didn't last too long, but came out with no decision. Then last Saturday he pitched 7⅔ innings against the Minnesota Twins before getting some relief help from Bob Veale, and Boston won, 5-1. Lee, in picking up his second win without a loss, gave up nine hits, one earned run, walked four and struck out six. It was Lee's 11th start in his five years with the Red Sox.

John Boccabella of Terra Linda, who played at Marin Catholic High and University of Santa Clara before embarking on his major league career, seems to have found his batting eye with Montreal. Although the Expos' catcher hasn't been hitting with his accustomed power, he was batting .283 the last report I saw. He has eight runs batted in but is still looking for his first home run of the year. It will come, I guarantee.

Moving to golf, former Marinite Ron Cerrudo picked up $1,486 for his 290 finish in the Houston Open Sunday, bringing his total to slightly under $12,000 so far on the '73 tour. I know it's not like Bruce Crampton and his $152,886, but it's a start.

IF YOU HAPPENED to turn on your television set last Saturday at 2 p.m. for the Kentucky Derby and got the wrong channel, you might have seen a young man from San Rafael displaying his talents of fly tieing. Twelve-year-old Doug Canfield had an eight-minute spot on Channel 4's Git Box Tickle show, the same time that Channel 5 was showing the Kentucky Derby. Anyway, I was able to see Doug tie a fly on a hook and then flip channels in time to see the Derby. I have some of Doug's originals and am anxious to try them on some Northern California stream. Watch out, you trout.

THE OLD JOCKS of College of Marin fame are getting ready for their big bash Friday night at Nave Lanes in Ignacio. The party is for the football, basketball, track, baseball, Ping Pong and poker players of 1946-48 vintage. A main celebration will be the silver anniversary for College of Marin's national champion basketball team of 1948.

Among the team names to be heard that night are the (Irwin "Red") Diamond's Dandies, (Arleigh) Williams' Warriors and (Harry) Pieper's Pirates, the names of course coming from Marin coaches of that period.

A strictly stag affair, I understand the cocktail "hour" is scheduled from 6:30 to 9 p.m. I hope all those guys have time for dinner.

ANDY MOFFAT of Mill Valley, a young man who won numerous titles as he was going through the age group tennis scene in Marin County, is still winning on the collegiate scene. He won his singles match for his San Jose State team Saturday in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championships in San Jose. He defeated Long Beach State's Neal Bessent, 6-0, 6-3.

Marichal Vs. Gibson Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Juan Marichal and Bob Gibson, the two winningest active pitchers in the majors, will oppose each other tonight when the San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals open a three-game series.

Marichal, 4-2 this season, has 231 career victories while Gibson, 1-3 for the year, has 226 lifetime triumphs.

The Giants, heading the National League West Division, hope to extend their 1½ game lead over Houston. The Astros play at Montreal.

Monday, the Giants played their annual game at Santa Clara and drew more than 6,000 fans as San Francisco rolled 13-4 over the Broncs.

The Giants are now 9-2 in the 11-year exhibition series, proceeds of which go to the Santa Clara baseball program.

Chris Arnold, Dave Rader, Dave Kingman and Jim Howarth belted giant homers while Jim Wilhelm hit a bronco circuit clout.

Meanwhile, there was still no word on the fate of the Chicago Cubs protest during the first game of Sunday's wild twin bill with Chicago.

Dave Rader roared around the bases and scored after a beanball war erupted into a fight between both squads. Chicago manager Whitey Lockman claimed that "the field was unplayable" while rader scored.

Giant manager Charlie Fox contended his players weren't on the diamond itself, only on the fringes. Dave Rader reached the plate crawling after being tripped by an unidentified cub.

Since the Giants went on to win the contest 11-0 in 12 innings, the incident was a key one.

BOWLING GOLD TO NOVATAN

SAN JOSE — Sixty-six-year-old Josephine Hendricks of Novato, a paraplegic won a gold medal for bowling at the California Wheel Chair Games Association's meet Saturday here.

Mrs. Hendricks, district president of the Indoor Sports Club in San Rafael for the physically handicapped, said winners qualified for the "Parapolympics," but she didn't expect to continue in competition.

She declined to give her winning score, but said "My average is 108." She lives at 55 Sierra Vista.

BRINK'S STROKE OF GENIUS

Switch From Football To Crew

I-J Special Report

HANOVER, N.H. — It was the first week of pre-season football practice at Dartmouth College early last September but for Jan Brink of Mill Valley it seemed like the end of the world.

A sophomore who showed promise of breaking into Dartmouth's starting lineup at defensive end, Brink's athletic career appeared to be ended before it had really begun. He lay in a hospital bed with a leg encased in a cast that protected the repair work to badly torn ligaments in his knee.

Athletically, the 6-foot-4, 210-pound Brink appeared to be up a creek without a paddle. That is, until he picked up an oar and made the comeback that finds him rowing with Dartmouth's heavyweight crew this spring.

"Jan has really made phenomenal progress," said Peter Gardner, Dartmouth's crew coach. "He trained through the winter, started rowing in March and was in the varsity boat within a month. It's almost unbelievable."

Gardner, dean of the nation's collegiate rowing coaches, points to Brink's natural athletic ability as the key to his rapid development.

"He's a tremendously fast learner and seems to be a natural oarsman," said Gardner.

"Crew is one of the predominantly Eastern sports, like squash and lacrosse, that you hear about but never picture yourself doing," said Brink. "I was sitting around after the football injury and was itching for some strenuous physical activity."

JAN BRINK
Crew star

He considered tennis — "You feel more secure trying a sport you've at least seen before" — but began thinking seriously about rowing after a conversation with Charlie Arnold, Dartmouth's heavyweight crew captain this spring.

"We discussed rowing for awhile but I still didn't really know what I wanted to do," said Brink. "I stood between the doors of the tennis and crew offices (they're about 30 feet apart inside Dartmouth's Alumni Gymnasium) for a long time but didn't know which one to enter.

"Some friends counseled me and suggested the tennis route," he said. "They felt crew was too strenuous. But the challenge sort of called to me," and he turned toward Gardner's office.

"Charlie (Arnold) had told me about a football player who had been injured and was thinking about rowing," said Gardner. "I said, 'Great,' because some of our best oarsmen have been football players.

Brink has no complaints, either. Calling crew "totally different from football," the blond English major pointed out, "You've got to coordinate your performance with seven other men. It's the ultimate team sport but it's also something you must perfect on your own, too."

Knicks In Rush To NBA Crown

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Knicks rediscovered gold in their ranks and the rush is on for a second National Basketball Association championship in four years.

Willis Reed and Earl Monroe were not standouts in the first two games of the title series with the Lakers as the teams split a pair in Los Angeles.

There was a complete reversal in form on Sunday, however, as the two Knicks turned resourceful and helped beat Los Angeles 87-83. Reed scored his 1973 playoff high of 22 points and held Wilt Chamberlain on almost equal terms under the boards.

Monroe tallied 21 points and jammed Gail Goodrich's scoring radar with a brilliant second half defensive job that held the Lakers guard to two points after intermission. Goodrich netted 12 in the first half.

"Earl hurt us," admitted an injured Jerry West, who may see only limited action in tonight's fourth game because of a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg. "Monroe is a different player now. He's quicker and we've got to do a job on him."

Monroe scored from all angles, hitting from outside, going around Chamberlain for reverse layups and contributing a game-high six assists.

Reed collected 10 rebounds to 13 for Chamberlain, but his main asset was in making Wilt leave his post to stop the Knick captain's outside shooting. This left the lane open for Monroe's drives.

The player who appeared most apprehensive of Chamberlain was Walt Frazier, usually the Knicks' strongest offensive weapon. Frazier does very little driving against big Wilt, contenting himself with trying for high arching shots that Chamberlain can't block for fear of a goaltending call.

Los Angeles, seeking to reverse the losing trend, must depend on the presence of West to engineer ehtusiasm, just as Boston did with injured John Havlicek. The Celtics forced the Knicks into seven games before bowing to New York.

"I've never missed a playoff game," said West, who pulled a hamstring in his left leg during the second game of the current series. "There's pain in both legs now, but I can't let it stop me."

West has scored 72 points in the three games against New York. He was en route to another fine scoring effort when he was hurt in the third quarter Sunday. "Mr. Clutch" scored 16 points in the first half, but only one point after intermission as he sat out most of the second half because coach Bill Sharman refused to risk further injury for the veteran guard.

A Knicks victory in tonight's nationally-televised game (ABC, 8:30 PM EST, on channel 7 in the Bay Area) could leave the Lakers with a "must win" situation in Los Angeles Thursday night. If additional games are necessary, they will be played here Sunday afternoon and on the West Coast next Tuesday night.

A Hollow Golf Win For Marin

SONOMA — College of Marin yesterday won the Camino Norte Conference golf tournament, but the honor turned out to be a hollow one, except for Jim Brown and Jim Fitzpatrick.

The Tars shot a six-man, 36-hole score of 978, 12 strokes ahead of Solano College of Suisun City in the nine-team field over the par-72 layout at Sonoma National Golf Course.

Ordinarily, the tournament winner and the regular-season champion advance to the Northern California qualifying for the state tournament, but this year Santa Rosa Junior College and West Valley College of Campbell tied for the regular-season title and won the nod to advance, Tar coach Ed Grimm said.

The irony was more bitter because the tie resulted from the Tars' upset victory over Santa Rosa last week.

The low four individuals also qualify for the Nor Cal tournament, and Brown finished second in the field with 77-76—163 and Fitzpatrick third at 77-79—156, so they will play at Rancho Canada Golf Club in Carmel Valley Monday.

Team Totals — Marin 978, Solano 990, De Anza 992, West Valley 996, Skyline 1,004, Santa Rosa 1,017, Alameda 1,042, Canada 1,066, Contra Costa disqualified (only five players).

Meeting Wednesday For Soccer League

A formation meeting will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. for parents of boys, 6-18 years old, interesting in forming a Rohnert Park soccer league.

At this meeting in the Rohnert Park Community Center club room, a board of directors will be elected. The prospective league has teams but needs more coaches and officials, according to Richard Markovich of Rohnert Park, coach of the under 14 Raiders team.

CO-PREPS OF THE WEEK

Redwood's Strasser, Grinnell Served Up Regional Honors

By LEW CODDINGTON

The tennis program at Redwood High School has reached the point where the local honors are taken almost for granted, and the regional honors are the ones that are most eagerly sought. Considerable satisfaction can be derived, then, from the recent exploits of Mark Strasser and Grant Grinnell.

Strasser, a junior, and Grinnell, a sophomore, teamed up to win the North Coast Section doubles championship Saturday, knocking off the defending champion, top-seeded team of Brad Riezer and John Bussington of Miramonte High of Orinda, 6-1, 6-3, in matches at Montgomery High in Santa Rosa.

Their victory is the first by a Marin doubles team representing either the Marin County Athletic League or the old North Bay League in at least two decades, and perhaps the first ever, and has earned the tall, outgoing Strasser and the smaller, quiet Grinnell recognition as Independent-Journal co-Preps of the Week.

Both live in Tiburon, which produces tennis stars with the same regularity (and greater civic pride) than Los Angeles produces smog. Both have been playing for three years, and drifted into tennis at the nearby Tiburon Peninsula Club.

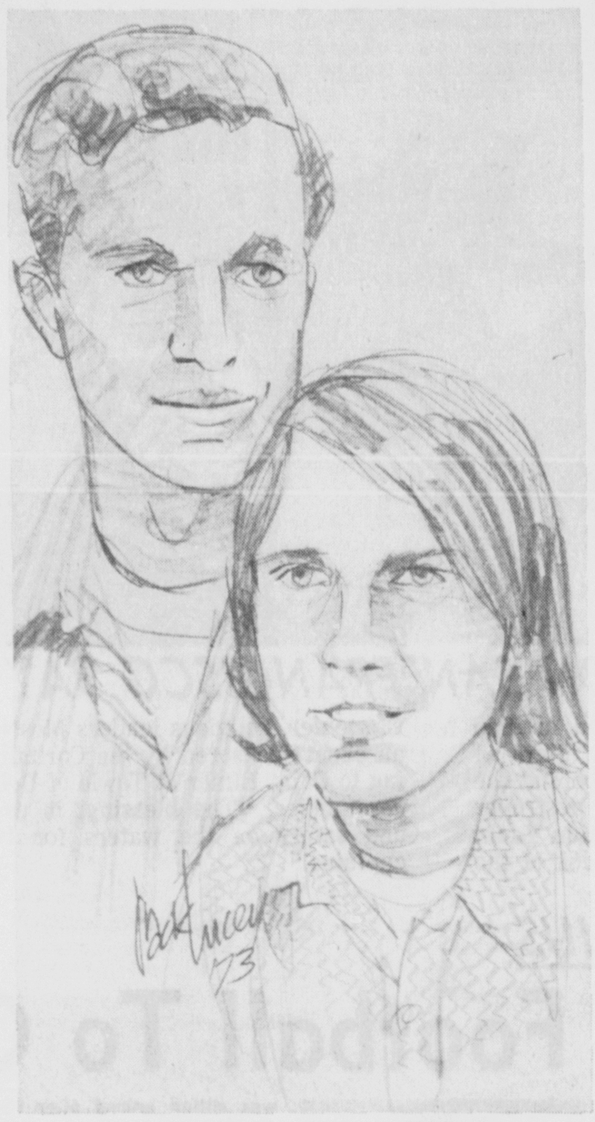
"My mom was taking lessons, and I was picking the balls up," says Mark, "so I just started playing."

"My family moved, and I was about 10 feet from the courts," says Grant.

Three years later, Mark was ranked 29th in boys 16 singles in Northern California and Grant 24th in the 16s and ninth with Brandon Persinger of Tiburon in boys 18 doubles.

They do not play doubles together on the circuit, but "we play together a lot at the club," Mark says, so they were well suited to the league and NCS competition, where most of the other top teams also had experience playing together.

The two spend a great deal of their spare time at the club, and both have part-time jobs hitting balls to students under the supervision of professionals.



MARK STRASSER and GRANT GRINNELL
"Tennis is going to be with me for the rest of my life," says Strasser, half of the North Coast's best doubles team.
(Independent-Journal sketch by Jack Lucey)

Both intend to continue playing the game competitively in college, but beyond that, plans are uncertain.

"It's possible I may stay in tennis full time for a living, teaching or something, but even if I don't, it's going to be with me for the rest of my life," Mark says.

Strasser is hoping to go "to the Naval Academy or a UC campus somewhere," with an eye toward pre-med or pre-law. Grinnell, a sophomore, is undecided.

Strasser's attraction for the sea is shown in other ways, as well. He is a certified scuba diver, and "I go diving all the time. I've been to French Polynesia, Yucatan and Honduras with my dad."

He's also been to Santa Rosa with Grant Grinnell, which may not seem quite as exotic, but which matters quite a bit in prep tennis circles.

Redwood Golf Team Defeats Tam

Jeff Bordalampe shot an even-par 35 to offset the 35 by Tamalpais' Steve Gaddis and help propel Redwood High School to a 194-218 victory over the Indians yesterday in a Marin County Athletic League golf match at Meadow Club near Fairfax.

In yesterday's other match, also at Meadow, Drake took a 224-236 victory over Marin Catholic as Mark Lavin was medalist for the Pirates with a four-over-par 40.

cision of football with the pace and movement in rowing, Brink said, "It's such a precise sport. Just turning a wrist at the wrong instant can lose a race. If you stumble in football, you can get up and try again."

"But crew is like football in that momentum is so important. The secret in a crew race is to find the swing, the perfect coordination of all eight, and once you find it you've got to push it to the utmost."

Trying to the utmost is a tradition in Jan Brink's family. His older brother, Barry, was an All-East and All-Ivy defensive tackle on Dartmouth's undefeated football team in 1970 and now is a member of the Columbia football coaching staff.

His father, Larry Brink, played defensive end for the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Rams, and his younger brother, Kevin, is a pitcher who will enter Walt Whitman College next fall.

For Jan Brink, football is history. His knee is solid and he's pulling the number seven oar for Dartmouth's heavies. He's hardly up a creek without a paddle.

Canadiens Seek Cup Vs. Chicago Tonight

MONTREAL (UPI) — The swift-skating Montreal Canadiens are looking for their 16th Stanley Cup tonight when they host the Chicago Black Hawks for the fifth game of their best-of-seven series. The game will be televised on Channel 4 at 5 p.m. (PDT).

Montreal blanked the Hawks 4-0 in Chicago Sunday to take a 3-1 lead in games. A win tonight would give Montreal their 16th trophy and mark the fifth time Montreal has defeated Chicago in the finals.

The Habs are heavily-favored to take the Cup on home ice tonight, but the ever-cautious Montreal coach Scotty Bowman has swept aside the odds and statistics of past meetings with Chicago and warned his players the Hawks are down but far from out.

Veteran Chicago coach Bill Reay also feels Chicago is still very much in contention, despite the one-sided affair Sunday. "I think my team can play better than that...I know we can," he said.

Bowman said also that while he would like to win his first Stanley cup as a coach, he would like to see one of the Canadiens pick up the Conn Smythe Trophy as the best performer in the playoffs.

"You've got to consider our defenseman, Guy Lapointe, and forward Yvon Cournoyer," Bowman said.

"Lapointe has done everything for us. He scored six important goals and has set up other important ones for us. He's been tremendous on the power play and in killing penalties. He gave our team a real lift when we were having problems in the quarterfinals."

Bowman said Cournoyer is another likely candidate for the trophy, noting he needs only one more goal to tie Frank Mahovlich's record of 14 goals in one playoff season.

If Chicago should win tonight in Montreal, where they have not won a play-off contest in 11 years covering 13 games, a sixth game will be played in the windy city Thursday night.

Stanford To Play

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Stanford will join Ohio State, Dartmouth and defending champion and host Kentucky at the University of Kentucky invitational basketball championship next Dec. 21-22.

Astros See 'Real' Roberts

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Acting manager Preston Gomez thinks the Houston Astros may be seeing the real Dave Roberts for the first time.

"Remember I had him with me at San Diego," said Gomez after Roberts shut out the Montreal Expos, 6-0, Monday night for the Astros' ninth straight victory. "I know how good a pitcher he is."

The Astros expected the 28-year old lefthander to be one of the league's top stars when they acquired him following the 1971 season during which he had a 2.10 earned run average and a 14-17 record for San Diego. He proved to be something of a disappointment in 1972, however, when he had a 12-7 record but an undistinguished 4.50 ERA.

Roberts walked seven batters but allowed only six hits and had an easy time Monday night as the Astros staked him to a 3-0 lead in the second inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, the Padres defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-1, the New York Mets topped the Atlanta Braves, 7-2, and the Philadelphia Phillies shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in other NL games. San Francisco and St. Louis were not scheduled.

Boston defeated Chicago, 4-1, and Baltimore downed Oakland, 8-2, in the only American League games.

Cesar Cedeno hit his fifth homer of the season, Jim Wynn had a run-scoring triple and Bob Watson and Tommy Helms had two hits each to lead the Astros' 10-hit attack.

Solo homers by Willie Stargell, Dave Cash, Rich Hebner, Manny Sanguillen and Al Oliver led the Pirates to their victory at Los Angeles.

Bill Greif, who leads the majors with an 0.97 earned run average, pitched a two-hitter and Fred Kendall and Dave Campbell drove in two runs each for the Padres.

The Mets scored six runs in the eighth inning to snap a five-game losing streak at the expense of the Braves and give Tom Seaver his third win and first since April 12.

Mr Don Knotts

Get a health checkup.
Find out the lump in your throat is only emotion.

It's generally agreed that one of the best things you can do to keep yourself in good health is to have a regular health checkup.
The reason's simple. Cancer—if detected early enough—can often be cured. So even if your regular checkup does reveal a problem, in a way it's a good thing. You've probably caught it early enough to do something about it.

But the fact is, your checkup probably won't reveal anything serious. Most people who have regular checkups discover they're in pretty good health.

So have a checkup. Now. And regularly. Find out you're in better shape than you think you are.

It's a nice feeling.

American Cancer Society
We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

April 27th through Monday the 30th, Marin County Volunteers will be calling on you to ask for your contribution to the American Cancer Society. Give generously because it will be the only time you'll be asked to help. If you are not at home when they call put your contribution in the mail to: American Cancer Society, 18 Mary Street, San Rafael, Ca. 94901

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

A Slow Start In Fish Derby

I called Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle and he wouldn't talk fishing with me! He asked about my wife's health, and mentioned everything under the sun except his striped bass derby. Finally, I got the word from him. None of the 43 entrants who had signed up for the bass derby had caught a fish!

Then Keith, being the world's best promoter, saw an angle. He said, "Isn't that great; now everyone will be out with this lack of competition going on!" You can't beat that Keith.

BILL YEAGER TOOK Dick Kennedy out, hoping to get that first firsh for the derby. After some fishing, Kennedy started yelling, "I've got a big one on, everyone reel in your lines!" Naturally everyone complied and Kennedy played on with his monster. Finally, to the side of the boat appeared a big flounder snagged amidship which, of course, made it feel big.

Three people brought in bass — nothing over 10 pounds — but they weren't registered, so no dice.

Most of the wardens, including yours truly, worked the abalone beds over the weekend. Most people checked had limits. We checked about 150 people at Pierce Point over the two days.

THREE DIVERS and two other pickers took 40 — an over-limit of 15 for the five participants. They were in a boat at Bird Rock and I saw all with binoculars. One diver dropped off the four others on the beach, telling them to hike over the ridge. He planned to pick them up on the bayside. He took the abalones with him. I hiked over the top of the ridge, along with the four pickers, planning to intercept the skipper with the 40 abalone at the planned meeting place. We hiked to the area, but no boat showed. After two hours of waiting, I figured something had happened. The sea was really rough, and he was in a 12-foot skiff. It wasn't long before the Dillon's Beach rescue boat was seen going out through the breaking bar. In about a half hour, they returned, towing the skiff. The diver's boat had turned over outside the bar, losing abalones, gear and all. They did save the man and the boat; he was in a skin diving suit. (It could be that some troller will hook into three sacks of 40 abalones, but I suppose with the windy weather and rough seas, that would be a miracle.) Of course for me it was no evidence, no case. I couldn't really swear he had the 40, though the participants admitted as much. What a workout! Thank goodness he didn't drown.

Some other cases were made on other divers who took over-limits for distribution to friends on the beach. This is illegal. One diver taking 10 limits for nine other people just isn't kosher.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled for this week at Rodeo Lagoon, Stafford, Bon Tempe, Phoenix and Lagunitas reservoirs.

The San Francisco Tyee Club is proceeding with plans for the preparation of the rearing ponds at the Evergreen Trout Farm near Point Reyes Station to receive 5,000 juvenile silver salmon from the Mad River Hatchery for future planting.

TROPHY TOMS were taken in open areas throughout the state during the opening weekend of that third spring turkey hunting season, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Hunting was fair to good in the 15 counties included in the hunt that got under way April 21, said Department of Fish and Game upland game coordinator Harold Harper, and there were more hunters in the field after the increasingly wily toms.

"The interest in the spring hunt is rising every year," Harper said, "but the big thing is the quality of the hunt we can offer."

According to Harper, more and more spring turkey season hunters are using calls effectively, and a call is considered necessary to bag a tom.

Gail Roper Stars In Meet

Petaluma's Gail Roper set three national records in the Masters Swim Meet at the Petaluma Swim Center Saturday and Sunday, while three Marin Aquatic Club members took two events each.

Competing in the 40-44 age bracket, Mrs. Roper smashed marks in the 200 freestyle with a 2:29.6 clocking; 100 fly, 1:17.7; and 200 individual medley, 2:48.7.

Two-time MAC winners were: Dore Schwab (50-55) 100 free, 1:01.8, and 100 I.M., 1:16.1; Nancy Ridout (30-34) 100 free, 1:03 and 100 fly, 1:19.1; and Denis Rice (40-44) 500 free, 6:14, and 100 free, 59.5.

Assembly Honors UCLA's Wooden

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — UCLA basketball coach John Wooden, whose teams have won seven consecutive national chahmpionships, was honored Monday by the California state Assembly.

The legislators gave the coach a standing ovation while Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, read a resolution commending him for "all his years of service."

Hunter Vs. Orioles In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Oakland A's could use one more starter, but Rollie Fingers doesn't seem to be the man for the job.

The star reliever of 1972 was bombed in the second inning Tuesday night as the Baltimore Orioles pounded Oakland, 8-2.

The Orioles scored six times in the first three stanzas although a muffed play by Fingers on a potential double play ball in the second was what opened the floodgates.

Paul Lindblad, who has an 18.57 earned run average, took over for Fingers and yielded a two-run single to .193 hitting Boog Powell as the O's went up 4-0 in the second. Linblad gave up two more in the third and Horacio Pina finished up.

Oakland sends Jim Hunter (2-1) against the hosts' Dave McNally (3-4) in tonight's rematch.

Colts Sign First Choice; Two Trades Made In NFL

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Colts are hopeful today that they have solved their quarterback problems.

Bert Jones, the first quarterback selected by the Colts in the opening round of the draft since George Shaw in 1955, has signed a multi-year contract with the National Football League club.

Jones, from Louisians State, will duel with Marty Domres for the starting job.

More Football

NEW YORK — Offensive tackle Vernon Emerson, a three-year veteran with the St. Louis Cardinals who sat out last season, has been obtained by the New York Jets of the National Football League in a trade for guard Roger Finnie.

HOUSTON — The Houston Oilers need all the help they can get, so yesterday, they dealt away some future for some present. Giving away a high draft pick to the Buffalo Bills, the Oilers aquired defensive end Al Cowlings, a starter the last three years for the Bills. The 6-5, 258-pounder from USC was the Bills top draft choice in 1970.

TRENTON, N.J. — The New York football Giants, soon to be vagabonds during the renovation of Yankee Stadium, heard some good news from here today. The State Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the Hackensack Meadowlands Regional Development Act. The court dismissed allegations by several communities that the Meadowland Sport Complex, which will include the Giants new stadium, deprived the communities of tax powers rightfully theirs.

Marin Academy Tips Mount Tamalpais '9'

Henry Lennihan singled home the winning run in the top of the seventh inning yesterday to give Marin Academy (4-5) of Ross in a baseball game played at Marin Academy.

Russ Dohmann and Dave Tarantino each hit two doubles for the winners and Tarantino drove in three runs. The game concluded the year's sports series between the two private schools, with each school winning five events.

Basketball

BEAVER, Pa. — Norm Van Lier, a guard with the Chicago Bulls, went on trial yesterday with three of his brothers and four other men on charges resulting from a disturbance last July at the police station in his nearby hometown of Midland.

Van Lier is accused of beating a police officer, who supposedly accused him of dealing in drugs, with resisting arrest, obstructing an officer and riot. Van Lier and the other defendants all pleaded innocent.

Hockey

CINCINNATI — Gary Davidson, president of the World Hockey Association, has announced the awarding of a league franchise to the Cincinnati Hockey Club Corp. for the 1974-75 season.

Davidson said the new club, not immediatey named, will participate in the WHA professional and amateur draft later this year, and also will be able to take up to 20 players from current league teams in a special expansion draft in June 1974.

ST. LOUIS — Chuck Catto, assistant manager of the Cleveland Crusaders, has been named general manager of the St. Louis Blues.

Catto replaces Sid Abel, who resigned last month to accept the position as general manager of the new Kansas City team in the National Hockey League.

Golf

NEW YORK — Bruce Crampton's $41,000 paycheck for winning the Houston Open lifted the Australian-born golfer to the top of the Professional Golfers Association money standings on earnings of $152,866 in 1973.

Jack Nicklaus, absent from the Houston Tournament, lost the money lead he had held since the Masters as he dropped to second place with $146,064. Lee Trevino is third with $125,881, Lanny Wadkins fourth at $90,333 and Juan Rodriguez fifth at $72,024.

ATLANTA — Kathy Whitworth, the only double winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit this year, continues to lead the women golfers in 1973 earnings with a total of $40,489 following her third place tie in the Raleigh Classic.

Mickey Wright is second with $35,509 while Judy Rankin, who won the $4,500 top money at Raleigh Sunday, climbed from 15th place to eighth with $16,336.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Take Advantage Of Offer To Trade Mutual Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1969 I invested in Comstock Mutual Fund and it has gone down in price ever since. What would you advise? — B.R.

A. Since you have owned this fund its performance has failed to measure up to that of an average of all funds. For this reason I would take advantage of the privilege offered by Shareholders Management Group to exchange Comstock at net asset value (plus $5) for another of its funds. Growth-oriented Pace Fund would be my choice. Performance was excellent in 1971 and has been above average since. A second more conservative selection, Legal List Investments has also done well.

Q. I have 24 shares of Clevepak (OTC) purchased at $30. I am only interested in getting back my initial investment. Should I hold for recovery? — L.S.

A. For Clevepak the probability of recovery is good. Shares, which reacted sharply downward when the merger with Norton Co. aborted in January, have moved sideways since. However, as continued earnings progress is reported market response should be favorable. For the first quarter of 1973, net rose 20 per cent on a 13 per cent gain in sales, an improvement on the 1972 operating pace. The establishment of a dividend in February, at 60 cents annually, underscores the favorable outlook for this paper-based products manufacturer.

Q. There has been a drop in the price of Clorox Co. (NYSE) recently. Should I continue to hold 200 shares costing $10? — G.L.

A. The 30-month, 400 per cent rise in share price pushed this stock's price-earnings ratio to high and vulnerable ground not fully justified on the basis of projected earnings growth. The recent backoff prices the shares at a more realistic 29 times estimated 1973 earnings. The phenomenal performance reflects the company's aggressive acquisition program which has expanded and diversified its product line. Kingsford Co., acquired in March, derives about two-thirds of sales from charcoal products and 30 per cent from operation of 10 nursing homes. While slower progress is likely from here on, shares may be held for long term.

THEN AND NOW

The 1935 Gloria Southern Cross (top) was one of first sports cars built by Triumph, the British car company which marks its 50th year of auto production this month. The 1973 TR-6 (bottom) is the latest in a long line of Triumph TR models developed since Gloria Southern Cross. Local Triumph dealer is Brown Motors Inc. of San Rafael.

Stocks Stage Late Rally To End Slightly Higher

Winners outnumbered losers about a 7-to-5 margin among the more 1,736 issues crossing the tape.

In economic news, Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, said he didn't foresee any sweeping changes in the current Phase III system of economic controls. He said corporate profits remain high, with no sign of a prolonged letup in the economy.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly lower in slow trading.

Group Of Arts, Antique Shops Aim For Opening About June 1

A group of arts and antique shops will open at 1701 Fourth Street in the West End area of San Rafael where Charlie's Market was located until last year.

The new store, called San Rafael Antique and Art Faire, will be operated by Mrs. Joan Coughlin of Peacock Gap, a long-time antique collector who worked at The Collective in San Anselmo for about three months last year. Her husband, James Coughlin, is employed by National Cash Register.

In addition to space formerly occupied by Charlie's Market, Mrs. Coughlin has added a mezzanine floor to bring total space to about 4,000 square feet. "I'm leasing space to other dealers in arts and antiques," said Mrs. Coughlin. "We hope to have about 20 different displays." A display area in the back will be set aside for sale of greenery-plants and shrubs.

Target date for opening is June 1.

Mrs. Coughlin has been collecting antiques for about 20 years. Originally from Buffalo, N.Y., the Coughlins came to San Francisco nine years ago via Ohio and Texas.

REZAIAN PERSIAN Rug Co. at Tamalpais Junction in Mill Valley (256) Shoreline Highway) will almost quadruple in size this summer and become what the owner describes as "the largest Persian rug dealer in Northern California and probably in California."

Taghi Rezaian announced plans for a big expansion of his rug company, along with a reshuffle and remodeling of the entire Tamalpais Junction where he also owns the Ali Baba Cafe, the Resh House and a small pizza place.

Here are the improvements planned by Rezaian:

Ali Baba Cafe will move across the street to 267 Shoreline Highway, replacing Resh House and the pizza place. After extensive remodeling, the Ali Baba will reopen in June.

Rezaian Persian Rug will take over the present Ali Baba building, expanding the rug display area to 7,000 square feet.

"I plan to put in new Oriental fronts and use redwood on the sides to improve the appearance," said Rezaian. He hopes to complete the entire remodeling and expansion in July. "I have 2,500 Persian rugs now and will have more after the expansion." Rezaian makes about three trips a year to Iran, where his parents help him locate and purchase a wide selection of rugs.

JILL ANGEL of Fremont is the new personnel manager at Northgate Sears in Terra Linda. She took over last week as successor to Jay Luppino, who was promoted to assistant manager at the new Sears store in Antioch.

Miss Angel has been with Sears, Roebuck & Co. for eight years, the last two years in Cupertino, where she was a department manager.

The personnel changes were announced by Will H. Sanders, manager of Northgate Sears.

Angel Smith

DUANE P. SMITH of Greenbrae was named manager of pipeline projects in the Western Hemisphere for Bechtel Incorporated's pipeline and production service division.

An 18-year veteran of the Bechtel group of companies, Smith has served as project manager for oil and gas pipeline projects in the U.S., Canada, Europe and North Africa.

ARTISTS AND CRAFTSMEN will take over The Mall at Northgate in Terra Linda this week when The Mall merchants host the California Artists, a group of artists and artisans from Marin, Bay Area and Southern California. The show will open Thursday and continue through the weekend.

The sponsors promise the most varied view of the art world ever presented at The Mall.

Painters will display abstracts, watercolors, traditional landscapes and seascapes. Unique crafts will range from wind chimes made of glass bottles to flowers made of sea shells and pictures made of silk string. Weavers will be working on hand fashioned looms producing multi-colored belts, and potters will be throwing pots. Tables made from reduced burl, sanded and waxed by hand, and glass blown into different abstracts will be shown.

The various arts and crafts will be judged on Friday afternoon.

FRANK A. TALLARIDA of San Rafael, a representative of State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America, is back from a five-day conference in Coronado held last week. He was picked to attend the leaders' conference in recognition of his "outstanding professional counseling" of clients in life and health insurance.

JIM CORBET'S Home Craftsman's Shop at 1155 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, has been named an authorized dealer for the new Shopsmith Mark V complete basic home workshop, and complete line of Shopsmith and Sawsmith accessories.

The Shopsmith Mark V is five interchangeable power tools, all operating from a common base.

JON R. FOWLER of San Rafael is partner in a new firm called Altura Investment Co. which just opened in Walnut Creek. His partner is Martin K. Stillman of Danville. They cooperate on real estate development and other investments.
